Judge Will Hand Down Voiceprint Decision Monday

Bomb Threat Case Outcome Rests On Voice Identification Question

By LARRY MOWELL

The fate of a telephone installer from San Anselmo, who lost his job and faced criminal charges because of voiceprint identification will not be known until next week.

After hearing six days of testimony in the nonjury trial of Stephen C. Chapter, 28, Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court said yesterday he will not announce his decision until 9 a.m. Monday.

The judge must determine first whether voiceprint identification is considered reliable by the scientific community, then whether Chapter was indeed the anonymous caller that threatened to blow up the Pacific Telephone Co. office in San Rafael Feb. 1, 1972.

The voiceprint evidence was the only direct tie between Chapter and the threat called in to a number used only by installers, but in the first blush of the prosecution case that link looked strong.

In a growing number of courts across the country, voiceprints have been accepted and Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith had the two men responsible for the trend to testify against Chapter.

Lt. Ernest W. Nash of the Michigan State Police, with more than 40 voiceprint cases under his belt, said that after studying the bomb threat and Chapter's voice, he was certain no one but Chapter could have made the threat.

Then Professor Oscar Tosi of Michigan State University testified. He concluded from a $300,000 study financed by the federal Department of Justice that voiceprint identification can be used as a crime-fighting tool.

Nash and Tosi also said voiceprint identification is quite subjective and depends a great deal on the skill and care of the examiner, but Tosi called Nash "the best possible voiceprint examiner in the world."

But even before the two prosecution witnesses stepped down errors in the voice tests done by Nash and an assistant were uncovered by the defense and Tosi said anyone who would make such mistakes was incompetent.

Furthermore, Nash, who was positive Chapter made the threat when he tested voice samples from 18 installers

Phase IV Unfreezes Food, Health Costs

'Nobody's Going To Be Happy,' Planner Admits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Except for beef, President Nixon's price freeze on food was lifted today and he and his chief advisers acknowledged there will be a quick and substantial rise in what it costs to feed American families. (See other stories, page 2.)

This was the element of the new Phase IV economic plan, unveiled late yesterday, that will be most immediately felt and Herbert L. Stein, chairman of the President's economic advisory council, admitted today, "nobody is going to be very happy about what we did."

"The producers are going to be unhappy we didn't lean one way and consumers are going to be unhappy we didn't lean that way," said Stein. "But that's the nature of the problem."

In New York, the Phase IV economic program sent prices soaring in virtually all commodity futures markets today but reaction in the stock market was negative.

Elimination of price controls on all foods except beef created heavy demand for farm commodity contracts.

Shell egg and broiler futures, cattle and hog futures, most grains and New York cotton futures scored the maximum amount allowable in a single day's trading. Frozen concentrated orange juice contracts rose sharply with the July 1973 delivery, not affected by price restrictions, up more than 7 cents.

On the New York Stock Exchange, however, substantially lower prices reflected stock traders' mixed emotions. The financial community was caught between hopes that the new program will bring inflation under control and the problems it raises. Chief among these is a likely pinch on corporate profits.

For the most part, observers said the complex program added new uncertainties to the existing problems of inflation, the international monetary situation and the impact of Watergate, and offered little to induce investors to return to the market.

The Phase IV program also includes a continuation of controls on wage increases to about 5.5 per cent and stipulates that a business firm can raise certain prices only so much as production costs increases. Besides most food, the price freeze imposed June 13 was lifted immediately on health care fees.

It was the food segment of the program that drew the greatest attention, from the President on down. In a written statement, Nixon said, "There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent a substantial rise in food prices."

Stein echoed this today. "My personal view is that we will have a bulge over a period of some months," he said, but like Nixon he insisted the price rise would be much less in the latter part of the year and continue to level off in 1974.

"Nobody is going to be very happy with what we did, we're sure of that," said Stein. "It is clear that the big increase in the supply of meat is about a year off because we have this fall the big increase in the crops of corn and soybeans — the things that animals eat — and it takes a year for the animals ... to come to market.

"But the whole process that we are engaged in is one of a delicate balance in our interest

Presidential Tape Offer Labeled Hoax

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An unknown person pretending to be Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz placed a hoax telephone call to Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. today and advised that President Nixon would make tapes of presidential conversations available to the Senate Watergate committee.

Ervin announced as the nationally televised Senate Watergate hearings began this afternoon that Nixon would make the tapes available —only to learn minutes later that Shultz had not made the call and the statement had no truth.

Later in the afternoon, the White House ordered the FBI to investigate the hoax call. A White House spokesman said the presidential counsel's office, which has been handling White House business with the Ervin committee, was chagrined that Ervin made the announcement without checking its authenticity.

Ervin received the call just before the lunch break in a telephone booth inside the Senate Caucus Room. Moments after he made the announcement at the start of the afternoon session, White House Counsel Leonard Garment told committee staffers that he knew nothing about the report.

Ervin, interrupting the testimony of former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian a short time later, said that he had just been' contacted by Shultz to say the report was wrong.

"It's an awful thing for a trusting soul like me," Ervin

Ervin Philosophizes On Those Involved In Watergate Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The seeds of Watergate were sowed by men of financial, political and governmental power who "undertook to nullify the laws of man and the laws of God" to reap a "very temporary political advantage," Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said today.

Thus Ervin, the chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, summed up the evidence collected so far during the two-month-old nationally televised hearings into the scandal that has plagued the Nixon administration.

"I can't resist the temptation to philosophize just a little bit about the Watergate," Ervin said as Frederick C. LaRue wrapped up two days of testimony about his involvement in Watergate.

LaRue said Nixon's reelection had been of "paramount importance "to him.

"The evidence thus far indicates, tends to show that men upon whom fortune has smiled beneficently and who possessed great financial power, great political power and great governmental power undertook to nullify the laws of man and the laws of God for the purpose of gaining what history will call a very temporary political advantage," Ervin said.

Then turning to his favorite source book, the King James version of the Bible, the silver-haired Ervin said those involved in Watergate had overlooked admonishment of St. Paul in his epistle to the Galatians: "Be not decieved: God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

The audience jammed into the marble Senate Caucus Room, hushed as Ervin spoke, broke into prolonged applause as he finished. Ervin banged his gavel for order.

While the senators were hearing the morning testimony, Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ordered a grand jury empaneled to investigate possible violations of federal campaign laws.

Sirica issued the order on a request by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox. The new grand jury is in addition to the one that has been meeting to determine what additional indictments will be returned in the Watergate bugging and the subsequent cover-up.

Brown To Provide Secret Campaign Data For Trials

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. said today he will refer information about $2,000 in secret Republican contributions to the Peace and Freedom Party to local law officers for criminal prosecution.

Brown, a Democratic contender for governor in 1974, told a news conference, "All of the payments constituted a thinly disguised form of election fraud which is truly repugnant to those who believe campaigns should be conducted in an honest and open matter."

He declared, "The Watergate of Washington is something that is not totally free from California. And I'm going to do everything I can to put an end to that and restore public confidence."

Brown said a month-long investigation disclosed that Republican funds were given or offered to Peace and Freedom candidates in 13 races.

He said the contributions were made last year in an effort to draw votes away from Democratic candidates.

"Since the payments were not disclosed, there were violations of state law," Brown stated.

He said the investigation by his staff showed an aide to Assembly Republican leader Robert Beverly of Manhattan Beach paid the $192 filing fee of Anita Stephens, a candidate of the ultraliberal, antiwar party.

The aide, Tom Martin, said Beverly had no knowledge the payment was made, according to Brown.

The secretary of state said he had "no evidence whatsoever" linking the contributions to former Assembly GOP leader Robert T. Monagan of Tracy or Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, former Assembly Republican caucus chairman.

Monagan's former top aide, Jerry Simpson, has said the payments were "my idea."

In the district of Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, Brown said the Peace and Freedom candidate received his $192 filing fee from Dr. Stephen Salenger, also a contributor to Priolo's campaign.

Brown said he is directing Assembly GOP caucus officials and Peace and Freedom candidates to correct their campaign reports within 35 days.

He declared he would then refer the information to local prosecutors.

Brown said his office would also look into "rumors" that Democrats contributed to candidates of the American Independent Party.

Republicans have said their contributions were made because of the "belief" that Democrats were financing candidates of the conservative party in hopes of draining votes away from Republicans.

Bedayan Trial Is Awaiting Supreme Court Decision

Proceedings in the Brent W. Bedayan murder trial ground to a halt today pending the outcome of a state Supreme Court decision on the trial judge's merging of two phases of the trial.

Judge Henry J. Broderick recessed the case until Wednesday morning to give the court time to rule on whether he is correct in ordering that the guilt-or-innocence and sanity phases of Bedayan's trial be combined.

The court yesterday ordered Broderick and deputy Public Defender Frank J. Cox, Bedayan's attorney, to submit arguments in support of the merger.

Broderick said today he is "not disposed to permit the delay of the trial for long" but thought the issue very important and said it ought to be decided.

The judge has the option of proceeding with the trial with the two phases separate or waiting for the Supreme Court's decision.

A jury of seven women and five men was chosen yesterday. after two and a half days of questioning by Broderick, Box and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

Bedayan is accused of the shotgun slayings of food broker Melvin J. Schallock, his wife, Ruth E., and their son, Daniel, in the early morning hours of March 16. Cox has said in court he doesn't deny Bedayan pulled the trigger but said his mental state is crucial to the question of whether he is guilty of violating the law.

The Dollar Perks Up Just A Bit

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar improved in late trading today on the European money markets but was still low. West Germany increased its support of the U.S. dollar today but neither that nor American statements that it was supporting the dollar helped the currency much.

The dollar opened lower despite the joint American Treasury and Federal Reserve Board statement that the U.S. government had been supporting the dollar's price on free markets since July 10. It rallied slightly during the morning and made some substantial gains by midafternoon.

In London, because of an order to banks to surrender one per cent of their deposits to a Bank of England holding account, the pound fell sharply against the dollar. At midafternoon it took $2.5385 to buy a pound compared with $2.54625 Wednesday night.

The dollar climbed .91 per cent in Brussels during the day, to 35.23 Belgian francs, and pulled up to 4.045 French francs in Paris where for the first week it would buy less than four francs.

In a five-minute price-fixing session, the West German government bank stepped in and bought $10.3 million at a rate of 2.3130 marks to the dollar. It bought $4 million at 2.2800 yesterday and a similar amount late last week.

The price of gold dipped to its lowest level in a month on the London bullion market, slipping to an average trading price of $116.50 per ounce. Trading was described as "active."

A Frankfurt dealer said he did not believe the market reacted negatively to President Nixon's Phase IV economic program.

"Trading was normal and one moment the dollar gained a bit," he said. "The next the U.S. currency slipped marginally."

The dollar's slight rise coincided with a new French warning the French franc will not be revalued upwards—a warning directed at those who might go into the French market in the hope of pushing up its price.

"The franc is doing well and it will not be revalued," said President Georges Pompidou as he chatted with newsmen at his Breton vacation retreat of Fouesnant.

Today's markets marked the first test of confidence in the dollar since U.S. support was announced late yesterday.

Woman Exposed To Rabies Hospitalized

One of four Marin residents who were exposed to a rabid stallion in May has been hospitalized, but her physician said it was for a personal medical problem and has nothing to do with the dread disease.

Madeline Krueter of Forest Knolls was taken to Marin Gneral Hospital Tuesday after she complained of severe headache, respiratory and throat problems.

But her doctor told the Independent-Journal today that she does not have rabies and that her illness was not caused by the antirabies treatment which she began earlier this month.

Mrs. Krueter the mother of four small children is expected to remain in the hospital for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario M. Ghilotti, owners of the Mar-Ghi Ranch in Nicasio, Mrs. Krueter and a ranch employee, Mark Greving, were exposed to the disease but did not begin treatment until six weeks later because the Marin County Health Department first reported that the animal did not have rabies, after testing its brain.

Antirabies shots were begun as soon the mistake was corrected, but may have come too late to prevent the four from coming down with the disease, which is almost always fatal once symptoms appear.

The rabies nightmare began on the ranch May 20 when a valuable stallion, Co-Pilot, be-

Nixon Due For Release Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's doctor pronounced him fully recovered from pneumonia today and gave him the okay to return to the White House tomorrow morning and resume a near-normal work schedule.

The President still plans to go to Camp David tomorrow afternoon for a weekend of rest before resuming a full schedule next week.

Dr. Walter Tkach, chief White House physician, told newsmen after examining the President at Bethesda Naval Hospital that his chest was entirely clear of congestion from the viral pneumonia that hospitalized him a week ago tonight.

Nixon is scheduled to leave the hospital in suburban Washington between 9 and 9:30 a.m. EDT tomorrow. He will go the White House for a series of meetings with aides before flying by helicopter to Camp David.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that Nixon will be working on his appointments schedule at his hideaway and will return to Washington Monday.

On Tuesday he will receive the Shah of Iran with a full ceremonial welcome and a state dinner in the evening.

Woman Exposed To Rabies Hospitalized

One of four Marin residents who were exposed to a rabid stallion in May has been hospitalized, but her physician said it was for a personal medical problem and has nothing to do with the dread disease.

Madeline Krueter of Forest Knolls was taken to Marin Gneral Hospital Tuesday after she complained of severe headache, respiratory and throat problems.

But her doctor told the Independent-Journal today that she does not have rabies and that her illness was not caused by the antirabies treatment which she began earlier this month.

Mrs. Krueter the mother of four small children is expected to remain in the hospital for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario M. Ghilotti, owners of the Mar-Ghi Ranch in Nicasio, Mrs. Krueter and a ranch employee, Mark Greving, were exposed to the disease but did not begin treatment until six weeks later because the Marin County Health Department first reported that the animal did not have rabies, after testing its brain.

Antirabies shots were begun as soon the mistake was corrected, but may have come too late to prevent the four from coming down with the disease, which is almost always fatal once symptoms appear.

The rabies nightmare began on the ranch May 20 when a valuable stallion, Co-Pilot, be-

Nixon Due For Release Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's doctor pronounced him fully recovered from pneumonia today and gave him the okay to return to the White House tomorrow morning and resume a near-normal work schedule.

The President still plans to go to Camp David tomorrow afternoon for a weekend of rest before resuming a full schedule next week.

Dr. Walter Tkach, chief White House physician, told newsmen after examining the President at Bethesda Naval Hospital that his chest was entirely clear of congestion from the viral pneumonia that hospitalized him a week ago tonight.

Nixon is scheduled to leave the hospital in suburban Washington between 9 and 9:30 a.m. EDT tomorrow. He will go the White House for a series of meetings with aides before flying by helicopter to Camp David.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that Nixon will be working on his appointments schedule at his hideaway and will return to Washington Monday.

On Tuesday he will receive the Shah of Iran with a full ceremonial welcome and a state dinner in the evening.

Grocery Shoppers Face Two Jolts

Phase Four Ends Freeze On Foods, Except Beef

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A food industry spokesman said today average retail grocery prices may climb 4 to 5 per cent above current record levels by mid-September under President Nixon's Phase IV economic program. (See another story, page 1.)

One of the first examples of the price jump sure to follow yesterday's order that took the freeze off most foods was expected to come at egg markets. Jerry Bookey, president of the United Egg Producers, predicted wholesale egg prices would rise today 5 to 9 cents a dozen on the West Coast and 5 to 8 cents in the East.

The Nixon order ended the freeze on prices for all foods except beef. Beef will remain under controls until Sept. 12. Processors and retailers were told they could raise prices to cover increases since June 8 in the cost of raw costs products—but not in other cos5s such as wages and packaging.

The restriction on raising prices for "other costs" will come off Sept. 12 with the beef price ceiling. Thus, there are expected to be two spurts in prices—one in the next few days and one in the days following Sept. 12.

A spokesman for the National Association of Food Chains (NAFC) predicted the 4 to 5 per cent jump in prices in the coming weeks and said consumers could expect to see markups on retail counters next week after processors have time to give supermarkets certificates showing how much of recent overall cost gains can be attributed solely to higher costs for raw products.

In his message, Nixon said it was necessary to lift the freeze to prevent food shortages.

"The evidence is becoming overwhelming that only if a rise of food prices is permitted now can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later," Nixon said. "I hope the American people will understand this and not be deluded by the idea that we can produce low price food out of acts of Congress or executive order."

The President said the nation would continue to be well fed. But he said the country "cannot now escape a period in which food prices are higher relative to incomes than we have been accustomed to."

Administration officials hoped the step would spur livestock production, especially on pork and poultry farms where operators have been destroying baby chicks and sending breeding stock to slaughter since the freeze began June 13.

"We have seen baby chicks drowned, pregnant sows and cows bearing next year's food slaughtered and packing plants closed down," Nixon said in explaining his action.

The Agriculture Department has predicted a 12 per cent rise in food prices for this calendar year. This would be the sharpest one-year food price increase since the late 1940s.

An NAFC spokesman sharply criticized Nixon's decision to delay permission for full passthrough of all cost increases in the food industry until Sept. 12.

"This will be a financial disaster for us, and I hope we can ride this out for 60 days," the official said. He conceded, however, that it would result in slower retail hikes for consumers than they could have expected with a full, immediate pass-through order.

Some meat packers and poultrymen, meanwhile, warned consumers that in spite of Nixon's action to spur increased food output by allowing higher prices, some meat and poultry shortages spawned by the recent freeze may soon be making themselves felt in retail stores. The NAFC added that while Nixon's order may help start a rebuilding of pork and poultry output, the temporary continuation of beef ceilings could produce shortages of that food.

How soon will supplies begin increasing?

An Agriculture Department expert said an upturn in chicken could come by early fall and in eggs by late fall. No substantial increase in pork is likely until late next year, he said. An egg industry expert said the government forecast was too optimistic and predicted it would take a year or more to rebuild laying flocks enough to fully meet demand.

MORE MEAT, MORE COST — The typical grocery shopper can expect to find meats more plentiful but more costly — except for beef — due to President Nixon's Phase IV anti-inflation program. He yesterday lifted price controls on all foodstuffs except beef, which will be lifted in September. (UPI Telephoto)

Raid Nips Bay Heroin Supply

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A year-long investigation has netted narcotics agents $500,000 worth of heroin, police said yesterday.

The arrest of two men and a woman in connection with the seizure of 37 bags of uncut heroin has cut off a major supply of the dope in the bay area, according to Lt. John F. Kerrigan, head of the narcotics detail.

The 37 ounces of heroin was found in a vacant house owned by one of the suspects, Gustavo Rodriguez, 34.

Also arrested and charged with possession of heroin and conspiracy to sell heroin were Richard Lopez, 26, San Francisco, and Vicky May Todd, 21, Oakland.

New Hearing Set On Morals Charge

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Reubin Askew and his cabinet ordered yesterday a new hearing for Clarence Ray Jr., a black teacher accused of molesting white girls.

Henry L. Kaye, representing the Broward County (Fort Lauderdale) teacher, told Askew and the cabinet during a hearing, "This poor teacher was the first black teacher in an all-white school. It was natural that some physical contact would occur with his students in a physical education class."

Questions, Answers Give Some Details Of New Price Rules

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Questions and answers concerning President Nixon's Phase IV economic controls:

Q. What is Phase IV?

A. It's a complex set of wage and price controls imposed on most of the economy in the next two months. The object, as in Phases I, II and III, is to slow down the rate of inflation.

Q. What happened to the price freeze?

A. Prices are still frozen until Aug. 12 except in the food and health industries.

Q. Does that mean grocery prices are free to rise again?

A. Yes, many food prices will go up, some of them sharply. Beef prices will remain under ceiling rules until Sept. 12. But grocers and food wholesalers may raise prices only to reflect increased cost of raw agricultural products since June 8.

Q. Will nonfood prices also start going up immediately?

A. No. Industrial, wholesale, retail and service prices in most cases will remain frozen until Aug. 12.

Q. What happens after Aug. 12?

A. The price freeze is lifted on the rest of the economy on a sector-by-sector basis. Each sector or industry will be governed by a special set of rules dictating how much prices can go up. The administration has put forward a set of preliminary regulations in each case and will allow the public to comment on them until July 31. Then the rules will be revised, if necessary, and will take effect Aug. 12.

Q. How about wages?

A. The familiar 5.5 per cent standard for annual wage increases, plus 0.7 per cent for fringe benefits, still applies. It was mandatory during Phase II (November 1971-January 1973), voluntary in Phase III (January-May 1973) and now it's mandatory again.

Q. Do the rules cover everybody?

A. The Economic Stabilization Law itself requires that workers earning $3.50 an hour or less be exempt.

Q. What about my apartment rent?

A. Rents are exempt, just as they were during Phase III.

Q. Is the government going to ration gasoline?

A. Despite repeated rumors, administration officials insist there is no plan to impose a World War II style gas rationing system. However, the proposed Phase IV rules contain an elaborate control system that would place ceiling prices on the petroleum industry. In addition, beginning Aug. 12, you should see a sign listing ceiling price and octane rating on every pump at retail gasoline stations.

Q. Do the Phase IV rules cover everything?

A. The new regulations continue to exempt raw agriculture products. They will also exempt on Aug. 12 lumber and plywood, long-term coal production contracts, public utility rates and all businesses with 60 or fewer employes.

Q. How long is all this going to last?

A. The President didn't say and urged citizens to have "patience" while the controls do their work. But a top-level committee of labor and business leaders has urged Nixon to scrap the whole system by the end of the year and Nixon indicated he is leaning that way, provided there is progress against inflation.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

NATO Talk Off

BRUSSELS (UPI) — A planned visit by president adviser Henry A. Kissinger to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) has been put off until the autumn, a NATO spokesman said today.

NATO Secretary General Joseph Luns announced last month that Kissinger would come here to discuss ideas for his "new Atlantic Charter" with the NATO ambassadorial council.

The spokesman said the ambassadors and Luns met recently with Kissinger and President Nixon at the San Clemente White House. He said Kissinger's visit is "likely in the autumn now."

Trouble In Italy

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) —A bread strike plunged Naples into an atmosphere of violence and black marketeering yesterday and a power shortage slowed down industries throughout Italy.

About 350 of Naples' 500 bakeries closed in protest against an increase in flour prices.

Strikers roamed the city, damaging at least seven non-striking bakeries.

"We want bread," women shouted outside shuttered shops.

Black marketeers sold bread for about 80 cents a pound.

Opium King Held

BANGKOK (UPI) — Narcotics agents said today they captured a man described by U.S. officials as responsible for much of the opium and heroin trade in Asia.

The suspect was identified as Lo Hsing-han, a Chinese resident of Burma.

Agents said that since 1964, Lo has operated a private army that moved opium and heroin caravans from north Burma to the outside world.

They gave few details of the arrest, but sources said Lo apparently was seized near the district town of Mae Hong Son in Thailand, about 400 miles north of Bangkok, during a massive search operation by Thai and U.S. narcotics agents using helicopters and light aircraft.

Leader Wounded

BEIRUT (UPI) — President Hafez Assad of Syria was slightly wounded last week in an assassination attempt, the Beirut newspaper L'Orient-Le Jour said today.

It said the attempt occurred July 10 when "rebel" units of the Syrian army opened fire on a car carrying Assad back to Damascus after a visit to northern Syria.

Assad, the newspaper said, was wounded in the left leg and was hospitalized in amascus.

Inouye Stays Put

HONOLULU (UPI) — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, a member of the Senate Watergate committee, has denied a report by a Honolulu newspaper columnist that he might be considering running for the governorship of Hawaii.

In a call from his Washington office, Inouye said yesterday he underwent a complete physical examination two months ago and was given a clean bill of health.

He said, "In my most recent conversations with myself I have decided that I have no interest in running for the governorship of Hawaii. I hope the people of Hawaii will permit me to continue to serve them in the U.S. Senate."

Disneyland Visit

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, accompanied by Peter Lawford, led an expedition of her children to Disneyland by private helicopter yesterday.

Miss Taylor planned to leave California today for Rome, where her husband, Richard Burton, has said they will be reunited.

Four helicopters carried a party of 18, including producer George Cukor and actor Roddy McDowall, from a mountaintop in Santa Monica to the parking lot of the amusement park. The group included three of Miss Taylor's children from previous marriages.

Irish Violence

BELFAST (UPI) — Sporadic shooting erupted across Belfast early today, the latest in what the British army called a dramatic increase in Northern Irish violence during the past two days.

Two soldiers were seriously wounded yesterday in separate incidents, one of them the explosion of a booby-trapped mine near the town of Cologher and the other a sniper attack in Belfast.

"There has been a dramatic increase in incidents of violence over the past 48 hours," an army spokesman said.

"There were four major bomb blasts in the past 24 hours," he said.

WAR'S TOLL

The war's grief for individuals is often overlooked as news reports dwell upon large battles and strategic positions. This man was unfortunate enough to live near the 'strategic position' of Phnom Basset, 10 miles from embattled Phnom Penh, Cambodia. He broke down crying and comforted his daughter yesterday as he learned of his wife's death in a rebel attack last week. In the overall war, Communist forces today pressed upon Phnom Penh from three sides, seemingly undaunted by massive American bombings.

Bus Crash In French Alps Kills 43 Persons In Roaring River

VIZILLE, France (UPI) — A Belgian tourist bus hurtled out of control down a steep mountain road, smashed through a bridge parapet and plunged 65 feet into a rainswollen river yesterday in France's worst road disaster, police said.

They said 43 persons were killed and there were six survivors. One of the survivors, a 60-year-old woman, was seriously injured.

The bus, owned by the Songienne Company of Soignies, crashed at a point where a series of accidents have made the Napoleon Road infamous in this Alpine region of southern France. The road, which is on a 14 degree decline over four miles, is plastered with warning signs carrying the skull and crossbones.

Police said by dawn 41 of the 43 bodies were recovered and frogmen searched the Romanche River for the last two.

A motorist who saw the accident said, "The bus came down the road at reduced speed but about 100 meters (yards) from the bridge, it suddenly accelerated, crashed through the bridge parapet and dropped into the river."

The bus ended on its roof with only one wheel visible above the water.

Four persons—a priest, a woman, a girl and a young man —fell or jumped from the bus before it crashed. Two boys, aged 13 and 15, swam to the shore.

Police said the accident was the worst on French roads since July 27, 1964 when 20 persons died in a bus crash at Harville-sous-Monfort near Vittel.

Police said the cause of the latest crash was not known.

The bus was on its way from Nice, on the French Riviera, to Grenoble, near the Swiss border, where the passengers and driver were planning to spent the night. It was scheduled to return to Belgium today. spend

More than 300 rescue workers and 50 emergency vehicles sped to the crash site from Grenoble and other nearby towns to help pull bodies from the half-sunken bus.

The Romanche water level was swelled, police said, by heavy rains in the Alps over the past week.

The worst previous fatal accidents at the bridge occurred in 1946 when another bus crash killed 18 persons. Seven Dutch tourists died in a crash at the bridge 20 hours later.

More recently, a 1970 bus crash killed five persons and injured 40 others.

New Computer To Rush Smog Data To District

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A $65,000 computer system to speed reporting of pollution data was unveiled today by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The new system will transmit data from 15 remote area monitoring stations to the district's San Francisco headquarters around the clock at six-minute intervals.

A district spokesman said the data transmission, less than one second per station, will be invaluable during the summer and fall smog season when the staff must watch pollutant levels carefully to forecast air pollution alerts.

It will also help district meteorologists forecast burning days for farmers.

The computer replaces the current system of having inspectors at the stations check the data twice a day and telephone it to headquarters. It will be linked to 15 of the district's 24 stations, including those in San Rafael, Petaluma and Santa Rosa.

The computer will automatically get readings for oxident, carbon monoxide, nitrogen dioxide, haze and wind speed and direction.

The system will be expanded, at a cost of $20,000 to the remaining stations within a year. Federal and state grants will cover. the entire $85,000 cost.

Thieves Invade Two Cars In Petaluma

Two Petaluma residents reported thefts from their cars yesterday, police said.

Ted Kennedy, 67 Rocca Drive, told police that tools valued at $190 were stolen while his car was parked at McNear Park.

John Bodeen, 808 Daniel Drive, said fishing equipment and two sleeping bags valued at $175 were stolen while his car was parked at home.

Sausalito Permit Rule Is Revised

The Sausalito Planning Commission should have the authority to approve or deny conditional use permits for major building projects in Sausalito without prior review by the Community Appearances Advisory Board, commissioners decided last night.

The measure is intended to eliminate CAAB review of projects that later may be denied by the planning commission, according to Herb Case, planning director. It is expected to be formally approved at the next commission meeting Aug. 1, then go to the city council.

Commissioners also agreed that any project requiring an environmental impact report automatically will also require a conditional use permit and be subject to planning commission review. In addition, reports that find that there will be no effect on the environment must be announced in a newspaper. All that previously had been required was that results be posted at city hall.

Board Asks Shepherd To Talk To Law

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency Board suggested yesterday that its executive director discuss law enforcement problems in Marin City with Marin County officials, including the board of supervisors.

Agency board member George H. Gnoss Jr. said that no vote was taken on the suggestion at a closed meeting but that the board informally agreed to the proposal.

The session was held to discuss charges of misconduct against Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd based on some remarks he made at a recent community meeting in Tamalpais Valley that Marin was plagued with gambling, illegal drugs and prostitution.

Gnoss said that the board did not reprimand Shepherd for the statement.

The agency board also discussed contracts to be made for the coming year with attorneys Ben James and Leland H. Jordan and with real estate consultant Douglas C. Myers, according to Gnoss, but did not approve the agreements.

$1 Million Made In Patrick Way

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A witness in a Holiday Magic preliminary action has testified that he made a million dollars in one year.

Larry Nelson, 30, a former Milwaukee coin collector, said he formed the 191 Corp. in Copenhagen, Denmark in 1971 on the same structure as Holiday Magic.

Nelson was under cross examination yesterday in a hearing before U.S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke and told how he had left Holiday Magic and William Penn Patrick in 1971.

He said he duplicated the company's methods in Scandinavia and had marketed soap, cleaner, leather protector, and an aerosol spray margarine, which proved to be the best seller.

Nelson claimed that he had made one million dollars in 1971 after he resigned "of my own volition," from Holiday Magic and other organizations of the late William Penn Patrick.

Nelson said there were four major disagreements between himself and Holiday Magic.

—Lack of cash as evidenced by back-ordered products.

— Scandinavian promotion films were made in America and Nelson was not allowed to change the soundtracks into Swedish.

—Any expenditure of a thousand dollars or more had to be approved in writing ahead of time by the San Rafael headquarters.

— Nelson disagreed with warehousing procedures.

Novato Man Gets State Appointment

A Novato man was appointed yesterday to a four-year term on the state Youth Authority Board by Governor Ronald A. Reagan.

The appointment of Paul A. Meaney, 43, present chief of the state division of Fair Employment Practices, to the $26,250 a year post must now be confirmed by the Senate.

in restraining the prices and our interest in getting the output out."

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the Cost of Living Council, and Stein both refused to predict how much food prices would rise, although a food chain spokesman forecast a 4 to 5 per cent jump in the next two months.

Dunlop also took issue with a suggestion that the administration waited too long to act and said "it's wrong (to say) Americans are paying a severe price," for this.

"We think we moved as soon as we could," said Dunlop.

The expectation is that by the time housewives do their weekly shopping at the supermarket next week, they will see the effects of the removal of the freeze on food prices. The freeze on beef lasts until Sept. 12.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, a prime architect of the Phase IV policy, stressed today that the removal of restrictions on beef "will absolutely take place" as promised Sept. 12.

Shultz conceded that, "yes, as compared to pork producers," the rules do discriminate against beef producers. But he said the President felt that controls could not be lifted all at once in all areas and he wanted to "try to let up first in areas where we had the greatest threat of shortages."

The President said he would "do everything in my power" to end all economic controls by the end of this year. But he said a "move to freedom now would most likely turn into a detour back into a swamp of even more lasting controls."

Shultz declined to set a new anti-inflation target for Phase IV and indicated it was unlikely the previous goal could be reached of getting the rate of price increases down from the present 9 per cent rate to 3 per cent by year's end.

Shultz conceded that farmers in particular had been hurt by the one-month food price freeze but said over-all their situation had improved greatly, with income after taxes rising 14 per cent in the past year.

Nixon said wages will be under mandatory controls in Phase IV—just like those in Phase II. Rents, interest rates and small businesses with 60 or fewer workers would be exempt.

A number of labor leaders criticized the program. Patrick Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the Meatcutters, said it was a "new summer offensive against the consumer" because it would permit most food prices to rise. Paul Jennings, President of the Electrical Workers, said it would bring a "further falling behind for working families."

AFL-CIO President George Meany denounced the new Phase IV anti-inflation program today as "a further example of the administration's inequitable economic policies."

Meany's attack came as Republicans in Congress praised President Nixon's latest economic controls as tough while many Democrats joined other leaders of organized labor and business in claiming Phase IV would hurt city dwellers and consumers.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, W. Va., the assistant Democratic leader, said he was hopeful that Phase IV "may help the county to regain its economic balance, but I do not view the prospects as especially bright."

In a departure from past practice, the public will be allowed to comment directly on the stabilization rules during the next two weeks.

The full Phase IV package will be in place Aug. 12 and will, according to Nixon, be a "tough ... selective" system designed to bring the soaring cost of living under control.

In a companion action, Nixon vowed to cut "several billion dollars" of federal spending this year in an effort to balance the budget. This is "the key to success of our anti-inflation effort," he said.

RABIES

came ill and went into convulsions. The horse bit Mrs. Ghilotti and her husband had his hand — with an open sore — in the animal's mouth shortly before it developed violent symptoms.

In late June a mare owned by the Ghilottis went into convulsions and died in Mendocino County. When tests showed the animal had been rabid, Co-pilot's brain was retested, and it was found he, too, had had rabies.

Three persons in Mendocino immediately began the anti-rabies shots and are now considered out of danger, according to Dr. Richard Emmons, public health medical officer for the State Health Department.

Sonoma And Marin Get Tax Benefit

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin and Sonoma county governments and city governments in Marin and Southern Sonoma have received more than $400,000 in a distribution of local sales and use taxes it was announced today.

The payment, by the state board of equalization, is part of a statewide distribution of $38,826,000 representing the second advance payment by California business taxpayers for the second quarter of the current year.

The funds were to be distributed yesterday according to William M. Bennett, chairman of the board.

Local governmental shares were Belvedere, $500; Cotati, $3,000; Corte Madera, $22,500; Fairfax, $3,750; Larkspur, $7,000; Marin County, $31,250; Mill Valley, $13,000; Novato, $26,500; Petaluma, $34,250; Rohnert Park, $5,000; Ross, $400; San Anselmo, $9,250; San Rafael, $107,500; Sausalito, $21,000; Sonoma County $112,500, and Tiburon, $6,000.

ly will investigate such incidents as illegal corporate contributions to the 1972 presidential campaign. American Airlines disclosed July 6 it had illegally given $55,000 in corporate funds to Nixon's reelection campaign at the urging of the President's personal attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach.

LaRue, a millionaire Mississippian who has pleaded guilty to conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Watergate cover-up, listened to Ervin with head bowed. He earlier had recounted funneling $242,000 to the seven original Watergate defendants, helping devise false stories and concealing evidence from government prosecutors.

He also said he believed that Jeb Stuart Magruder, the deputy manager of Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign, had prior knowledge of the June 17, 1972 burglary and bugging at Democratic National Committee headquarters that touched off the scandal.

Following LaRue to the brown felt-draped witness table was Robert C. Mardian, like LaRue once a key deputy to former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and who has been linked to the cover-up plot.

But Mardian, a former assistant attorney general, said in an opening statement his only role following the June 17 arrests was that of a lawyer, not a "political protege." He said learning of the Watergate break-in was "the most shocking experience in my entire legal career."

Bill Pending To Assist Transit Tax

A hope expressed Tuesday by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste that an election can be held next April to raise the tax limit in the county's transit district, will need state legislation about to be introduced.

The law that created the district did not allow for subsequent elections to raise the limit above 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. County supervisors informally have said the increase should range from another nickel to 20 cents above the current rate.

The problem is the current rate raises only about $400,000 a year, leaving the county short of money needed to pay the Golden Gate Bridge District for local bus service.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told the I-J yesterday the needed legislation should get to the governor by the Sept. 15 deadline for bills to be effective next year. He said he will introduce the bill when the Legislature reconvenes in August for six weeks.

Child Center May Be Moved

The San Anselmo School District board will continue its review of the Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center when it meets at 8 p.m. today in Red Hill School.

At issue is whether or not the center should be allowed to continue using Yolansdale School facilities. Some parents have claimed the school is too crowded to accommodate the center.

The board will also consider leasing Isabel Cook School, which is being phased out, and review a student accident insurance plan.

against a tape of the bomb threat, ran into trouble on a later test of Chapter and three other men reciting the bomb threat.

Nash, the week before the trial opened told Smith which voiceprint he had tentatively picked as the threatener's and was in turn advised he had picked Deputy Dist. Atty. John D. Posey Jr. Not until after Smith told him which voice was Chapter's on the court ordered tape did he make the right choice.

The defense then called six scientists and researchers. All disputed the claim that the scientific community accepts the extension of Tosi's laboratory work to criminal situations. Some, however, agreed with Smith that Tosi had shown the process is reliable in laboratory conditions.

Four of the witnesses said they did their own studies on Chapter's voice and the bomb threat and concluded Chapter very probably was not the anonymous caller.

Noting the confusions and contradictions about voiceprint evidence in the trial, defense attorney Robert L. Moran said, "We need to either put a stop to it now or send it back to the laboratory where it belongs."

Prosecutor Smith said in his closing argument that without the voiceprint evidence against Chapter, "I don't think you could find him guilty."

But he argued his case withstood the onslaught of defense experts. "I think they all agree that the more you get toward the laboratory condition, the more they are acceptable in the scientific community."

He argued the tape used approached the quality of those used in Tosi's lab tests, although defense witnesses pointed to distortion, noise, possible voice disguise and frequency limitations to distinguish the evidence in the Chapter case from laboratory tests.

"My trust in humanity has been grossly abused," he said, "The telephone is an instrument of the devil."

Ervin said that Shultz —the real one —advised that Nixon would reach a decision early next week on whether to release the tapes.

The tapes presumably could corrobate —or knock down — the testimony of ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III that Nixon knew about the Watergate cover-up as early as Sept. 15, 1972.

Nixon heretofore had refused to release "presidential documents" —a classification that the White House had applied to the tapes —on grounds it would violate the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers.

"I am very much gratified," Ervin said in making the announcement at the start of the afternoon session of the nationally televised hearings.

"(Treasury) Secretary (George) Shultz has called me and advised me that the President has decided to make available to the committee tapes of conversations which may have been had with witnesses before the committee and which are relevant to the matters the committee has been authorized to investigate," Ervin said.

"Secretary Shultz has also advised me the President will meet with me at a convenient time next week and arrange for procedures by which these tapes can be made available to the committee.

"I am very much gratified by this information. I think this information will enable the committee to expedite its investigation, and I think it was a very wise decision on the part of the President."

OBITUARIES

Funeral To Be Monday For Countess Dandini

Funeral for Countess Lillian Remillard Dandini, onetime major stockholder of the Remillard brick works property in Larkspur, will be at 1 p.m. Monday at her estate, the Chateau Remillard, in Hillsborough.

The countess, who broke her hip in May, died Tuesday at the age of 93 in her 96-room mansion, where she chose to spend her last days rather than in a hospital, according to friends.

They said she had planned her final rites some years ago. She is to be entombed in the family vault in Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland.

Countess Dandini was born and grew up in Oakland, where she once helped the author Jack London through a French course at Oakland High School.

Her father, Pierre Remillard, was a member of a family firm which owned Oakland's first building supply yard as well as brickyards in Marin, Pleasanton and San Jose.

The firm bought 75 acres along Gallinas Creek in Santa Venetia during the 1870s and built a brickyard there which supplied brick for the first Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

The Santa Venetia yard was closed down after the death of the countess's uncle, Frank Remillard, who had been running it. In 1889 the firm bought 150 acres of the old Porter Ranch in Larkspur, where a quarry and kiln produced much material used to rebuild San Francisco after the 1906 disaster.

In those days Lillian Remillard was vice president of the firm.

All of the Remillard men, including a brother and her father, had died by the early 1900s.

As a young woman, Miss Remillard had dreams of an operatic career and went east to study at a New York conservatory but objections by her family ended thoughts of a professional career.

She remained interested in music, however, and was an organizer of the San Francisco Opera Co. and a past president of the Pacific Opera Co.

In 1934 Lillian Remillard became president of the family firm after her mother's death.

In 1932 at the age of 52 she married Count Allessandro Dandini, an Italian nobleman 20 years her junior.

After 12 years of stormy marriage, the count divorced her in Reno, a divorce which the countess never recognized, considering herself the only Countess Dandini until her death. Her former husband, who subsequently remarried, now lives in Nevada.

They had no children.

In 1950 the countess rescued from destruction by a subdivider the huge estate Carolands, built before World War I by the Pullman fortune heiress but which had fallen into disrepair. She made a deal with the subdivider and became the new owner of the four-story Napoleonic chateau, which she continued to open through the years for countless benefits and parties, many of which she attended.

Although an absentee Marin landlord, Countess Dandini made a mark on the history of Marin. A development team including architect John Carl Warnecke now is working on plans for the old Remillard property in Larkspur which include a luxury hotel on the quarry land and a cluster of small specialty shops.

The land is expected to be cleared by next June to coincide with opening of the Larkspur ferry terminal.

Title Insurance Explained.

Since the days of the Spaniards, all California land was originally owned, controlled and recorded by some governmental body. As these lands were gradually transferred to private ownership, and property in turn changed hands over the years, certain encumbrances were sometimes involved.

This is where a title search becomes important. A title search investigates all county records relative to a piece of property, and can turn up any obscure claims that might exist, such as liens, easements, or unpaid taxes. Title Insurance is the buyer's guarantee that this title search is complete and accurate.

Your member Realtor office of the Marin County Board of Realtors can help you with any questions about Title Insurance. And if you're selling a home, place it on Multiple Listing. MARIN COUNTY BOARD OF REALTORS

Sausalito Permit Rule Is Revised

The Sausalito Planning Commission should have the authority to approve or deny conditional use permits for major building projects in Sausalito without prior review by the Community Appearances Advisory Board, commissioners decided last night.

The measure is intended to eliminate CAAB review of projects that later may be denied by the planning commission, according to Herb Case, planning director. It is expected to be formally approved at the next commission meeting Aug. 1, then go to the city council.

Commissioners also agreed that any project requiring an environmental impact report automatically will also require a conditional use permit and be subject to planning commission review. In addition, reports that find that there will be no effect on the environment must be announced in a newspaper. All that previously had been required was that results be posted at city hall.

Board Asks Shepherd To Talk To Law

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency Board suggested yesterday that its executive director discuss law enforcement problems in Marin City with Marin County officials, including the board of supervisors.

Agency board member George H. Gnoss Jr. said that no vote was taken on the suggestion at a closed meeting but that the board informally agreed to the proposal.

The session was held to discuss charges of misconduct against Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd based on some remarks he made at a recent community meeting in Tamalpais Valley that Marin was plagued with gambling, illegal drugs and prostitution.

Gnoss said that the board did not reprimand Shepherd for the statement.

The agency board also discussed contracts to be made for the coming year with attorneys Ben James and Leland H. Jordan and with real estate consultant Douglas C. Myers, according to Gnoss, but did not approve the agreements.

$1 Million Made In Patrick Way

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A witness in a Holiday Magic preliminary action has testified that he made a million dollars in one year.

Larry Nelson, 30, a former Milwaukee coin collector, said he formed the 191 Corp. in Copenhagen, Denmark in 1971 on the same structure as Holiday Magic.

Nelson was under cross examination yesterday in a hearing before U.S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke and told how he had left Holiday Magic and William Penn Patrick in 1971.

He said he duplicated the company's methods in Scandinavia and had marketed soap, cleaner, leather protector, and an aerosol spray margarine, which proved to be the best seller.

Nelson claimed that he had made one million dollars in 1971 after he resigned "of my own volition," from Holiday Magic and other organizations of the late William Penn Patrick.

Nelson said there were four major disagreements between himself and Holiday Magic.

—Lack of cash as evidenced by back-ordered products.

— Scandinavian promotion films were made in America and Nelson was not allowed to change the soundtracks into Swedish.

—Any expenditure of a thousand dollars or more had to be approved in writing ahead of time by the San Rafael headquarters.

— Nelson disagreed with warehousing procedures.

Novato Man Gets State Appointment

A Novato man was appointed yesterday to a four-year term on the state Youth Authority Board by Governor Ronald A. Reagan.

The appointment of Paul A. Meaney, 43, present chief of the state division of Fair Employment Practices, to the $26,250 a year post must now be confirmed by the Senate.

PRICES

in restraining the prices and our interest in getting the output out."

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the Cost of Living Council, and Stein both refused to predict how much food prices would rise, although a food chain spokesman forecast a 4 to 5 per cent jump in the next two months.

Dunlop also took issue with a suggestion that the administration waited too long to act and said "it's wrong (to say) Americans are paying a severe price," for this.

"We think we moved as soon as we could," said Dunlop.

The expectation is that by the time housewives do their weekly shopping at the supermarket next week, they will see the effects of the removal of the freeze on food prices. The freeze on beef lasts until Sept. 12.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, a prime architect of the Phase IV policy, stressed today that the removal of restrictions on beef "will absolutely take place" as promised Sept. 12.

Shultz conceded that, "yes, as compared to pork producers," the rules do discriminate against beef producers. But he said the President felt that controls could not be lifted all at once in all areas and he wanted to "try to let up first in areas where we had the greatest threat of shortages."

The President said he would "do everything in my power" to end all economic controls by the end of this year. But he said a "move to freedom now would most likely turn into a detour back into a swamp of even more lasting controls."

Shultz declined to set a new anti-inflation target for Phase IV and indicated it was unlikely the previous goal could be reached of getting the rate of price increases down from the present 9 per cent rate to 3 per cent by year's end.

Shultz conceded that farmers in particular had been hurt by the one-month food price freeze but said over-all their situation had improved greatly, with income after taxes rising 14 per cent in the past year.

Nixon said wages will be under mandatory controls in Phase IV—just like those in Phase II. Rents, interest rates and small businesses with 60 or fewer workers would be exempt.

A number of labor leaders criticized the program. Patrick Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the Meatcutters, said it was a "new summer offensive against the consumer" because it would permit most food prices to rise. Paul Jennings, President of the Electrical Workers, said it would bring a "further falling behind for working families."

AFL-CIO President George Meany denounced the new Phase IV anti-inflation program today as "a further example of the administration's inequitable economic policies."

Meany's attack came as Republicans in Congress praised President Nixon's latest economic controls as tough while many Democrats joined other leaders of organized labor and business in claiming Phase IV would hurt city dwellers and consumers.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, W. Va., the assistant Democratic leader, said he was hopeful that Phase IV "may help the county to regain its economic balance, but I do not view the prospects as especially bright."

In a departure from past practice, the public will be allowed to comment directly on the stabilization rules during the next two weeks.

The full Phase IV package will be in place Aug. 12 and will, according to Nixon, be a "tough ... selective" system designed to bring the soaring cost of living under control.

In a companion action, Nixon vowed to cut "several billion dollars" of federal spending this year in an effort to balance the budget. This is "the key to success of our anti-inflation effort," he said.

RABIES

came ill and went into convulsions. The horse bit Mrs. Ghilotti and her husband had his hand — with an open sore — in the animal's mouth shortly before it developed violent symptoms.

In late June a mare owned by the Ghilottis went into convulsions and died in Mendocino County. When tests showed the animal had been rabid, Copilot's brain was retested, and it was found he, too, had had rabies.

Three persons in Mendocino immediately began the anti-rabies shots and are now considered out of danger, according to Dr. Richard Emmons, public health medical officer for the State Health Department.

Sonoma And Marin Get Tax Benefit

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin and Sonoma county governments and city governments in Marin and Southern Sonoma have received more than $400,000 in a distribution of local sales and use taxes it was announced today.

The payment, by the state board of equalization, is part of a statewide distribution of $38,826,000 representing the second advance payment by California business taxpayers for the second quarter of the current year.

The funds were to be distributed yesterday according to William M. Bennett, chairman of the board.

Local governmental shares were Belvedere, $500; Cotati, $3,000; Corte Madera, $22,500; Fairfax, $3,750; Larkspur, $7,000; Marin County, $31,250; Mill Valley, $13,000; Novato, $26,500; Petaluma, $34,250; Rohnert Park, $5,000; Ross, $400; San Anselmo, $9,250; San Rafael, $107,500; Sausalito, $21,000; Sonoma County $112,500, and Tiburon, $6,000.

BUGGING

ly will investigate such incidents as illegal corporate contributions to the 1972 presidential campaign. American Airlines disclosed July 6 it had illegally given $55,000 in corporate funds to Nixon's reelection campaign at the urging of the President's personal attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach.

LaRue, a millionaire Mississippian who has pleaded guilty to conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Watergate cover-up, listened to Ervin with head bowed. He earlier had recounted funneling $242,000 to the seven original Watergate defendants, helping devise false stories and concealing evidence from government prosecutors.

He also said he believed that Jeb Stuart Magruder, the deputy manager of Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign, had prior knowledge of the June 17, 1972 burglary and bugging at Democratic National Committee headquarters that touched off the scandal.

Following LaRue to the brown felt-draped witness table was Robert C. Mardian, like LaRue once a key deputy to former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and who has been linked to the cover-up plot.

But Mardian, a former assistant attorney general, said in an opening statement his only role following the June 17 arrests was that of a lawyer, not a "political protege." He said learning of the Watergate break-in was "the most shocking experience in my entire legal career."

Bill Pending To Assist Transit Tax

A hope expressed Tuesday by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste that an election can be held next April to raise the tax limit in the county's transit district, will need state legislation about to be introduced.

The law that created the district did not allow for subsequent elections to raise the limit above 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. County supervisors informally have said the increase should range from another nickel to 20 cents above the current rate.

The problem is the current rate raises only about $400,000 a year, leaving the county short of money needed to pay the Golden Gate Bridge District for local bus service.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told the I-J yesterday the needed legislation should get to the governor by the Sept. 15 deadline for bills to be effective next year. He said he will introduce the bill when the Legislature reconvenes in August for six weeks.

Child Center May Be Moved

The San Anselmo School District board will continue its review of the Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center when it meets at 8 p.m. today in Red Hill School.

At issue is whether or not the center should be allowed to continue using Yolansdale School facilities. Some parents have claimed the school is too crowded to accommodate the center.

The board will also consider leasing Isabel Cook School, which is being phased out, and review a student accident insurance plan.

Title Insurance Explained.

Since the days of the Spaniards, all California land was originally owned, controlled and recorded by some governmental body. As these lands were gradually transferred to private ownership, and property in turn changed hands over the years, certain encumbrances were sometimes involved.

This is where a title search becomes important. A title search investigates all county records relative to a piece of property, and can turn up any obscure claims that might exist, such as liens, easements, or unpaid taxes. Title Insurance is the buyer's guarantee that this title search is complete and accurate.

Your member Realtor office of the Marin County Board of Realtors can help you with any questions about Title Insurance. And if you're selling a home, place it on Multiple Listing. The more than 1,000 salesmen from the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors will be selling it for you. Your Real Estate Professionals.

Larkspur Set To Freeze Most Construction On Steep Slopes

The Larkspur City Council last night began the process of extending a building moratorium to all residentially zoned lands in Larkspur with a slope of 10 per cent or more.

Acting on a motion by Councilman Robert H. Lee, the council voted 3-0 to request preparation of an urgency ordinance for the extension which will be considered at a regular meeting Aug. 15. Councilmen William G. Fleckles and Neil Brixon were absent.

The extension will be effective immediately if passed. It will need four votes for approval.

The council had previously extended moratoriums covering the North Ridge within the city's limits and all land zoned R-3 west of Magnolia Avenue with slope greater than 10 per cent.

Lee made clear that the moratorium should not apply to lots of record within the community or legal lots which have building approval prior to the moratorium. Lee also said it should be up to applicants to prove that their land is under the 10 per cent slope limit when requesting building permits.

John O. Roberto, director of city planning and community development, urged the moratorium saying it would allow time for completion of the city's proposed slope and hillside development regulations.

The extension had also been endorsed by the city's planning commission.

Mayor Alfred J. Malvino said such an extension should be consistent with the time limits placed on the previous moratoriums. But he did not make clear if this extension should coincide with the Magnolia moratorium or the North Ridge ban since they were passed for different time lengths.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst pointed out that such urgency measures are usually passed for four-month periods.

The council asked that the urgency ordinance be held past its Aug. 1 meeting and be considered Aug. 15 when a full five-man council is anticipated.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

MODELS — Approved a six month extension of permission for flying gasoline powered model airplanes at Bundy Field from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

CLEANUP — Delayed until Aug. 15 discussion of a community cleanup project.

REAPPORTIONMENT — Voted to support bills before the state Senate and Assembly calling for reapportionment by commission rather than by legislative action and sent a letter to the board of supervisors and the grand jury asking that such a principle be used on the county level.

BIDS — Called for bids on an estimated $25,000 sewer line replacement project at Boardwalk No. 1.

EMERGENCY — Adopted emergency plan for the city and authorized participation in surplus property programs.

MORATORIUM — Reviewed the Marin Municipal Water District's moratorium and was told Roberto will attend today a meeting on the moratorium between district directors and county supervisors.

OPEN SPACE — Endorsed AB 920 which would return funds from realty transfer taxes to local governments to purchase open space but rejected proposals which might limit funds already available to local governments through such taxes.

ORDINANCES — Introduced ordinances amending a section of the city's zoning ordinance and uniform fire code and set public hearings on the proposals for Aug. 15.

APPOINTMENTS — Named Lynne Paretchan to the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission and John K. De Bonis to the Larkspur Library Board.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to discuss pending litigation against the city.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Aug. 1 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Telecast Tells Of Asthma Drug

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new drug for asthma victims was introduced to doctors in 35 cities by closed circuit TV yesterday.

The drug, Cromolyn-Sodiumn, which was given final clearance by the Food and Drug Administration last month, will not prevent asthma attacks, but will offer relief after an attack has begun, said Dr. John Connell, assistant professor of medicine of Columbia University.

The drug was discovered in England in 1965, and is presently available in 55 countries.

Syntex Laboratories, Palo Alto, which sells the drug under the brand name Aarane, produced the broadcast.

Paper Shortage Causes Problem In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (AP) — It's getting tougher and tougher to find the 15,000 tons of paper that state government's countless bureaucrats need each year, the state's chief paper purchaser says.

In fact, there could be a paper shortage, said state buyer Harley Raymond in an interview yesterday.

So far, it is believed that no state bureaucrat has written a lengthy report on how a paper shortage could cripple state government. Of course such a report could have gone unnoticed in the endless blizzard of reports produced in state government.

The paper price keeps going up and up, and 39 to 40 paper mills have closed down across the country in recent years, Raymond said. "We had to change the bidding procedures by going out to bid more often. Mills which we had been dealing with declined to give us year-long contracts because of the fluctuating price of paper. We have had to go down to 90-day contracts on nearly all kinds of paper," he said.

Raymond is bracing for a new round of bidding on stationery and other forms of bond paper because the current contract runs out in September.

"I don't know what to expect. I have had quotes up to 18 per cent higher on bond than last year. On cardboard box material, I have had bids up as much as 300 per cent from last year," he said in an interview.

He added that the price of paper has jumped about $2.10 a ton over the past year.

Paper suppliers tell the state tougher new pollution control rules are responsible for the soaring prices, Raymond said.

"Some of the larger companies have shut down their marginal, older mills. Smaller operators have gone out of business. It takes about two years to put a new paper line into production, Even if they started today it would be 1976 before we would get the supply from a new mill," Raymond added.

"The manufacturers are running at 100 to 105 per cent of capacity and the national demand for paper is increasing at 9 to 10 per cent a year," he said.

Catalina Caravan Reservations Open

Reservations are now being taken at the Marin Young Men's Christian Association for a seven-day caravan to Catalina Island for teen-agers, beginning Aug. 22, according to Sheryl Barnard, program director.

The co-ed vacation will include a leisurely drive to Southern California, followed by a boat trip to the island, where the group will camp for five days. Further information is available at the YMCA office at 241 North San Pedro Road in Santa Venetia.

Probation In Dope Case For Woman

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — A Marin woman has been placed on probation for five years after pleading guilty in U.S. District court to charges of possessing cocaine.

Shari Walden, 22, of San Anselmo, was sentenced Monday by Judge Robert J. Kelleher. She had pleaded guilty in mid-May.

Melville E. Wolfe of Tiburon, who was also charged with the offense after the pair's arrest in November at Los Angeles International Airport, received an identical sentence in June.

The pair was arrested after they got off a flight from Panama by federal agents. Agents were suspicious when Wolf began tugging at his trousers and they discovered 1.5 pounds of cocaine in two elastic girdles he was wearing.

Miss Walden was carrying 2.5 pounds of the drug in her clothing.

Both had originally been charged with importing cocaine but that charge was dropped in exchange for guilty pleas to the lesser possession charge.

Prison School Grad Rite Set

San Quentin's Bayview Schools will award degrees, diplomas and certificates of achievement at 7:30 p.m. in the prison's garden chapel tomorrow.

Nine literacy certificates, 15 elementary diplomas (eighth grade), 132 high school diplomas, 11 associate of arts degrees from the College of Marin, 27 vocational certificates of completion and 38 certificates of achievement will be presented.

The school provides literacy training through college level instruction, independent study, special education and vocational training for prisoners. Gene Benedetti, a member of the board of trustees for California state colleges, will be the principal speaker.

Merchants To Hear Rebuttal By Klemme

The attorney for Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme was to meet with Novato businessmen today to discuss charges the Novato Police Officers Association has leveled against his client.

John D. McQuaid said he hopes to show the merchants that the accusations of misconduct are "trivial, misleading and sometimes false" by displaying the actual complaints signed by individual officers.

"I think these charges say more about the accusers than about the accused," McQuaid said.

Klemme has categorically denied charges ranging from sexual misconduct to use of confiscated beer for a party and filing of a fraudulent voucher on a trip to Southern California which had included trips to Disneyland and other amusement centers.

The officers' individual complaints also list allegations of misconduct heretofore unrevealed, charging that Klemme:

1. Requested that names of officers who did not attend police-community relations classes be signed on attendance sheets so they might qualify for reimbursement from the Commission on Peace Officers Standards and Training.

2. Attended college classes in Santa Rosa during working hours.

3. Used a city car for social purposes, to go out drinking and dancing.

4. Had officers chauffeur him on personal errands, to visit friends in other cities, to South San Francisco to be fitted for a new suit and to choose a birthday present for his wife.

5. Destroyed the slips the officers filled out to request time off so that the city was billed for days they did not work.

McQuaid said he hopes the complaints, along with the chiefs' responses to them, will "reveal to those who see them the concerted effort on the part of certain officers to 'get the chief.'

"He has a party at his house and is feeding these people and giving them cocktails and they are keeping book on him," McQuaid said. "So many of these complaints are taken out of context; when put into context, they become so innocent."

McQuaid will detail for the businessmen the events that led to Klemme's resignation in April. "We will show that the chief resigned not because of accusations against him, but over a personal dispute with the city manager (Charles A. Brown)."

He said the meeting, which was to have been held at 5 p.m. at the Novato Realty office, was requested by "several concerned businessmen."

New Clues Asked Of 'Witness'

San Rafael police asked today for further help from a "Secret Witness" who offered a possible clue in the long, fruitless search for missing 6-year-old Tracy Lynn Davenort.

Juvenile Officer Donald M. Rose said a check of automobile license numbers reported in a "Secret Witness" communication has run into a dead-end since both cars were sold out of state, and then not registered in the states to which they were transferred from California.

He asked that the "Secret Witness" send another communication, using the same code number as previously, with any additional information regarding the car. It reportedly was seen in the vicinity where the little girl vanished on April 27 en route to Bahia Vista School from her grandmother's apartment at 737 Francisco Boulevard.

Officer Rose asked also that any other person who had seen a dark blue sedan in the vicinity on April 27, bearing California license MXY 317 or MXY 371 or a similar number, communicate any information about it either to police or to Secret Witness, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael.

The Independent-Journal has a standing $1,000 reward offer for information leading to the missing child, in addition to a $500 reward offered by the child's parents, Paul Davenport of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Elmarine Davison of San Rafael.

Youth Authority Seats Filled

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Paul A. Meany of San Francisco, chief of the state Division of Fair Employment Practices, has been appointed to the California Youth Authority Board by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan also reappointed Gladys L. Sanderson and Richard W. Calvin Jr., Sacramento Republicans, to the board.

The appointments require Senate confirmation. The annual salary is $26,250.

Savings And Loan Pays Widow For Broken Door

An elderly Richmond widow, whose basement door was kicked in by Corte Madera police in March when they cornered a robber, has finally been paid back — by the robbery victim.

A check for the full $43.09 damage was mailed yesterday to Emma Candelo by the Civic Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The savings and loan firm recovered the entire $1,100 stolen from its Corte Madera branch by three robbers, who were captured in Richmond after a 90-mile-per-hour chase across the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge.

One of the robbers invaded Mrs. Candelo's home and hid in the basement, whereupon police kicked in her door.

Two weeks later Mrs. Candelo wrote to the Corte Madera police, saying she'd like to get her door fixed. The town finance director worte back saying the town couldn't assume responsibility for damage done by the "intruder."

Mrs. Candelo wrote back in May, saying she considered the robber the intruder, "and he wasn't the one that broke my door."

At its July 2 meeting, the Corte Madera Town Council decided to ask the savings and loan firm to pay up.

Cycle Accident Victim Improves

A Kentfield man has been removed from the critical list, according to spokesmen at Marin General Hospital where he is being treated for head injuries and a broken wrist received in a motorcycle accident Saturday in San Rafael.

Jose Gallegos, 30, of 839 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard is now in serious condition.

He was hurt when his cycle and a car collided on San Pedro Road.

Probation In Dope Case For Woman

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — A Marin woman has been placed on probation for five years after pleading guilty in U.S. District court to charges of possessing cocaine.

Shari Walden, 22, of San Anselmo, was sentenced Monday by Judge Robert J. Kelleher. She had pleaded guilty in mid-May.

Melville E. Wolfe of Tiburon, who was also charged with the offense after the pair's arrest in November at Los Angeles International Airport, received an identical sentence in June.

The pair was arrested after they got off a flight from Panama by federal agents. Agents were suspicious when Wolf began tugging at his trousers and they discovered 1.5 pounds of cocaine in two elastic girdles he was wearing.

Miss Walden was carrying 2.5 pounds of the drug in her clothing.

Both had originally been charged with importing cocaine but that charge was dropped in exchange for guilty pleas to the lesser possession charge.

Prison School Grad Rite Set

San Quentin's Bayview Schools will award degrees, diplomas and certificates of achievement at 7:30 p.m. in the prison's garden chapel tomorrow.

Nine literacy certificates, 15 elementary diplomas (eighth grade), 132 high school diplomas, 11 associate of arts degrees from the College of Marin, 27 vocational certificates of completion and 38 certificates of achievement will be presented.

The school provides literacy training through college level instruction, independent study, special education and vocational training for prisoners. Gene Benedetti, a member of the board of trustees for California state colleges, will be the principal speaker.

Merchants To Hear Rebuttal By Klemme

The attorney for Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme was to meet with Novato businessmen today to discuss charges the Novato Police Officers Association has leveled against his client.

John D. McQuaid said he hopes to show the merchants that the accusations of misconduct are "trivial, misleading and sometimes false" by displaying the actual complaints signed by individual officers.

"I think these charges say more about the accusers than about the accused," McQuaid said.

Klemme has categorically denied charges ranging from sexual misconduct to use of confiscated beer for a party and filing of a fraudulent voucher on a trip to Southern California which had included trips to Disneyland and other amusement centers.

The officers' individual complaints also list allegations of misconduct heretofore unrevealed, charging that Klemme:

1. Requested that names of officers who did not attend police-community relations classes be signed on attendance sheets so they might qualify for reimbursement from the Commission on Peace Officers Standards and Training.

2. Attended college classes in Santa Rosa during working hours.

3. Used a city car for social purposes, to go out drinking and dancing.

4. Had officers chauffeur him on personal errands, to visit friends in other cities, to South San Francisco to be fitted for a new suit and to choose a birthday present for his wife.

5. Destroyed the slips the officers filled out to request time off so that the city was billed for days they did not work.

McQuaid said he hopes the complaints, along with the chiefs' responses to them, will "reveal to those who see them the concerted effort on the part of certain officers to 'get the chief.'

"He has a party at his house and is feeding these people and giving them cocktails and they are keeping book on him," McQuaid said. "So many of these complaints are taken out of context; when put into context, they become so innocent."

McQuaid will detail for the businessmen the events that led to Klemme's resignation in April. "We will show that the chief resigned not because of accusations against him, but over a personal dispute with the city manager (Charles A. Brown)."

He said the meeting, which was to have been held at 5 p.m. at the Novato Realty office, was requested by "several concerned businessmen."

New Clues Asked Of 'Witness'

San Rafael police asked today for further help from a "Secret Witness" who offered a possible clue in the long, fruitless search for missing 6-year-old Tracy Lynn Davenort.

Juvenile Officer Donald M. Rose said a check of automobile license numbers reported in a "Secret Witness" communication has run into a dead-end since both cars were sold out of state, and then not registered in the states to which they were transferred from California.

He asked that the "Secret Witness" send another communication, using the same code number as previously, with any additional information regarding the car. It reportedly was seen in the vicinity where the little girl vanished on April 27 en route to Bahia Vista School from her grandmother's apartment at 737 Francisco Boulevard.

Officer Rose asked also that any other person who had seen a dark blue sedan in the vicinity on April 27, bearing California license MXY 317 or MXY 371 or a similar number, communicate any information about it either to police or to Secret Witness, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael.

The Independent-Journal has a standing $1,000 reward offer for information leading to the missing child, in addition to a $500 reward offered by the child's parents, Paul Davenport of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Elmarine Davison of San Rafael.

CONTRABAND — Sgt. Leavins Hinnenberg (left) and Officer Steve Battaglia of the Ross Police Department examine the load of booty confiscated last night in a drug raid at a home on Shady Lane and Locust Avenue. Taken in the haul were 30 kilos of marijuana (rear packages), 500 amphetamine pills (foreground), and other contraband.

Five Arrested In Ross Drug Raid

Five persons were arrested and a large supply of narcotics and dangerous drugs confiscated last night, as police broke up an alleged narcotics laboratory in Ross.

Two Philadelphia teen-age women were among those arrested and among the contraband were a 38-caliber revolver stolen in Philadelphia, a can of Mace, detailed instructions on how to make amphetamines, and extensive laboratory equipment.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $100,000 bail were: Eileen Shaw, 19, of Philadelphia, Virginia MacGregor, 19, of 200 Cazneau Street, Apartment A, Sausalito, and Kathleen Rosemary Schmidt, 18, of Philadelphia, all on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs or narcotics, and on suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale.

Also booked was Raymond Anthony Hossback, 25, of 331 Carrera Road, Mill Valley, on the same counts, plus suspicion of possession of controlled drugs without a prescription, possession of drugs to manufacture amphetamines, and possession of narcotics and dangerous drugs for sale. William Richard Paris, 29, of Shady Lane, Ross, was booked on all these counts, plus suspicion of possession of a firearm by a convict.

Five officers from the Ross and San Anselmo Police Departments, acting on a tip, raided Paris' newly rented residence on the corner of Shady Lane and Locust Avenue at 9:45 p.m.

Police said they found 30 kilos of marijuana, 10 pounds of amphetamines, 500 barbiturate tablets, and various laboratory equipment and chemicals.

Officers also discovered ten more empty bags that had apparently contained marijuana that had already been distributed.

Budget For Water Up $1 Million

A $1,707,357 budget for fiscal 1973-74, compared to last year's $778,626, has been adopted by the North Marin County Water District Board.

It consists of a $715,841 operating budget and a $991,516 capital improvement budget, the latter accounting for most of the nearly $1 million jump in the total budget.

The tax rate was lowered from 10 to 9 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The operating budget includes $480,071 for operating expenses and $235,770 for purchase of Russian River water.

The capital improvement budget calls for $297,100 for improvement of the Stafford Lake treatment plant; $250,000 for new tank storage; $107,500 for purchase of watershed land; $104,500 for aqueduct extension to the Ignacio Wye; $99,864 for improvements to the distribution system and the balance for office and shop supplies and other miscellaneous expenses.

The board also voted Tuesday night to backfeed Russian River water into Stafford Lake and use half of this water for new connections. The vote was 3-2 with commissioners George Amaroli and Patrick Heffernan against.

It will cost the district $37,000 for the connection to pump surplus water in the winter to fill the lake, said Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson. Half of this water will be used to supply new customers and half for a reserve for dry years, Nelson said.

This would give the district enough water for 365 additional connections, he said. The board then committed 292 of these connections, contracting with Indian Valley Colleges, Valley Oaks, Village Marin, Novato Boulevard apartments, Western Oaks unit II and Leafwood Drive extension subdivisions, Nelson said. That leaves the district with water enough for 73 connections.

"It all depends on how soon the city of Novato or Marin County grants permits for these connections. When they are gone, no more will be given until next summer when we can see the progress on the Sonoma aqueduct", Nelson said.

The San Marin Improvement Association, which met last night, voted to protest backfeeding Russian River water into Stafford Lake.

Association president Robert Burke said that the association will also protest higher water cost resulting from necessity to pump and double treat it.

Gas Main Break In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A break in a natural gas main, caused by construction equipment, yesterday forced evacuation of residents from about 40 homes in a densely populated neighborhood for about two hours.

The four-inch pipeline was repaired and the citizens were permitted to return to their homes without incident. Pacific Gas and Electric Co. called the accident "routine."

A police spokesman said "hundreds" of persons were temporarily evacuated as a precautionary safety step.

The pipeline was broken, authorities said, by a piece of heavy equipment on an Interstate 5 freeway construction project near Sutterville Road and Riverside Boulevard several miles south of the state Capitol.

Five Arrested In Ross Drug Raid

Five persons were arrested and a large supply of narcotics and dangerous drugs confiscated last night, as police broke up an alleged narcotics laboratory in Ross.

Two Philadelphia teen-age women were among those arrested and among the contraband were a 38-caliber revolver stolen in Philadelphia, a can of Mace, detailed instructions on how to make amphetamines, and extensive laboratory equipment.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $100,000 bail were: Eileen Shaw, 19, of Philadelphia, Virginia MacGregor, 19, of 200 Cazneau Street, Apartment A, Sausalito, and Kathleen Rosemary Schmidt, 18, of Philadelphia, all on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs or narcotics, and on suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale.

Also booked was Raymond Anthony Hossback, 25, of 331 Carrera Road, Mill Valley, on the same counts, plus suspicion of possession of controlled drugs without a prescription, possession of drugs to manufacture amphetamines, and possession of narcotics and dangerous drugs for sale. William Richard Paris, 29, of Shady Lane, Ross, was booked on all these counts, plus suspicion of possession of a firearm by a convict.

Five officers from the Ross and San Anselmo Police Departments, acting on a tip, raided Paris' newly rented residence on the corner of Shady Lane and Locust Avenue at 9:45 p.m.

Police said they found 30 kilos of marijuana, 10 pounds of amphetamines, 500 barbiturate tablets, and various laboratory equipment and chemicals.

Officers also discovered ten more empty bags that had apparently contained marijuana that had already been distributed.

Budget For Water Up $1 Million

A $1,707,357 budget for fiscal 1973-74, compared to last year's $778,626, has been adopted by the North Marin County Water District Board.

It consists of a $715,841 operating budget and a $991,516 capital improvement budget, the latter accounting for most of the nearly $1 million jump in the total budget.

The tax rate was lowered from 10 to 9 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The operating budget includes $480,071 for operating expenses and $235,770 for purchase of Russian River water.

The capital improvement budget calls for $297,100 for improvement of the Stafford Lake treatment plant; $250,000 for new tank storage; $107,500 for purchase of watershed land; $104,500 for aqueduct extension to the Ignacio Wye; $99,864 for improvements to the distribution system and the balance for office and shop supplies and other miscellaneous expenses.

Five Wounded By Jerusalem Bomb

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A time bomb believed planted by Arab guerrillas exploded in a crowded outdoor market today, wounding an 11-year-old American girl and four other persons in what police said was the first such incident in Jerusalem in seven months.

A spokesman at Ahaare Zedek Hospital said five persons were wounded — three women, a man and a girl identified as Cyndi Louis, 11, of Akron, Ohio.

The hospital said two Israeli women, aged 44 and 50, were admitted with shock and slight burns but that the girl and the two other wounded persons were released after treatment for burns. Miss Louis also suffered a small knee wound.

"It is clear it must have been a guerrilla attack, although there is no evidence yet," a police spokesman said.

Several Arab suspects were rounded up for questioning after police, troops and seven ambulances arrived on the scene, the spokesman said.

"There was no panic," said Haim Zadok, the proprietor of the fruit stand where the bomb went off. "My shop wasn't damaged at all. One woman screamed, but that was all."

The blast came three days after similar bombs were found in movie theaters in Haifa and one day after another was found on a beach at Tiberias. Police said they thought all were guerrilla sabotage attempts.

Following the bomb discoveries, a national police spokesman warned the public to be on the lookout for suspicious-looking parcels or packages and to report them quickly to their nearest police station.

At least two small newspapers said the bombs found in Haifa heralded the beginning of a new wave of guerrilla attacks inside Israel proper, but police would not go that far.

Thousands of Arabs from outside Israel have entered the country since June as part of the "summer visits" program that reunites them with families living in the Jewish state or Israeli-occupied territory.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said last year it was possible that some guerrillas were among the visitors in 1972 despite efforts to screen applicants as a security precaution.

Berserk Soldier Kills 5, Himself

SEOUL (UPI) — A South Korean army deserter despondent over a broken love affair today killed five persons with a rifle and then took his own life by exploding a hand grenade, police said.

Pvt. Lee Jae-Su broke into a saw mill in a southern part of Seoul, police said, and began shooting at random. Police surrounded a building inside the mill where Lee holed up after the shooting spree. They tried to talk him out but after about an hour and a half, he killed himself by exploding the grenade.

Lee told police he was despondent because his girlfriend had deserted him. Police said Lee deserted his unit near Seoul while on night duty about an hour before he went on the shooting spree.

Span Quakeproof Work Ordered

Low bidder on a project to increase earthquake resistance on two bridges over the Petaluma River was L. R. Yegge Co. of Campbell, according to the state Department of Transportation.

His bid, which also includes similar work on an overpass in Oakland, was $140,156.

The work on the bridge on Highway 37 near Novato and the one on Highway 101 near Petaluma will include the installation of restrainer units formed by hinging together the concrete slabs which serve as bridge decks in order to allow expansion.

Lone Sailor Joins In Atom Test Protest

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — A lone sailor set off today in his 27-foot sailboat for a South Pacific nuclear testing site, hoping his gesture will help block a scheduled forthcoming series of atmospheric tests by France.

As Robert M. Wignall sailed for the Mururoa atoll testing site 700 miles from Tahiti, a French warship towed away an American-registered schooner that defied orders to stay clear of the test site.

"It is only my conscience that tells me to go to Mururoa," said Wignall, who is sailing his sailboat Carmen in the latest in a series of protests against the French tests.

He said he intended to enter the 72-mile danger zone France ordered cleared as a preliminary to the tests. French sources said earlier the tests could start at any time.

The schooner Fri, registered in Sausalito, Calif., and owned by David Moodie, 30, of Alstead, N.H., ignored the order. French sailors boarded the vessel and affixed ropes for towing it away.

The New Zealand government said it ordered one of its warships, also in the area on a protest voyage, to not intervene in the towing operation. But the government said it had asked France to give assurances that the crew of the Fri—the name is Danish for "free"—was well treated.

Prime Minister Norman Kirk of New Zealand said the frigate Otago would remain in the area and said if anything happens to the vessel or its crew as a result of the nuclear testing, he will hold France responsible.

Bolinas Water Rates Up, No Price Freeze

The seesawing Bolinas water rates went up again last night as directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District decided they were not covered by the Phase Four price controls announced yesterday.

The board had approved charges of one dollar per cubic foot plus a bi-monthly service charge of $10 on June 27.

It was ordered to rescind the increase two weeks later by the Internal Revenue Service, which said both that hike and a previous one of January, 1972, were in violation of the Economic Stabilization Program.

The board acted after director Orville Schell said an evening TV news program had stated "specifically and clearly that utility rates are not included" in the new price rule.

The increased rates will go into effect for the September billings, the board decided. An answer to the question as to whether refunds are due on the 1972 increase is expected shortly from Ramon J. Meek, compliance officer for the price control program, according to Lyman Robinson, board clerk.

Meek was out of his office this morning. A price stabilization spokesman said he could not confirm utility exemptions under Phase Four, as copies of the new price regulations had not yet been received, and he had no knowledge of possible refunds on the 1972 rate hike.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District Also:

GRIEVANCE — Announced that maintenance men, whose complaints have been the subject of two closed sessions, are considering an offer of a 5 per cent cost of living increase in pay, with a provision that time off can be taken for overtime work up to a maximum of 20 hours in one month.

LANDSCAPING — Approved preliminary landscaping plans for sewage treatment ponds to be constructed on the mesa. Costs were estimated at $47,460 by S. Allen Willis, landscape designer, but the board suggested volunteer labor would decrease the cost.

WELLS — Approved an engineering fee of up to $1,400 for Lowney, Kaldveer and Associates to sink three wells which will monitor drainage from the sewage ponds.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of director Mark Ireland, who had agreed to serve briefly while two directors were on vacation and one vacancy on the board had not been filled.

PINE GULCH — Authroized $260 to repair a pump which will be needed to get water from Pine Gulch Creek if supplies from the Arroyo Honda Dam run dry. Schell said he expected state health inspectors would lift the ban on use of the creek under such a condition because its water would be chlorinated and because the health hazard would be "infinitely greater" if the community were left with no water.

MESA ROADS — Told Minor Wilson, speaking for a group of residents, that the residents may proceed with volunteer improvement of district roads on the Mesa, using free fill Minor said the county would supply. There must be no cost to the district.

Four Injured As Car Rolls Over

Four persons were injured when a car rolled over yesterday at 6:20 p.m. on Stage Gulch Road near Adobe Road, Petaluma.

The driver, Bo Goran Wallkvist, 30, of Fremont, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head and back injuries.

Passengers injured included Alvis Bailey, 43, of San Francisco, in satisfactory condition with a back injury; John Ribeiro, 25, of Sonoma, in good condition with cuts; and Salvatore Marglov, 9, of Sonoma, treated for back pains.

The California Highway Patrol said the car spun out of control on a curve and overturned.

Two Ordered To Pay Lawyer Fee

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Supreme Court yesterday upheld a decision to grant Houston attorney Percy Foreman $250,000 in fees for defending Candace Mossler and Melvin Lane Powers on murder charges.

The two were acquitted in March, 1966, on charges of killing Mrs. Mossler's husband, Jacques.

A Houston trial court awarded Foreman $250,000 in attorney fees and the Texas court of criminal appeals upheld the ruling.

Mrs. Mossler and Powers argued that the fee was "grossly excessive and unconscionable."

Soviet Deal For Grain Said Rigged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today he had evidence the Agriculture Department knew in advance about last year's $1 billion Soviet grain deal and that big U.S. grain firms falsified their reports to the government on the deal.

On the eve of a series of hearings by his Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, Jackson said the evidence he has thus far uncovered on the 1972 deal could prove that parties to the deal had violated federal laws.

"We have sworn affidavits at this point that Agriculture was advised of the sales" before they occurred, he told a news conference.

The Agriculture Department has denied having advance knowledge of the sales.

Jackson further said there was "strong evidence" that the U.S. firms tried to keep the sales secret by "falsifying their reports to the Commodity Exchange Authority.

"The evidence our investigation has turned up thus far leads me to conclude that the Department of Agriculture — and especially the Commodity Exchange Authority — encouraged secrecy in their dealings with the grain companies and the commodity exchanges."

Consideration Asked Of Little League 'Lib'

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night grappled with the issue of whether little girls should be allowed to participate in Little League programs, but came to no conclusion on the matter.

Mayor Lewis W. Stewart said he urged commissioners to consider the matter "before it becomes a hot potato" as has happened In Mill Valley, where the council has told the National Little League organization to stay out of town next year unless it relaxes its boys-only rule.

San Anselmo commissioners appeared evenly divided on the issue, with some favoring total integration of sports teams using city facilities, and others saying girls can't play as well as boys anyway, according to Stewart.

"I think girls should be allowed to try out for Little League," Stewart said. "It's a matter of basic rights."

It was noted last night, Stewart said, that if girls are allowed to play on Little League teams, boys should be allowed to play on girls' Bobby Sox teams. "If you break the sex barrier, you have to go all the way," he said.

Commissioners said they will again consider the matter at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 1.

More Evidence Wanted On Claim

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night postponed consideration of a $5,943 claim, saying it wants more information.

Ghillotti Brothers, contractors in the South San Pedro Road widening project, claimed district sewer crews have delayed the road widening project, according to Virginia Congdon, board secretary.

The board said it will consider the claim at 5 p.m. next Wednesday, she said.

The board last night also approved payment of $5,218 for 15 easements connected with the Bayside Acres Sewer Assessment District, and refunded $1,750 to seven property owners along the proposed Summit Avenue annexation area because the project has been abandoned.

San Quentin Returns To Normal

Prison activities at San Quentin returned to normal this morning, following a weapons shakedown prompted by recent racial violence among inmates.

Prison officials had restricted most inmates to their cells this week after attacks resulted in the deaths of two convicts and injury to two others.

According to a prison spokesman, an exhaustive search of the grounds produced approximately two dozen crude weapons in various stages of completion.

"We feel we've done all we can as far as searching the place, and we have to get people back to work and into the program," said Associate Warden Donald R. Weber. He said that guards were working overtime patroling the grounds.

James D. Robinson and Lewis Henry remained in satisfactory condition today in the prison hospital, victims of stabbings in separate incidents Monday.

More Funds For Assessment Plan

The Sausalito Town Council has designated an additional $4,000 to cover engineering costs for the proposed Bridgeway Assessment District.

The new allocation brings to $9,000 the total allocated for design and engineering surveys.

In other matters Tuesday night, the council accepted a donation of a birdbath for the planned Earl F. Dunphy Park from five young schoolchildren, and approved spending $305 to repair two flagpoles at Vina Del Mar Park.

Tires, Wheel Rims Stolen From Car

Alfons Skirandt, a resident of the Skylark Apartments in Larkspur awoke yesterday morning to find that the Shelby mag rims and Dunlop radial tires on his 1972 Toyota Celica car had been stolen while parked in the garage under the apartments.

Police said the car had been jacked up with large pieces of lumber to remove the tires.

Bolinas Water Rates Up, No Price Freeze

The seesawing Bolinas water rates went up again last night as directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District decided they were not covered by the Phase Four price controls announced yesterday.

The board had approved charges of one dollar per cubic foot plus a bi-monthly service charge of $10 on June 27.

It was ordered to rescind the increase two weeks later by the Internal Revenue Service, which said both that hike and a previous one of January, 1972, were in violation of the Economic Stabilization Program.

College Board Seeks To Trim A Record $25 Million Budget

The Marin Community College District board last night picked apart a record $25,240,298 publication budget for four hours, then put it all back together and approved it.

However, trustees made it clear they intend to dissect the proposed 1973-74 budget again when it comes up for public hearing Aug. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the science center, in an effort to reduce the tax rate.

If adopted without change, the spending program for the coming year would require a local tax rate of $1.134 per $100 assessed valuation, an increase of 6.9 cents over the current rate of $1.065. Assessed valuation in the college district's taxing area has increased by 10 per cent.

The four trustees present last night — Frances Compton, Martin J. Dean, Gene Turtle and Joseph E. Doherty — attacked every scrap of the spending program.

They particularly worried about $402,414 for new equipment, mostly at College of Marin. All the money, except for $43,792 in federal funds, will come from local taxes.

Dean complained that the $125,000 designated for departmental requests at College of Marin was the result of buying "Cadillac-price" equipment when less expensive goods would do the job as well.

Trustees quizzed college administrators repeatedly on why the expense of education for the coming year has risen 16.5 per cent while the estimated enrollment increase is only 4.5 per cent.

Business manager Norman Bird attributed much of the hike to the expenses entailed in setting up Indian Valley Colleges, but Dean countered that since it's operating temporarily in leased quarters at Pacheco School "there must not be duplication of effort."

Bird said the number of full-time students in the district is expected to increase by 270 in the fall. The total expense of education predicted for the coming year is $7,482,321, up more than $1 million from this year's expense of $6,430,425.

While the board acknowledged that major construction of Indian Valley Colleges this coming year is a large expense — $3,437,874 for the initial building will come from local taxes alone — they questioned other construction projects at College of Marin.

Included in a long list of projects to be financed from "other income" of $3,512,526 were such items as landscaping the College of Marin science center, remodeling the art building, the old bookstore and the fine arts ticket booth on the Kentfield campus.

Dale Fleming, director of planning, said the "other income" was actually special eserves mostly accrued from the district's 35-cent tax override that was levied in the 1960's through 1971.

Mrs. Compton asked if the board could take some $3.5 million and apply it against this year's spending to reduce the tax rate.

And Dean and Turtle both asked college staff to review the capital outlay section of the budget — which totaled $6,397,688, and needs a levy of 38.8 cents per $100 tax levy —to reduce that section of the tax levy to 35 cents.

Fleming said bids for phase one construction of Indian Valley Colleges will be in by the end of this month —and if they're "favorable" the tax rate may be reduced even further.

A breakdown of the general fund section of the adopted publication budget of $18,484,452 was:

Administration, $263,340; instruction, $5,572,080; health services, $21,819; plant operation, $575,550; plant maintenance, $311,901; fixed charges, $772,910; student transportation, $34,667; food services, $61,000; community services, $447,376; capital outlay (including equipment) $6,138,429.

Before considering the publication budget, the board approved, with little discussion, a 1973-74 budget for Associated Students of $52,516, up from this year's figure of $50,453.

College Board Seeks To Trim A Record $25 Million Budget

The Marin Community College District board last night picked apart a record $25,240,298 publication budget for four hours, then put it all back together and approved it.

However, trustees made it clear they intend to dissect the proposed 1973-74 budget again when it comes up for public hearing Aug. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the science center, in an effort to reduce the tax rate.

If adopted without change, the spending program for the coming year would require a local tax rate of $1.134 per $100 assessed valuation, an increase of 6.9 cents over the current rate of $1.065. Assessed valuation in the college district's taxing area has increased by 10 per cent.

The four trustees present last night — Frances Compton, Martin J. Dean, Gene Turtle and Joseph E. Doherty — attacked every scrap of the spending program.

They particularly worried about $402,414 for new equipment, mostly at College of Marin. All the money, except for $43,792 in federal funds, will come from local taxes.

Dean complained that the $125,000 designated for departmental requests at College of Marin was the result of buying "Cadillac-price" equipment when less expensive goods would do the job as well.

Trustees quizzed college administrators repeatedly on why the expense of education for the coming year has risen 16.5 per cent while the estimated enrollment increase is only 4.5 per cent.

Business manager Norman Bird attributed much of the hike to the expenses entailed in setting up Indian Valley Colleges, but Dean countered that since it's operating temporarily in leased quarters at Pacheco School "there must not be duplication of effort."

Bird said the number of full-time students in the district is expected to increase by 270 in the fall. The total expense of education predicted for the coming year is $7,482,321, up more than $1 million from this year's expense of $6,430,425.

While the board acknowledged that major construction of Indian Valley Colleges this coming year is a large expense — $3,437,874 for the initial building will come from local taxes alone — they questioned other construction projects at College of Marin.

Included in a long list of projects to be financed from "other income" of $3,512,526 were such items as landscaping the College of Marin science center, remodeling the art building, the old bookstore and the fine arts ticket booth on the Kentfield campus.

Dale Fleming, director of planning, said the "other income" was actually special eserves mostly accrued from the district's 35-cent tax override that was levied in the 1960's through 1971.

Mrs. Compton asked if the board could take some $3.5 million and apply it against this year's spending to reduce the tax rate.

And Dean and Turtle both asked college staff to review the capital outlay section of the budget — which totaled $6,397,688, and needs a levy of 38.8 cents per $100 tax levy —to reduce that section of the tax levy to 35 cents.

Fleming said bids for phase one construction of Indian Valley Colleges will be in by the end of this month —and if they're "favorable" the tax rate may be reduced even further.

A breakdown of the general fund section of the adopted publication budget of $18,484,452 was:

Administration, $263,340; instruction, $5,572,080; health services, $21,819; plant operation, $575,550; plant maintenance, $311,901; fixed charges, $772,910; student transportation, $34,667; food services, $61,000; community services, $447,376; capital outlay (including equipment) $6,138,429.

Before considering the publication budget, the board approved, with little discussion, a 1973-74 budget for Associated Students of $52,516, up from this year's figure of $50,453.

A workman (bottom center) stands amid tons of toppled debris as the wrecker's ball continues its crushing task, smashing into the three-story courthouse annex in downtown San Rafael. The annex, now about half demolished, will be wiped forever from the face of Courthouse Square within two weeks, according to Gary L. Ordway, demolition project manager. The structure makes way for dual office buildings and a parking garage planned by McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento.

Drops Seen In Gas Consumption

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dire warnings of a fuel shortage this summer apparently sparked record gasoline consumption in California, but experts predict motorists will begin cutting back in the months and years to come.

If they do not or if the availability of gasoline remains limited, government leaders say automobile owners may be forced by legislation to cut back.

Beginning last January, gasoline consumption steadily increased over the previous year until May when all-time record quantities—nearly a billion gallons—were distributed to service stations, according to state records released to UPI today.

Although the term "shortage" is hotly disputed, experts agree that May was the transition month from the world of gas-aplenty for consumers.

Warnings became increasingly shrill from the beginning of the month and by the Memorial Day weekend drivers were faced with early service station closures and dealer rationing on a widespread basis.

Government officials conclude that the warnings stimulated extra gas use and stockpiling.

"The impending crisis always creates the fear that we may run out," said Terry M. Chambers, the Reagan administration's No. 2 transportation official. He said this was particularly true in agriculture where farmers began storing large quantities of fuel.

"There could also be an increase because people are taking earlier vacations, feeling later in the summer that shortages might really affect them," he added.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, head of the state's Science and Industry Commission, said hurried agricultural stockpiling could add up to "millions of gallons."

Other factors contributing to the 914 million gallons of sales in May, according to oil industry and government spokesmen, were greater use of fuel-consuming antipollution devices on cars, larger numbers of heavy recreational vehicles and a banner month for auto sales in general.

The figure, which includes relatively small amounts of gasoline used by boaters and airplanes, represented a six per cent jump over the previous May and only the second time monthly totals exceeded 900 million gallons. The first was in August 1972.

The total was based on taxes paid to the state Board of Equalization, where figures also show that consumption each month this year exceeded the record for the same months in all previous years.

Judy Smith, analyst for the board, said totals for June will not be available for several weeks.

Oil industry spokesmen report that gasoline production was increased during June.

However, the state Finance Department recently revised downward its projections of how much gasoline motorists will burn during this fiscal year and the next.

Last December, when state budget-writers made their initial estimate, they figured each of California's 15.7 million vehicles would use 676 gallons during fiscal 1973-74. In May, this was lowered to 663 gallons.

Early projections for next fiscal year, compiled this May, were for 662 gallons. But the number of vehicles was expected to increase by 450,000.

Budget researchers said the downward estimates were based on data received from oil and auto companies and incoming tax revenues.

Research supervisor David Brainin said the revised 1973-74 figures take into account that automobile owners "are going to cheaper cars" and driving less.

Meantime, government leaders have been dropping frequent hints that Californians may face a mandatory reduction in state speed limits.

"We feel one of the great opportunities Californians have to help meet this energy crisis is reducing their average speed," said Chambers, deputy secretary of the Business and Transportation Agency. "The top 10 miles of speed limit certainly use an abnormally high amount of gas."

The lieutenant governor and the administration's new Transportation Director, James A. Moe, also have talked freely of possible speed limit reductions which would require legislation.

Reinecke said "conscientious" drivers are already doing their part. "Personally, I have not used my (car) air conditioner since this whole thing began," the lieutenant governor said.

Bay Area's Economy Reaching Near-Boom

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Area economy appears to be reaching a near-boom, and will continue to be healthy for the rest of the year, according to Security Pacific Bank.

"During the first six months a strong improvement on the labor picture, coupled with advances in manufacturing and consumer spending, were marred only by the rise in the cost of living evidenced in the Bay Area," a bank spokesman said yesterday.

"However, the strong growth may be indicative of an overheated economy, and we expect that the expansion will not continue indefinitely—probably tapering off at the end of the year."

The bank's monthly analysis of economic indicators for the northern coastal area showed:

Gains in consumer spending and personal income. Spending was directed at such items as cars, furniture and appliances. Car sales rose 22 per cent in the first six months of 1973.

"This spending indicates the consumer's desire to purchase major items before prices rise any further," the spokesman said.

Substantial increases in employment. Unemployment averaged 5 per cent in the first half of 1973, down from 5.7 per cent for the last half of 1972.

—Bay Area aerospace manufacturing is at an all-time higher.

Building permit valuations through May showed nearly a 10 per cent increase over last year's actual total of $2.08 billion for the same period.

No New Trial On Stock Fraud

NEW YORK (UPI) — John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi's appeal for a new trial of a stock fraud charge was rejected yesterday by a federal judge.

Dioguardi, a reputed labor racketeer, claimed one of the jurors in his trial which resulted in conviction last January was mentally incompetent. The woman had written to him in prison, urging him to "repent" and saying she was a clairvoyant, he claimed.

Chief Judge David Edelstein said Dioguardi's lawyers had not overcome "the presumption of sanity which protects the juror."

Diguardi was convicted of scheming to inflate shares of stock in Belmont Franchise Corp. which resulted in a half-million dollar loss to investors. He was sentenced to nine years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

New College Nearing Goal Of Fund Drive

New College in Sausalito is $2,000 short of its goal to raise $100,000 to cover operational expenses for its third academic year, announced John P. Leary, the institution's president and founder.

Leary said an anonymous donation of $43,000 and a gift of $5,800 from two Boston men have boosted contributions during the school's current fund drive to $98,000.

The president said he expects $125,000 to be raised by the end of the drive in mid-September.

New College began two years ago with 16 students and a spending program of $75,000, according to Leary. This fall he anticipates a budget of $400,000 and an enrollment of 175, including 35 students in a new law school.

The budget is to be funded by monies received in the fund campaign and a $141,000 federal grant. The balance will be paid by tuition fees of $2,000 per student.

Leary noted that much of the money raised this year came from contributions from Marin residents.

A workman (bottom center) stands amid tons of toppled debris as the wrecker's ball continues its crushing task, smashing into the three-story courthouse annex in downtown San Rafael. The annex, now about half demolished, will be wiped forever from the face of Courthouse Square within two weeks, according to Gary L. Ordway, demolition project manager. The structure makes way for dual office buildings and a parking garage planned by McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento.

Drops Seen In Gas Consumption

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dire warnings of a fuel shortage this summer apparently sparked record gasoline consumption in California, but experts predict motorists will begin cutting back in the months and years to come.

If they do not or if the availability of gasoline remains limited, government leaders say automobile owners may be forced by legislation to cut back.

Beginning last January, gasoline consumption steadily increased over the previous year until May when all-time record quantities—nearly a billion gallons—were distributed to service stations, according to state records released to UPI today.

Although the term "shortage" is hotly disputed, experts agree that May was the transition month from the world of gas-aplenty for consumers.

Warnings became increasingly shrill from the beginning of the month and by the Memorial Day weekend drivers were faced with early service station closures and dealer rationing on a widespread basis.

Government officials conclude that the warnings stimulated extra gas use and stockpiling.

"The impending crisis always creates the fear that we may run out," said Terry M. Chambers, the Reagan administration's No. 2 transportation official. He said this was particularly true in agriculture where farmers began storing large quantities of fuel.

"There could also be an increase because people are taking earlier vacations, feeling later in the summer that shortages might really affect them," he added.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, head of the state's Science and Industry Commission, said hurried agricultural stockpiling could add up to "millions of gallons."

Other factors contributing to the 914 million gallons of sales in May, according to oil industry and government spokesmen, were greater use of fuel-consuming antipollution devices on cars, larger numbers of heavy recreational vehicles and a banner month for auto sales in general.

The figure, which includes relatively small amounts of gasoline used by boaters and airplanes, represented a six per cent jump over the previous May and only the second time monthly totals exceeded 900 million gallons. The first was in August 1972.

The total was based on taxes paid to the state Board of Equalization, where figures also show that consumption each month this year exceeded the record for the same months in all previous years.

Judy Smith, analyst for the board, said totals for June will not be available for several weeks.

Oil industry spokesmen report that gasoline production was increased during June.

However, the state Finance Department recently revised downward its projections of how much gasoline motorists will burn during this fiscal year and the next.

15 Are Held Hostage By Gunman In Greece

ATHENS (UPI) — An Arab gunman armed with a submachine gun and hand grenades seized 15 persons as hostages in a hotel in the heart of Athens today but released them unharmed in return for guranteed safe conduct to the Middle East, police said.

The hostages included an elderly American, a Greek Orthodox priest, three policemen and three children. At one point the gunman had threatened to execute them one by one if he did not gain his freedom. At another point he threatened to blow them all up.

The man emerged from the Amalia Hotel on Constitution Square at 4:32 p.m.(10:32 a.m. EDT) still carrying a hand grenade and with his submachine gun slung from his neck.

He was accompanied by the Libyan and Iraqi ambassadors who had acted as mediators in the negotiations between Greek officials and the man who identified himself as a member of an "anti-Zionist group from occupied Palestine."

The incident stemmed from the man's abortive attempt to break into the nearby El Al Israel airline office where bombs thrown by two Arab terrorists killed a Greek child and wounded 14 passengers in November, 1969. The two Arabs received long prison sentences but were released in the face of new Arab threats.

The gunman, who wore a pink short-sleeved shirt, had demanded that First Deputy Prime Minister Stylianos Pattakos come to the tourist-filled hotel and negotiate in person on safe conduct out of the country.

Pattakos refused although the gunman said, "I will kill everybody if Pattakos doesn't come."

Libyan Ambassador Ahmed Ragab Feiture went to the hotel and was followed by Egyptian Charge d'Affaires Mahmoud Dia el-Din. The Greek Government had given them guarantees of safe conduct for the gunmen who later emerged from the hotel and entered Feitur's black limousine. Officials said they were going to Athens Airport.

The hostages were unharmed.

Bank Branch Emptied By Bomb Threat

The Bank of Marin in the Northgate Industrial Park was evacuated briefly yesterday after a caller warned it would be blown up unless $150,000 was delivered to a local hotel.

San Rafael police and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation found no bomb following a search at about 2 p.m. yesterday.

Police said a young man called the bank, told an official to walk outside and follow instructions on an envelope on the sidewalk.

A note in the envelope demanded a bank official and a teller bring $150,000 in small bills to a room at the San Rafael Holiday Inn and lie face down on a bed or face personal "detonation" as well as "elimination" of the bank.

"We need this money to help our poor country and feed and clothe many of our people," the note said.

Camera Stealing Charge Denied

A Mill Valley man has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge he absconded with an expensive camera after answering an ad offering it for sale.

Preliminary hearing for Jeffrey Robert Fohlen, 19, of 103 Balsa Road, will be Aug. 6.

According to the district attorney's office, Fohlen went to the house of Robert L. Scharoun at 35 Lincoln Drive, Sausalito, on March 20 and asked to see a camera Scharoun had advertised for sale.

Instead of buying it, the attorney's office said, Fohlen leapt over a couch and vanished out a door, taking the camera, a lens and a flash attachment, valued at a total of $465.

Employment For Vets On The Rise

Vietnam veterans —once the object of presidential distress at their difficulty in getting jobs — are no longer worse off than other jobseekers their age.

That was one bit of information shared yesterday by members of the Northern California Veterans Employment Committee gathered for its quarterly meeting at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Talking shop and discussing the improving rate of veteran employment in the country and state were about 30 Veterans Employment Representatives of the state Department of Human Resources Development and representatives of state veterans organizations.

Bureau of Labor statistics were cited as the source for figures on the brightened outlook for the "Vietnam-era vet."

The change was attributed inpart to a presidential order giving preference to Vietnam veterans in all job-finding programs which receive federal aid. The president acted when statistics a few years ago showed those returning from Vietnam were in trouble in the job market.

Edwin W. Ayer, Human Resources office manager in San Rafael, told the Independent-Journal that his office follows a strict priority sequence in scanning files for applicants qualified to take available jobs.

Each category in the sequence — which runs handicapped Vietnam veterans, other handicapped veterans, all other Vietnam veterans, all other veterans, other applicants —is exhausted of possible applicants before the next category is considered, Ayer said.

Ayer said that 21 per cent of applicants on file with his office are veterans.

He said that "generally most of the employers in the country are older men and they're receptive to hiring vets. The problem is finding the right vet for the job."

The Vietnam veteran, he said, does not offer the range of skills which soldiers returning from other wars brought to civilian industry. "They don't have anything to sell except their age and that they've gone to school," he said.

Supervisor Arnold E. Baptiste told the group that he would weigh the possibility of establishing a veterans preference program in county hiring.

July Meeting

The date for a special budget hearing for the Richardson Bay Sanitary District was reported incorrectly in the Independent-Journal yesterday. The meeting will be held July 31 and not Aug. 31.

The hostages included an elderly American, a Greek Orthodox priest, three policemen and three children. At one point the gunman had threatened to execute them one by one if he did not gain his freedom. At another point he threatened to blow them all up.

The man emerged from the Amalia Hotel on Constitution Square at 4:32 p.m.(10:32 a.m. EDT) still carrying a hand grenade and with his submachine gun slung from his neck.

He was accompanied by the Libyan and Iraqi ambassadors who had acted as mediators in the negotiations between Greek officials and the man who identified himself as a member of an "anti-Zionist group from occupied Palestine."

The incident stemmed from the man's abortive attempt to break into the nearby El Al Israel airline office where bombs thrown by two Arab terrorists killed a Greek child and wounded 14 passengers in November, 1969. The two Arabs received long prison sentences but were released in the face of new Arab threats.

The gunman, who wore a pink short-sleeved shirt, had demanded that First Deputy Prime Minister Stylianos Pattakos come to the tourist-filled hotel and negotiate in person on safe conduct out of the country.

Pattakos refused although the gunman said, "I will kill everybody if Pattakos doesn't come."

Libyan Ambassador Ahmed Ragab Feiture went to the hotel and was followed by Egyptian Charge d'Affaires Mahmoud Dia el-Din. The Greek Government had given them guarantees of safe conduct for the gunmen who later emerged from the hotel and entered Feitur's black limousine. Officials said they were going to Athens Airport.

The hostages were unharmed.

Employment For Vets On The Rise

Vietnam veterans —once the object of presidential distress at their difficulty in getting jobs — are no longer worse off than other jobseekers their age.

That was one bit of information shared yesterday by members of the Northern California Veterans Employment Committee gathered for its quarterly meeting at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Talking shop and discussing the improving rate of veteran employment in the country and state were about 30 Veterans Employment Representatives of the state Department of Human Resources Development and representatives of state veterans organizations.

Bureau of Labor statistics were cited as the source for figures on the brightened outlook for the "Vietnam-era vet."

The change was attributed inpart to a presidential order giving preference to Vietnam veterans in all job-finding programs which receive federal aid. The president acted when statistics a few years ago showed those returning from Vietnam were in trouble in the job market.

Edwin W. Ayer, Human Resources office manager in San Rafael, told the Independent-Journal that his office follows a strict priority sequence in scanning files for applicants qualified to take available jobs.

Each category in the sequence — which runs handicapped Vietnam veterans, other handicapped veterans, all other Vietnam veterans, all other veterans, other applicants —is exhausted of possible applicants before the next category is considered, Ayer said.

Ayer said that 21 per cent of applicants on file with his office are veterans.

He said that "generally most of the employers in the country are older men and they're receptive to hiring vets. The problem is finding the right vet for the job."

The Vietnam veteran, he said, does not offer the range of skills which soldiers returning from other wars brought to civilian industry. "They don't have anything to sell except their age and that they've gone to school," he said.

Supervisor Arnold E. Baptiste told the group that he would weigh the possibility of establishing a veterans preference program in county hiring.

July Meeting

The date for a special budget hearing for the Richardson Bay Sanitary District was reported incorrectly in the Independent-Journal yesterday. The meeting will be held July 31 and not Aug. 31.

Bank Branch Emptied By Bomb Threat

The Bank of Marin in the Northgate Industrial Park was evacuated briefly yesterday after a caller warned it would be blown up unless $150,000 was delivered to a local hotel.

San Rafael police and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation found no bomb following a search at about 2 p.m. yesterday.

Police said a young man called the bank, told an official to walk outside and follow instructions on an envelope on the sidewalk.

A note in the envelope demanded a bank official and a teller bring $150,000 in small bills to a room at the San Rafael Holiday Inn and lie face down on a bed or face personal "detonation" as well as "elimination" of the bank.

"We need this money to help our poor country and feed and clothe many of our people," the note said.

Camera Stealing Charge Denied

A Mill Valley man has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge he absconded with an expensive camera after answering an ad offering it for sale.

Preliminary hearing for Jeffrey Robert Fohlen, 19, of 103 Balsa Road, will be Aug. 6.

According to the district attorney's office, Fohlen went to the house of Robert L. Scharoun at 35 Lincoln Drive, Sausalito, on March 20 and asked to see a camera Scharoun had advertised for sale.

Instead of buying it, the attorney's office said, Fohlen leapt over a couch and vanished out a door, taking the camera, a lens and a flash attachment, valued at a total of $465.

DELIBERATE BIG SPLASH

More than 9 million miles of driving are logged annually at the grounds.

Stocks Mix; Phase IV Confusion

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, confused over Phase IV and concerned about rising interest rates, was mixed shortly before the close today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active.

Prices were higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Phase IV guidelines brought on fears corporate profits would be cut, many analysts said. There still remains a certain amount of confusion about the new program, they said.

Also, there was concern about rising interest rates. Most major banks in the country raised their prime rates to 8 ½ per cent today. Further, the government reported the rate of the gross national product growth declined in the second quarter.

Gold mining stocks were lower most of the day. Gold prices on foriegn markets dropped. Asa Ltd., Campbell Red Lake, Dome Mines and Homestake Mining were losers.

Oils declined in wake of the announcement Phase IV would impose oil product price ceilings. Exxon, Getty Oil and Ohio Standard all retreated.

Shoreline Drugs In Mill Valley Sold To San Rafael Pharmacist

Shoreline Drugs at Shoreline Shopping Center, 205 Flamingo Road, Mill Valley, was purchased this week by Sam Salama of San Rafael, who has been a pharmacist with various drug stores and hospitals for 20 years.

Salama bought the business from Donald S. Escallier of San Rafael, who will enter the teaching field after operating Shoreline Drugs for seven years.

Salama came to Marin last month from Campbell, Calif., where he was pharmacist at Campbell Community Hospital for two years. He will retain the same name and services as under the former owner.

Shoreline Drugs, located next to Cala Foods, is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. six days a week and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

M. D. CONDOMINUM Corp. of Ross has just completed a 35-unit condominium project called Los Arboles in Santa Rosa at West College Avenue and Borden Villa Lane.

James McLaughlin of Ross, principal stockholder in the corporation, said Los Arboles has 13 condominium homes (two and three bedrooms) and 22 apartments, selling for $21,000 to $41,000. Rentals on these units run from $180 to $245.

Recreational facilities at Los Arboles include a half acre area for swimming, three-fourth acre for tennis, a four-hole pitch and putt golf course, and 8,000 square feet for picnic and barbecue.

Other stock holders in M.D. Condominium Corp. are Czar Winters of Terra Linda, attorney; William J. Kelly of Novato, architect; and William R. Burkett of San Mateo, business manager.

McLaughlin Ives

The corporation built Pixley Mewes and Pixley Arms townhouses in Corte Madera and is now expanding into Sonoma County, concentrating on converting apartments into condominiums and on Planned Urban Development.

RICHARD K. IVES of San Rafael has joined the management selection firm of F. P. Bacci & Company Inc. in San Francisco.

A graduate of the University of Southern California and the Stanford Graduate School of Business, Ives was formerly western regional manager of DPF, Inc., in San Francisco. He was responsible for the marketing and general management of the company's leasing activities in the western U.S. For 12 years, he worked for IBM, most recently as marketing manager of the data processing division in Northern California.

SPEEDEE WASH at Oak Manor Shopping Center in Fairfax, at 2414 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, will change hands next month, but the service will continue as before.

Seth R. Dole of Fairfax, who operated the Speedee Wash since it first opened about seven years ago, will sell it to Louis A. and Helen C. Stokes of San Geronimo. Stokes has been working for a San Rafael pool service for the past four years and will continue working there.

THOMAS J. SODEN of San Rafael, account executive for Dean Witter & Co., has transferred from the firm's San Francisco brokerage office to its San Rafael office. Soden will handle investment accounts for Marin County investors.

A native of San Francisco, Soden is a graduate of the University of San Francisco where he received his bachelor's degree in economics. As a student he worked as a portfolio analyst for Dean Witter. After graduation, he taught economics for two years and in 1971 rejoined Dean Witter as an account executive.

GENE GILLELAND of Ronald's Hair Designs at Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo is attending a one-month course in advance hair cutting at the Vidal Sassoon School in London.

"EBB TIDE" publisher John Luc of Tiburon announced plans for the "Ebb Tide Bonus Advertiser", a shopper to carry advertisements in conjunction with the Ebb Tide newspaper.

The first issue of the tabloid size shopper will come out on Aug. 1. Unlike the newspaper, the front cover of the shopper will be a full-page picture ad of businesses in the Belvedere, Tiburon, and Corte Madera areas.

Editor Nadine Luc said the Bonus Advertiser will use puzzles, games, bridge column, and other features to fill space between ads.

STUART N. BRODY of Fairfax has been appointed sales representative for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's San Rafael district office at 670 Las Gallinas Avenue.

Robert F. Minor, district sales manager, also announced that six members of Metropolitan Life's San Rafael district office, attended the leaders conference with company officials in Coronado last week. They were Robert Johnson, Lewis Burge, Louis Gonfiotti, Jack Grove, Roy Tingley and Robert Minor.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Plan Won't Give Wanted Return

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. This summer I will have $75,000 to reinvest for income to supplement my pension and Social Security of $5,300 annually. I would like to get $5,000 in dividends and interest. My plan is to put $25,000 in Federal Land Bank 7.30s of 1982; $25,000 in T. Rowe Price Growth fund and $12,500 each in Kerr McGee Oil (NYSE) and Pacific Power & Light (NYSE).

A. The investment portfolio you have planned is an excellent one but it will not provide the income you need. In fact these securities currently return under $3,100 annually — 4.1 per cent, rather than the 6.7 per cent which you are seeking. An alternative portfolio which places greater emphasis on income might be more suitable.

My suggestions include purchase of 20M each in two longer term higher coupon bonds, both yielding close to 8.0 per cent annually. New York Telephone 8s of 2008 and World Bank 8.65s of 1995 are both rated AAA and sell somewhat above par value. Pacific Power & Light, returning a generous 7.1 per cent at this time, appears entirely satisfactory for your purpose. Buy 600 shares.

Rather than invest in T. Rowe Price Growth Fund which provides about a 1 per cent yield from dividend income, the Scudder, Stevens & Clark balanced fund appears more appropriate. This fund's objectives are safety, income and growth in that order. A 1200 share purchase is recommended. These four issues yield 6.5 per cent on average or $4,910 annually.

Q. I am enclosing a list of my holdings which are all supposedly "blue chips." They have gone down so much I am worried as these are my main source of income. Should I sell and invest in savings certificates? — J.P.

A. The dividend and interest income from your seven holdings appears secure, despite the sharp decline in many of the more speculative issues in the portfolio. The bond and three utilities, although depressed, are well worth holding for income. Litton $2.00 convertible preferred (NYSE) is a speculation on management's ability to maintain the recent progress made in turning operations around. At the currently depressed level shares may be held.

DELIBERATE BIG SPLASH

A test driver rams a Chrysler vehicle through a water trough at the Chelsea, Mich., endurance and testing grounds, to help engineers determine the effects of splashing water on ignition, brakes and other vehicle parts and compartments. More than 9 million miles of driving are logged annually at the grounds.

Stocks Mix; Phase IV Confusion

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, confused over Phase IV and concerned about rising interest rates, was mixed shortly before the close today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active.

Prices were higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Phase IV guidelines brought on fears corporate profits would be cut, many analysts said. There still remains a certain amount of confusion about the new program, they said.

Also, there was concern about rising interest rates. Most major banks in the country raised their prime rates to 8 ½ per cent today. Further, the government reported the rate of the gross national product growth declined in the second quarter.

Gold mining stocks were lower most of the day. Gold prices on foriegn markets dropped. Asa Ltd., Campbell Red Lake, Dome Mines and Homestake Mining were losers.

Oils declined in wake of the announcement Phase IV would impose oil product price ceilings. Exxon, Getty Oil and Ohio Standard all retreated.

Shoreline Drugs In Mill Valley Sold To San Rafael Pharmacist

Shoreline Drugs at Shoreline Shopping Center, 205 Flamingo Road, Mill Valley, was purchased this week by Sam Salama of San Rafael, who has been a pharmacist with various drug stores and hospitals for 20 years.

Salama bought the business from Donald S. Escallier of San Rafael, who will enter the teaching field after operating Shoreline Drugs for seven years.

Salama came to Marin last month from Campbell, Calif., where he was pharmacist at Campbell Community Hospital for two years. He will retain the same name and services as under the former owner.

Shoreline Drugs, located next to Cala Foods, is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. six days a week and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

M. D. CONDOMINUM Corp. of Ross has just completed a 35-unit condominium project called Los Arboles in Santa Rosa at West College Avenue and Borden Villa Lane.

James McLaughlin of Ross, principal stockholder in the corporation, said Los Arboles has 13 condominium homes (two and three bedrooms) and 22 apartments, selling for $21,000 to $41,000. Rentals on these units run from $180 to $245.

Recreational facilities at Los Arboles include a half acre area for swimming, three-fourth acre for tennis, a four-hole pitch and putt golf course, and 8,000 square feet for picnic and barbecue.

Other stock holders in M.D. Condominium Corp. are Czar Winters of Terra Linda, attorney; William J. Kelly of Novato, architect; and William R. Burkett of San Mateo, business manager.

McLaughlin Ives

The corporation built Pixley Mewes and Pixley Arms townhouses in Corte Madera and is now expanding into Sonoma County, concentrating on converting apartments into condominiums and on Planned Urban Development.

RICHARD K. IVES of San Rafael has joined the management selection firm of F. P. Bacci & Company Inc. in San Francisco.

A graduate of the University of Southern California and the Stanford Graduate School of Business, Ives was formerly western regional manager of DPF, Inc., in San Francisco.

He was responsible for the marketing and general management of the company's leasing activities in the western U.S. For 12 years, he worked for IBM, most recently as marketing manager of the data processing division in Northern California.

SPEEDEE WASH at Oak Manor Shopping Center in Fairfax, at 2414 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, will change hands next month, but the service will continue as before.

Seth R. Dole of Fairfax, who operated the Speedee Wash since it first opened about seven years ago, will sell it to Louis A. and Helen C. Stokes of San Geronimo. Stokes has been working for a San Rafael pool service for the past four years and will continue working there.

THOMAS J. SODEN of San Rafael, account executive for Dean Witter & Co., has transferred from the firm's San Francisco brokerage office to its San Rafael office. Soden will handle investment accounts for Marin County investors.

A native of San Francisco, Soden is a graduate of the University of San Francisco where he received his bachelor's degree in economics. As a student he worked as a portfolio analyst for Dean Witter. After graduation, he taught economics for two years and in 1971 rejoined Dean Witter as an account executive.

GENE GILLELAND of Ronald's Hair Designs at Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo is attending a one-month course in advance hair cutting at the Vidal Sassoon School in London.

"EBB TIDE" publisher John Luc of Tiburon announced plans for the "Ebb Tide Bonus Advertiser", a shopper to carry advertisements in conjunction with the Ebb Tide newspaper.

The first issue of the tabloid size shopper will come out on Aug. 1. Unlike the newspaper, the front cover of the shopper will be a full-page picture ad of businesses in the Belvedere, Tiburon, and Corte Madera areas.

Editor Nadine Luc said the Bonus Advertiser will use puzzles, games, bridge column, and other features to fill space between ads.

STUART N. BRODY of Fairfax has been appointed sales representative for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's San Rafael district office at 670 Las Gallinas Avenue.

Robert F. Minor, district sales manager, also announced that six members of Metropolitan Life's San Rafael district office, attended the leaders conference with company officials in Coronado last week. They were Robert Johnson, Lewis Burge, Louis Gonfiotti, Jack Grove, Roy Tingley and Robert Minor.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Plan Won't Give Wanted Return

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. This summer I will have $75,000 to reinvest for income to supplement my pension and Social Security of $5,300 annually. I would like to get $5,000 in dividends and interest. My plan is to put $25,000 in Federal Land Bank 7.30s of 1982; $25,000 in T. Rowe Price Growth fund and $12,500 each in Kerr McGee Oil (NYSE) and Pacific Power & Light (NYSE).

A. The investment portfolio you have planned is an excellent one but it will not provide the income you need. In fact these securities currently return under $3,100 annually — 4.1 per cent, rather than the 6.7 per cent which you are seeking. An alternative portfolio which places greater emphasis on income might be more suitable.

My suggestions include purchase of 20M each in two longer term higher coupon bonds, both yielding close to 8.0 per cent annually. New York Telephone 8s of 2008 and World Bank 8.65s of 1995 are both rated AAA and sell somewhat above par value. Pacific Power & Light, returning a generous 7.1 per cent at this time, appears entirely satisfactory for your purpose. Buy 600 shares.

Rather than invest in T. Rowe Price Growth Fund which provides about a 1 per cent yield from dividend income, the Scudder, Stevens & Clark balanced fund appears more appropriate. This fund's objectives are safety, income and growth in that order. A 1200 share purchase is recommended. These four issues yield 6.5 per cent on average or $4,910 annually.

Q. I am enclosing a list of my holdings which are all supposedly "blue chips." They have gone down so much I am worried as these are my main source of income. Should I sell and invest in savings certificates? — J.P.

A. The dividend and interest income from your seven holdings appears secure, despite the sharp decline in many of the more speculative issues in the portfolio. The bond and three utilities, although depressed, are well worth holding for income. Litton $2.00 convertible preferred (NYSE) is a speculation on management's ability to maintain the recent progress made in turning operations around. At the currently depressed level shares may be held.

Water Conservation Efforts To Continue

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District continued their campaign to urge customers to save water last night by approving an outline for a water conservation education program and asking consultants to submit proposals for the plan.

The board will interview consultants at 8 p.m. Tuesday, according to Clerin W. Zumwalt, manager of land management, then select a firm at its regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Zumwalt said directors decided the program should focus on ways to save water around the house, water conservation in yards and landscaping and methods of recycling water in pools and car washes.

Householders will be told how to repair leaks and save water in toilets and washing machines. They will also be shown the best ways of watering and encouraged to use drought-resistant plants in landscaping, Zumwalt said.

The district will also investigate methods of recycling and make the best ones available to the public, he reported.

Customers will be encouraged to conserve water through informational programs in schools, youth groups, clubs and through the media and mailings.

The program will last until July 1, 1974 and the board will review its results 60 days after it is initiated, according to Zumwalt.

Directors have already passed a resolution asking users to conserve water voluntarily by watering only during certain hours and using buckets rather than hoses to wash motor vehicles, sidewalks and driveways.

The resolution warns that the district may embark on a mandatory water rationing program which would make wasting water a misdemeanor if the voluntary program proves ineffective.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

CONSULTANT — Voted to hire Blyth, Eastman, Dillon and Co. of San Francisco to act as financial consultants for the November bond issue.

CONNECTION — Refused to grant a variance from the moratorium on new connections for the 78-unit Casa Madera condominium subdivision in Corte Madera.

FEE — Declined to waive connection fees as requested by Kenneth Thorne for 36 apartment units on Canal Street in San Rafael.

Discovery Of Atlantis Questioned

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It may not have been Atlantis that a California expedition found off the Spanish coast, according to a leader of the group, but something is there.

The Ancient Mediterranean Research Association announced earlier this week, just after beginning its search for the mythical "lost continent," that it had found the ruins of Atlantis beneath the waters of the Atlantic off Cadiz, Spain.

Dr. Julian Nava, a member of the Los Angeles School Board and co-leader of the expedition, said in an interview that its divers "found a road made of large pieces of stone."

"They also saw and photographed columns and other stones with what looked like inscriptions on them," Nava said.

He said the divers found an "urban center" that is "an important archeological find," but not necessarily the ruins of Atlantis.

He said the ruins are "more likely" to be Greek, Roman or Phoenician, or possibly Minoan, Etruscan or from an Iberian civilization.

Atlantis was referred to by the ancient Greek philosopher Plato who described it as a continent in the Atlantic that sank in a day and a night in one mighty upheaval about 12,000 B.C.

No scientifically acceptable proof of Atlantis' existence has ever been found.

Skeptics have noted that oceanographers, who have charted the floor of the Atlantic, have not found any indications of a sunken continent.

U.S. Backs Seoul's Stand On U.N. Status, Troops

SEOUL (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers assured South Korean President Park Chung-hee today that the United States backs Park's proposal for joint admission of both South and North Korea to the United Nations, Park's press spokesman said.

Rogers met with Park for an hour and 20 minutes, at Blue House, the South Korean presidential mansion in Seoul.

Earlier today Rogers made a promise that there would be no hasty cuts in the 42,000 American troops stationed in South Korea and said U.S. military policies and relaxation of its relations with China could mean peace for Asia for the rest of this century.

Rogers' remarks came at the start of the second day of a three-day visit to Seoul.

Rogers earlier met South Korean leaders to map a joint strategy for the first full-scale debate of the Korean question in the United Nations since the Korean conflict ended in 1953.

Successful diplomatic moves by North Korea forced Washington and Seoul to give up their 20-year campaign to keep the north out of the world organization.

The U.N. General Assembly is expected to take up the matter this autumn.

Rogers also said he believed the presence of 50,000 South Korean soldiers in Vietnam was a contribution to peace there.

Water Conservation Efforts To Continue

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District continued their campaign to urge customers to save water last night by approving an outline for a water conservation education program and asking consultants to submit proposals for the plan.

The board will interview consultants at 8 p.m. Tuesday, according to Clerin W. Zumwalt, manager of land management, then select a firm at its regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Zumwalt said directors decided the program should focus on ways to save water around the house, water conservation in yards and landscaping and methods of recycling water in pools and car washes.

Householders will be told how to repair leaks and save water in toilets and washing machines. They will also be shown the best ways of watering and encouraged to use drought-resistant plants in landscaping, Zumwalt said.

The district will also investigate methods of recycling and make the best ones available to the public, he reported.

Customers will be encouraged to conserve water through informational programs in schools, youth groups, clubs and through the media and mailings.

The program will last until July 1, 1974 and the board will review its results 60 days after it is initiated, according to Zumwalt.

Directors have already passed a resolution asking users to conserve water voluntarily by watering only during certain hours and using buckets rather than hoses to wash motor vehicles, sidewalks and driveways.

The resolution warns that the district may embark on a mandatory water rationing program which would make wasting water a misdemeanor if the voluntary program proves ineffective.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

CONSULTANT — Voted to hire Blyth, Eastman, Dillon and Co. of San Francisco to act as financial consultants for the November bond issue.

CONNECTION — Refused to grant a variance from the moratorium on new connections for the 78-unit Casa Madera condominium subdivision in Corte Madera.

FEE — Declined to waive connection fees as requested by Kenneth Thorne for 36 apartment units on Canal Street in San Rafael.

Discovery Of Atlantis Questioned

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It may not have been Atlantis that a California expedition found off the Spanish coast, according to a leader of the group, but something is there.

The Ancient Mediterranean Research Association announced earlier this week, just after beginning its search for the mythical "lost continent," that it had found the ruins of Atlantis beneath the waters of the Atlantic off Cadiz, Spain.

Dr. Julian Nava, a member of the Los Angeles School Board and co-leader of the expedition, said in an interview that its divers "found a road made of large pieces of stone."

"They also saw and photographed columns and other stones with what looked like inscriptions on them," Nava said.

He said the divers found an "urban center" that is "an important archeological find," but not necessarily the ruins of Atlantis.

He said the ruins are "more likely" to be Greek, Roman or Phoenician, or possibly Minoan, Etruscan or from an Iberian civilization.

Atlantis was referred to by the ancient Greek philosopher Plato who described it as a continent in the Atlantic that sank in a day and a night in one mighty upheaval about 12,000 B.C.

No scientifically acceptable proof of Atlantis' existence has ever been found.

Skeptics have noted that oceanographers, who have charted the floor of the Atlantic, have not found any indications of a sunken continent.

U.S. Backs Seoul's Stand On U.N. Status, Troops

SEOUL (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers assured South Korean President Park Chung-hee today that the United States backs Park's proposal for joint admission of both South and North Korea to the United Nations, Park's press spokesman said.

Rogers met with Park for an hour and 20 minutes, at Blue House, the South Korean presidential mansion in Seoul.

Earlier today Rogers made a promise that there would be no hasty cuts in the 42,000 American troops stationed in South Korea and said U.S. military policies and relaxation of its relations with China could mean peace for Asia for the rest of this century.

Rogers' remarks came at the start of the second day of a three-day visit to Seoul.

Crossruffing Timing Poor, Cost A Player His Contract

Don't count your tricks until you've won 'em, says the old Babylonian proverb. You don't have to go as far as Babylon to find a bridge player who started a hand with 10 tricks and finished with only eight or nine.

Just go to Washington, D.C., for the National Bridge Tournament at the Sheraton-Park Hotel, July 20-29, 1973.

OPENING IS GOOD

West opened the jack of diamonds, and declarer won with dummy's ace. So far, so good.

South saw that he would have to rely on a crossruff. That is, he would ruff diamonds in his own hand and hearts in the dummy. It was a good plan, but he forgot one important point.

South ruffed a diamond in his hand, ruffed a heart in dummy and led another diamond from dummy. East discarded a club, and South ruffed.

KEPT ON LOSING

South had already lost his contract, but he presisted in his error. He ruffed a second heart in dummy and led another diamond. Easy discarded his other club, thus making sure that South would never get a club trick.

South ruffed and led a third heart, ruffing in dummy. He led dummy's last diamond, and East stepped up with the ace of trumps and led another trump. South had taken eight tricks by this time, but he couldn't take any more.

Down two.

OVERLOOKS PRINCIPLE

South had overlooked a fundamental principle of crossruffing. You must cash high cards in the side suits before you start the crossruff.

The correct line of play is to win the first trick with the ace of diamonds, and then to take the king and ace of clubs before the mice get at them.

Those tricks are good early but won't remain good much longer, as South found out.

Having taken his club tricks, South can crossruff. He will then make the 10 tricks needed for his game contract.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance

New Environmental Group Formed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Formation of a new organization designed to reconcile environmental protection and economic development was announced today by former Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

Executive director of the California Council for Environmental and Economic Balance is Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, an economist and former director of research for the California Labor Federation.

Brown, according to a statement prepared for news conferences here and in Los Angeles, said the council will push for legislation "to require that the economic impact of proposed building and developmental projects be given equal weight with environmental impacts in public decision making."

Attacking opponents of growth, the former governor said their approach "will create serious inequities and human hardships."

Brown said the council will be a nonprofit organization, with one-third of its board of directors composed of labor leaders, one-third of business leaders and one-third of community leaders, educators, minority spokesmen and environmentalists.

The board eventually will have up to 60 members, but only about half the seats have been filled. It includes Albert W. Gatov of Kent Woodlands, a transportation consultant.

Peevey acknowledged the board so far does not include any recognized Northern California conservationist.

Initial sponsors of the council are labor union organizations, utilities, developers and oil companies.

They are: Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Gulf Energy and Environmental Systems, Irvine Company, Fluor Corp., ARCO, Southern California Edison Co., State Building and Construction Trades Council of California, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, California State Council of Carpenters, Teamsters Joint Council 42 of Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Federation of Labor and San Diego-Imperial Counties Central Labor Council.

Brown said the council is starting a drive to recruit members. Peevey said the members would elect other members of the board.

The former governor said the council's activities will include forums to publicize the need for economic growth and "dialogues and a working relationship with conservation groups."

The council's headquarters are at 215 Market Street.

(Peevey, 35, was an unsuccessful candidate for state Senate in 1970 and for Marin County supervisor last year. His supervisorial campaign stressed the need to accommodate both environmental protection and economic development.)

PG&E Explains To State Officials How Fuel Shortages Happened

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. presented its explanation yesterday as to how it happened to develop a severe shortage of fuel for the making of electricity.

The company blamed its crisis on unexpected shortages of both natural gas and fuel oil, and called the situation for the next three years "very serious."

The utility's case was presented at hearings of the California Public Utilities Commission. Earlier this month, PUC hearings in Los Angeles were warned of the possibility of brownouts, blackouts and industrial curtailment in that area by next March.

As of now, PG&E's problem is that its sources of natural gas have been lopped off, and it can not find anybody to sell it oil to use instead of the gas, its witnesses said.

Although the utility operates 65 hydroelectric plants, last year 43 per cent of its electric load came from burning fossil fuel.

This fuel was provided by 2.6 million barrels of oil, plus natural gas equivalent of 43.3 million barrels.

But next year, PG&E calculated, only one-quarter of that amount of natural gas will be available, so the fuel oil requirement will multiply 17 times.

The situation can be expected to remain bleak until more nuclear power—and perhaps more gas—becomes available in a couple of years, the PUC was told.

"As late as October, 1971, we had every reason to believe that our plans for the years 1973 to 1976 were more than adequate," Malcolm H. Furbush, a PG&E attorney said.

He said "the first blow" was when the Canadian government denied PG&E a permit to import Canadian gas. Then, early in 1972, he said construction was delayed both for the Diablo Canyon and Rancho Seco nuclear plants.

The third blow was when El Paso Natural Gas curtailed its deliveries, and the final blow was when the Federal Power Commission declared that steam electric plants would have the lowest priority for the use of gas.

Furbush said PG&E early in 1972 undertook an oil acquisition program "unprecedented in the history of the company" but that major oil companies were refusing to sell.

To ease the situation, Furbush argued that PG&E should be allowed to burn high sulphur oil now restricted for ecological reasons. He said governmental permits for building storage tanks and ship terminal facilities should be expedited.

And he said the government should speed the regulatory process now slowing construction of nuclear power plants.

Guide Dogs Ceremony Set

Thirteen students will graduate from Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. in ceremonies at the San Rafael school at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The outdoor exercises will be followed by a kennel tour and a guide dog demonstration by an instructor.

Saturday's class will be the 284th group of blind persons to receive training with the dogs at the school at 350 Los Ranchitos Road.

Shopping Center Auto Show Set

Vintage, classic, hot rod and custom cars will be among the approximately 150 automobiles to be displayed in the eighth annual Town and Country Village Auto Show scheduled for Aug. 5 at the shopping center in Strawberry.

In addition to old cars ranging from horseless carriages of the early 1900s to late models, there will be special classes for groups of cars entered by manufacturers such as Porches, Corvettes and Thunderbirds.

Proceeds from the show, scheduled from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., will benefit the Marin County Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Northern California, according to Susan Myers, publicity secretary.

The former governor said the council's activities will include forums to publicize the need for economic growth and "dialogues and a working relationship with conservation groups."

The council's headquarters are at 215 Market Street.

(Peevey, 35, was an unsuccessful candidate for state Senate in 1970 and for Marin County supervisor last year. His supervisorial campaign stressed the need to accommodate both environmental protection and economic development.)

PG&E Explains To State Officials How Fuel Shortages Happened

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. presented its explanation yesterday as to how it happened to develop a severe shortage of fuel for the making of electricity.

The company blamed its crisis on unexpected shortages of both natural gas and fuel oil, and called the situation for the next three years "very serious."

The utility's case was presented at hearings of the California Public Utilities Commission. Earlier this month, PUC hearings in Los Angeles were warned of the possibility of brownouts, blackouts and industrial curtailment in that area by next March.

As of now, PG&E's problem is that its sources of natural gas have been lopped off, and it can not find anybody to sell it oil to use instead of the gas, its witnesses said.

Although the utility operates 65 hydroelectric plants, last year 43 per cent of its electric load came from burning fossil fuel.

This fuel was provided by 2.6 million barrels of oil, plus natural gas equivalent of 43.3 million barrels.

But next year, PG&E calculated, only one-quarter of that amount of natural gas will be available, so the fuel oil requirement will multiply 17 times.

The situation can be expected to remain bleak until more nuclear power—and perhaps more gas—becomes available in a couple of years, the PUC was told.

"As late as October, 1971, we had every reason to believe that our plans for the years 1973 to 1976 were more than adequate," Malcolm H. Furbush, a PG&E attorney said.

He said "the first blow" was when the Canadian government denied PG&E a permit to import Canadian gas. Then, early in 1972, he said construction was delayed both for the Diablo Canyon and Rancho Seco nuclear plants.

The third blow was when El Paso Natural Gas curtailed its deliveries, and the final blow was when the Federal Power Commission declared that steam electric plants would have the lowest priority for the use of gas.

Furbush said PG&E early in 1972 undertook an oil acquisition program "unprecedented in the history of the company" but that major oil companies were refusing to sell.

To ease the situation, Furbush argued that PG&E should be allowed to burn high sulphur oil now restricted for ecological reasons. He said governmental permits for building storage tanks and ship terminal facilities should be expedited.

And he said the government should speed the regulatory process now slowing construction of nuclear power plants.

TIBURON PRODUCTION SET

Jacques Brel In Church?

By JOAN LISETOR

Songs by the Belgian-born poet and singer Jacques Brel are about love, frustration, death, carousels, sailors, whores, old age, youth, loneliness and togetherness. Many of them are known since productions of "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living In Paris" have played theaters from the East to the West Coast.

Jacques Brel in a theater, yes, but the production opening Aug. 2 in Marin will be at the Community Congregational Church in Tiburon.

The production is the premier performance of Genesis, a new theatrical company directed by 31-year-old Ellen Genese of San Rafael.

"The company was formed, and all we needed was a place (to perform.) We wanted a night club setting to do a cabaret production when Rev. Frank Evans offered Genesis a home," Miss Genese said. "I thought 'red checkered tablecloths in a church?' And then I saw the church; it is open and an ideal place to reach an audience."

ELLEN GENESE
Genesis director

MISS GENESE'S impressive background in theater begins with BA and MA degrees in theater arts from California State University, San Francisco, and additional training at the Milwaukee Conservatory of Music and with the San Francisco Mime Troupe. Her recent credits include staff director for the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts and the Julian Theater in San Francisco, film and theater critic for the Berkeley Gazette and a variety of producing, directing and designing assignments.

The Jacques Brel cast is small, a company of five singers, and although Miss Genese herself is not a singer she knows what she wants from the performers she is directing.

"Each song is an island unto itself for everyone in the audience to live what is being said. I have pinpointed each singer with his song so that the audience will feel what he is saying personally," she said.

Artistic control is her major responsibility as a director, she said, with fluidity as the key word, no pauses between songs and the finest arrangement of the order so the audience will be left wanting more.

"Being a non singing director there is a temptation to overdirect, but the show should be simple, like a French gown," she explained. "All of the performers are well trained, so really all I have to do is poke them in the right direction."

The company includes Susan Witt, Lynn Windham, Ruth Ward, Don Sorter and Jerry Dixon.

Her ambitions for the company are unlimited, Miss Genese said, and as for her own, "I used to run into prejudice as a woman director when I started, and I know to be a director for an established company I'll have to chip a couple of front teeth."

Marin Women

Job Programs For Women Eyed By Brazilian Officials

By BARBARA HOSMER

Three Brazilian officials of the Department of Labor Women's Bureau toured Marin Tuesday to observe career training and employability programs for women.

The officials, Mary A. Daou of Amazonas, director of the Women's Bureau, Ministry of Labor for the state of Amazonas, Aurolina A. de Castro of Rio de Janeiro, deputy director of the Brazilian Women's Bureau, and Aldinir N. da Cunha, also of Rio de Janeiro, social assistant of the Women's Bureau, are on a tour of the Southwest United States and Puerto Rico studying working conditions and career programs for women and youth.

HERE THEY were escorted by Erica Hansell of Mill Valley and of Hansell Associates, and Bette Wallace of the Marin County Human Relations Department to observe Pilgrim Park Day Care Center and continued with a full day's tour of the county Human Relations Department, the Board of Supervisors' meeting, the County Department of Public Social Service, the County Superintendent of Schools office and Marin General Hospital.

The Portuguese-speaking women were given, through a U.S. Department of State interpreter, a presentation on the county's human relations, youth and juvenile delinquency prevention programs, and the vocational guidance, medical social work and medical programs of the county for women and children.

After lunch at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito, they were shown a multi-media program for youth on career planning and preparation for work at the county schools office in Corte Madera and went on to observe women at work in the heart unit, the intensive care unit and intensive care nursery at Marin General Hospital.

The Brazilians were accompanied by Jacqueline Lever, U.S. Department of Labor team manager, who said that the Brazilian officials were interested in working conditions of women and children and related services at both the federal and local level and programs to better the job opportunities for women.

Mrs. Wallace said that the officials reported that women over 35 in Brazil have a hard time finding employment. In Brazil the social workers seem to work closely with the companies to help employees get along with their employers. The main careers open to women in Brazil were teaching, nursing and law, Mrs. Wallace reported the women said, and they added that there are many women judges in the South American country.

WHEN THEY saw the day care program in San Rafael, the Brazilians said that Brazil had some day care centers also, but mainly at the larger companies.

"We tried to keep the programs visual because of the language program," Mrs. Wallace explained about the Brazilians' Marin tour, although translator Agnes Guidicilli kept up a running dialogue with the women in Portuguese and they responded enthusiastically.

The group returned to San Francisco, and Mrs. Lever said they will go on to Los Angeles, Albuquerque, Santa Fe, San Antonio and to Puerto Rico before returning to Brazil Aug. 4. They began July 8 with an orientation week in Washington, D.C.

The tour is under the auspices of the Agency for International Development of the Department of State, and in San Francisco included a luncheon with a variety of U. S. women officials, arranged by Mrs. Hansell.

The Brazilians, all of whom have had social services training, will return to prepare studies on working conditions of women and minors.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Mother Thinks Pool Is Great Place To Be, Problem Follows

DEAR RAP:

The annual family debate is on: the Pool vs. Me.

We belong to a swim club in our neighborhood. Now I have nothing against swimming, and I often swim at a friend's. I do have something against most of the people my age who spend the entire summer at beaches and pools. They are super-extroverts who are fantastic in volleyball, shuffleboard, tennis, flirting, diving, etc., all of which our pool has, and which you must excel in to have any kind of social life there. They also have perfect figures.

I don't fit this mold, and I don't get along with people who do. Maybe they're nice, but I clam up around them. I prefer my own friends, who don't "belong."

My Mom sees the pool as the perfect place to spend the summer, exercising and getting fresh air. She is there every day and can't understand me. To hear her talk, you'd think I never get outdoors. I do! I love biking, tree-climbing, most outdoor things, but the thought of spending the entire summer, completely lonely, at that pool terrifies me.

Mom's a wonderful person, but she can't change me from what I am — not introverted, but not a joiner either. Dad's no help, I can't talk to him.

Please save me! — BIKER

DEAR BIKER:

Somehow I doubt that either you or your mother are being completely honest. It isn't just for fresh air and exercise that she promotes the pool — she wants you in the social swim (right, Mom?), because if you are accepted and popular with the "beautiful people" she figures you'll be happy. She worries about her nonconformist daughter, for she not only yearns to be proud of you but she wants you proud of yourself.

. . .And she probably understands you better than you realize. Honest, now, don't you shun the swim club because you can't compete, and the kids make you feel shoddy? Perhaps you dislike them because you envy them: do you think so poorly of yourself you're sure they're making fun of you?

If this is true, then take another look: every girl at the club isn't perfect! Most of the members have their little insecurities. Don't put them down as snobs. Get to know a few of them, and you may discover the pool isn't such a bad part-time summer place after all. — HELEN

DEAR BIKER:

But don't give up your biker and tree-climbing friends. They're probably more important to you right now than swim club members.

. . .Just be sure you aren't avoiding the pool out of inferiority. If you secretly want acceptance by the club crowd, then make them your challenge. You can be just as good as they are — and it's time you realized this about yourself. — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I was looking through my sister's letters to a fellow down in Texas and read where he told her she might get busted for having acid.

She's been wanting to go to California with some friends and I'm afraid they're the ones who got her on dope.

Should I tell my folks, or tell her I snooped, or just ignore the whole thing? — CONCERNED SISTER

DEAR SISTER:

Tell her you were wrong to snoop but right in worrying about her. If this isn't enough, alert your parents. Better a furious sister than one who might get hooked on drugs. — HELEN

DEAR SISTER:

Do you have a mutual older friend who might draw your sister out and aim her away from these dopers? She'd listen better to her (or him) than she would to a "confessed snooper." — SUE

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

HOME DECORATING

Floors Get Stylish Coverings And It's Easy To Foot The Bill

(Fifth of a six-part series on economical home decorating)

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK — Floors are getting the biggest cover-up of the century. And it is boon time for the do-it-yourselfer and the budget-minded.

Peel-and-stick hard-surface tiles, widely available through all kinds of stores, have put pattern, texture, color and long-wearing durability within range of everyone. Area rugs, at new low prices, introduce a sort of instant fashion. Old carpets can be recycled by adding bright blobs of color that can be spread over them at will. Indoor-outdoor carpet tiles continue their low-cost popularity. And the bright, bold-printed carpet, once intended for kitchens only, has now marched throughout the house.

The choice in floor cover-ups is enormous. Color lines include every hue from pink to purple to crushed berry, persimmon orange, lime green and sky blue.

SEVERAL COMPANIES, including Allied Chemical, report that 86 per cent of carpets sold are still in wall-to-wall installations. Does it pay to try to lay such a carpet yourself? According to Ian McMeekin, designer of Burlington House carpets, it does not. Despite rising labor costs, the average price per square yard for installation, including padding, is $3. Since many people are now paying about $7.95 per yard for carpet, the additional $3 per yard for laying brings cost up to $10.95. McMeekin feels the unequipped home handyman could botch the job, and should therefore leave installation to the experts.

He suggests one idea for making a wall-to-wall carpet in one house work effectively in another whose rooms may be far different in size. Cut the old carpet to a convenient room size in the new room, he said, leaving the same width border on every side of it. Then buy carpet in a contrasting or deeper shade of the color, and in a contrasting texture like shag, to fill in the border. He suggested adding a deep sapphire blue border, for instance, to a pale velvet carpet. This not only extends wear for the old carpet, but gives it a custom effect.

Surveys show that customers shop five or six stores before they make a final decision on a new carpet. They compare prices, bargain for better deals, and ask over and over again — as wise shoppers should —"Will it wear? Will it clean? Is it nonflammable, antistatic, antisoil, and color-fast? Does it carry a guarantee?" Shags and plushes, especially in multicolor effects, which tend to hide soiling, are the textures most in demand today.

Area rugs offer the advantages of portability and flexibility. They can be used interchangeably in many rooms, make moves easily and can usually be counted on for a flash of high drama at floor level.

Cabin Crafts has done well with its Townhouse Collection of 13 designs in high-style, moderate-priced area rugs. They retail for as little as $80 in the 4 by 6 foot size. Basically contemporary, their nondirectional designs and abstract topography have the handcrafted look of more expensive rugs, yet are aimed at the budget-minded.

Regal and Bigelow are two companies known for stunning area rugs. Concepts International is importing area rugs in both rya and screen-printed rugs from Denmark. Imports also include a new collection called "Moroccan Bazaar" — primitive patterns designed in the U.S. and hand-woven in Portugal for the American consumer whose good taste exceeds his pocketbook.

EGETAEPPER, THE world's largest manufacturer of distinctive rya "shaggy" area rugs, has now been in the U.S. market almost 10 years. Moving steadily toward bolder geometrics and splashier abstracts, the company now offers such offbeat color combinations as brown, bronze, olive, plum on white and violets and orange, pink and plum. A new group of Egetaepper area ryas, made in Acrilan acrylic fiber, will retail for under $100 for the 6 by 9-foot sizes, though "Deluxe" rugs in high-piled wool go as high as $300 for the same size.

Area rugs have also become such popular art forms that many people hang them on the wall to be enjoyed as "woven paintings."

Tightly woven reversible flat-weave carpets from many parts of the world, including Scandinavia and Bulgaria, are attractive to young homemakers, and Greek flokati rugs are inexpensive and popular. Strongly ethnic patterns from India, Morocco and Africa make exotic rugs.

Carpet tiles are off in sales, and many companies have ceased making them. Ozite continues strong, however, and makes a high-density, low-profile nylon tile, at 79 cents each, which is backed with foam rubber and includes an exclusive bonding adhesive system for easy installation. It comes in good colors and lends a lot of style to a do-it-yourself floor.

Installations that involve far less labor than carpet tiles include the new six-foot shag, in eight multicolor combinations, of General Felt Industries, Inc. This is complete with a foam rubber back and can be easily laid because it is easy to handle, measure and cut. With carpet and padding as one, the new six-foot shag and the new 12-foot broadlooms are economical buys and make floor decorating far easier. All the new printed carpets, in nylon and other easy-care synthetic fibers, have built-in padding, rugged wearability, stain resistance and are mildew-proof.

HARD-SURFACE coverings — linoleum, asbestos tile and vinyls — are, of course, geared to the style-conscious customer who wants a good-looking, serviceable floor for not too much money. Cushioned sheet vinyl is now made by Armstrong Cork for as little as $2.75 per yard and Congoleum Industries has new "Vinyl Cushionflor" with a no-wax shine at approximately $4 a yard.

"Cushionflor" comes in 6, 9, and 12-foot widths, can be cut with a mat knife or heavy scissors, and can be installed with double-faced tape. Armstrong's sheet flooring, called "Castilian," comes in economical 12-foot widths and can be installed without the use of adhesives, simply loose-laid over concrete, plywood, hardboard and even an old resilient floor. It costs $5.40 per square yard. Armstrong also sells a new Solarian Place 'n' Press Excelon Tile, its first no-wax self-adhering tile, and a vinyl asbestos flooring that can cover an average 12 by 15-foot room for as little as $60, if you provide your own labor.

Most manufacturers of hard-surface coverings now advocate using two or more designs in one installation. Popular combinations mix woodgrain with brick or Traverine marble patterns. A lot of people buy mirror chrome strips to set different designs off from one another. The rainbow of colors and the vast array of simulated natural textures available — from Amtico's Tennessee Stone to fake cobblestone and flagstones and Flintkote's three wood-grain patterns and dozens of Mediterranean-type patterns, increase the fun and adventure involved in involving yourself in the great floor cover-up.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Mother Thinks Pool Is Great Place To Be, Problem Follows

DEAR RAP:

The annual family debate is on: the Pool vs. Me.

We belong to a swim club in our neighborhood. Now I have nothing against swimming, and I often swim at a friend's. I do have something against most of the people my age who spend the entire summer at beaches and pools. They are super-extroverts who are fantastic in volleyball, shuffleboard, tennis, flirting, diving, etc., all of which our pool has, and which you must excel in to have any kind of social life there. They also have perfect figures.

I don't fit this mold, and I don't get along with people who do. Maybe they're nice, but I clam up around them. I prefer my own friends, who don't "belong."

My Mom sees the pool as the perfect place to spend the summer, exercising and getting fresh air. She is there every day and can't understand me. To hear her talk, you'd think I never get outdoors. I do! I love biking, tree-climbing, most outdoor things, but the thought of spending the entire summer, completely lonely, at that pool terrifies me.

Mom's a wonderful person, but she can't change me from what I am — not introverted, but not a joiner either. Dad's no help, I can't talk to him.

Please save me! — BIKER

DEAR BIKER:

Somehow I doubt that either you or your mother are being completely honest. It isn't just for fresh air and exercise that she promotes the pool — she wants you in the social swim (right, Mom?), because if you are accepted and popular with the "beautiful people" she figures you'll be happy. She worries about her nonconformist daughter, for she not only yearns to be proud of you but she wants you proud of yourself.

. . .And she probably understands you better than you realize. Honest, now, don't you shun the swim club because you can't compete, and the kids make you feel shoddy? Perhaps you dislike them because you envy them: do you think so poorly of yourself you're sure they're making fun of you?

If this is true, then take another look: every girl at the club isn't perfect! Most of the members have their little insecurities. Don't put them down as snobs. Get to know a few of them, and you may discover the pool isn't such a bad part-time summer place after all. — HELEN

DEAR BIKER:

But don't give up your biker and tree-climbing friends. They're probably more important to you right now than swim club members.

. . .Just be sure you aren't avoiding the pool out of inferiority. If you secretly want acceptance by the club crowd, then make them your challenge. You can be just as good as they are — and it's time you realized this about yourself. — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I was looking through my sister's letters to a fellow down in Texas and read where he told her she might get busted for having acid.

She's been wanting to go to California with some friends and I'm afraid they're the ones who got her on dope.

Should I tell my folks, or tell her I snooped, or just ignore the whole thing? — CONCERNED SISTER

DEAR SISTER:

Tell her you were wrong to snoop but right in worrying about her. If this isn't enough, alert your parents. Better a furious sister than one who might get hooked on drugs. — HELEN

DEAR SISTER:

Do you have a mutual older friend who might draw your sister out and aim her away from these dopers? She'd listen better to her (or him) than she would to a "confessed snooper." — SUE

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Innovation—Not Always So New

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Innovation. The word "innovation" is much used by educators whether working with little children or graduate students.

Very simply, an innovation is something new. To the teacher of mathematics, for example, an innovation is anything he hasn't done previously.

If you're the type of mathematics teacher who teaches algebra in one course and geometry in another (even in separate years), then combining the two into one course would be an innovation.

Readers in Europe will be startled by that sentence since mathematics teachers there have always combined algebra and geometry in one course. For them, an innovation would be separating the two as though they were different disciplines.

Because educators call anything that is "new" to them an "innovation," the word is more often than not misused. What is labeled an "innovation" is often not new at all; it is just something which the school or teacher hasn't done before.

A true "innovation" is generally contrived locally. Many such "innovations" are unique — they take an obvious local strength and use it to advantage.

For example, a school system within commuting distance of New York City, with a heavy population of professional artists in several fields, found a way to give the children blocks of time with these experts. Those who worked in the late evenings were often willing to spend a couple hours in the middle of the day helping a group work out a skit or play. Artists who were tied to studios or galleries by day might reopen them on weekends just for interested children. And so on.

When introduced, this was an innovation.

Individualized instruction. I'm sure you parents have heard talk of such things as IPI (individually prescribed instruction) and IGE (individually guided education). A significant amount of educational research, time, and money has gone into studying individual learning.

One theory holds that, since we all learn individually, it would be best if we were given individual assignments, and not placed in classes.

A further theory says that since we tend to teach ourselves what we best learn, the teacher should not lecture but prescribe. The teacher should study a student's needs and abilities, and then prescribe certain work assignments.

Some individualized material gives a pre-test first. Depending on how well the student does on the pre-test, he receives an assignment. Such as a drill on three-digit subtraction. After the assignment is completed, a post-test is given. Should the student fail miserably, another assignment is given and the student is not allowed to progress — into four-digit subtraction — until he masters the specific skill being tested.

This type of individualization brings with it some problems. While it may be true that we all learn individually, it is not at all true that we learn in some prescribed or mechanized manner. Often a multitude of experiences are necessary before the individual learner can put it all together for himself.

If some sort of individualized instruction is being tested in your schools, parents are well advised to look into how the material is used.

Investigate how much training the teachers have received in individualized teaching. And be sure that the material used has intrinsic value.

Innovation—Not Always So New

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor

Innovation. The word "innovation" is much used by educators whether working with little children or graduate students.

Very simply, an innovation is something new. To the teacher of mathematics, for example, an innovation is anything he hasn't done previously.

If you're the type of mathematics teacher who teaches algebra in one course and geometry in another (even in separate years), then combining the two into one course would be an innovation.

Readers in Europe will be startled by that sentence since mathematics teachers there have always combined algebra and geometry in one course. For them, an innovation would be separating the two as though they were different disciplines.

Because educators call anything that is "new" to them an "innovation," the word is more often than not misused. What is labeled an "innovation" is often not new at all; it is just something which the school or teacher hasn't done before.

MILL VALLEY ISSUE

Do Live Bands In Bars Mean 'Sausalitoization' Of Town?

By REBECCA LARSEN
(First of two articles)

It was the busiest night of the week at Mill Valley bars. Throckmorton Avenue bumper-to-bumper parked cars lined the street. A police car cruised up and down the 100 block.

At one end of the block, rock violinist Steamin' Freeman and his group packed a youthful crowd into the Sweetwater Lounge.

Down at the Old Mill, it was slightly less crowded, and the only time music was heard above the blur of voices was when someone stuffed change into the jukebox.

Two girls in jeans and shoulder length hair asked bargoers to sign petitions asking the city to reconsider a planning commission decision not to allow live music in the Old Mill.

The commission rejection July 9 of the Old Mill's application for a use permit for the music has sparked a battle in Mill Valley that pits young against old, businessman against resident and newcomers against oldtimers.

It's also increased comment at city meetings that Mill Valley has fallen victim to something which residents call "Sausalitoization."

The arguments threaten to intensify at a city council meeting Aug. 6 when the Old Mill tentatively is scheduled to appeal the commission decision.

SHIRLEY BAUCOM
City council next?

The issue, nearby residents claim, is whether anyone has a right in pursuit of profits to disturb the peace of others.

"It has changed so badly in Mill Valley for the worst," said Mrs. Frank Canepa, who lives with her husband in a Lovell Avenue apartment building overlooking the Old Mill. "We can't sleep here. They're drunk on the street. They lay down in the street and alley. They use the alley as toilets. They park their cars and motorcycles all over the place."

Shirley Baucom, who with her husband, Lyle, has owned the Old Mill Tavern for 12 years, protested that "only 10 people at the outside are against us, the elderly people living up on Lovell."

Said the middle-aged Mrs. Baucom, "A lot of my young people are the ones who will wind up on the city council in five to 20 years. The people who object will be dead."

The Baucoms contend that the city owes them the use permit because they were playing music at the Old Mill for several years before the permits were required.

According to Tom W. Newton, director of community development, this is only partly true. Music at the Old Mill does go back to the early 1960s when the tavern used a piano bar, he said.

In 1966, the city passed an ordinance requiring use permits for live entertainment within 200 feet of residences.

About three years later, said Newton, the Baucoms switched to rock bands at the Old Mill. "So all they really have is a legal, nonconforming piano bar."

Newton said he was unaware that the Baucoms did not have a use permit until he got two or three citizen complaints about a month ago. The city then ordered the Baucoms to stop the music until they get a permit.

About 10 to 15 protesting Lovell area residents turned out at the planning commission hearing to speak against the permit. (The Baucoms said they asked their supporters not to come on the advice of their attorney.)

Among opponents of the Old Mill at the meeting were the Canepas who live in an antique-furnished apartment in a building which they own. Formerly, they ran the Mill Valley Market, which is now owned by their son.

"We don't dare put a nice flower pot out front without wiring it down," said Canepa. "We can't say who takes them. But it usually happens in the evenings. My neighbor had a $65 Japanese maple in a pot taken from in front of his house."

"It's just vroom, vroom constantly from that music," said his wife.

Agnes Campbell, who owns an apartment building across the street from the Canepas, complained that it wasn't the music so much as the cars coming and going on the street. "I'm always getting up at 2 a.m. to find out what's going on outside. Almost everyone around here has experienced various things."

Some residents have complained that problems at the Old Mill go back two years, when the Baucoms remodeled and turned their bar from the old-fashioned corner saloon to a bar that attracts younger people. They added wall-to-wall carpeting, a new picture window and a more compact bar.

"Maybe we did change," said Mrs. Baucom, "you have to create new customers all the time."

But she claims that at least 80 per cent of her trade still comes from Mill Valley and surrounding areas.

Commission Chairman Ivan S. Poutiatine said that the commission had been under great pressure from these complaints. "We got fairly one-sided testimony from the public as to the noise connected with the recent operation."

He added that he had been influenced by his own experiences with the Old Mill. "I've come home at night from the movies at midnight and seen people come out of the tavern stealing and breaking plants at stores next door and fighting," he said.

The door has not been completely closed, said Poutiatine, by the commission vote of 6-1 against granting the permit. "They could come in for another application for live entertainment as long as it had the types of checks to keep things in line. They could have up to an eight-man woodwind group, for example, if it wasn't amplified."

What rankles the Baucoms is that the Sweetwater up the block moved in last year, got a permit to use live music and continues to play while the Old Mill stands silent.

But Poutiatine said that his commission will review the status of the Sweetwater, with one such session set for next Monday. "I think though that the Sweetwater has taken the initiative to discuss the problem with us," he said. "They've asked for police help. They're sensitive to the situation."

The Baucoms also wish that the commission had paid more attention to a petition of more than 400 names they collected to support their application. The planning department said that only about 175 of them were Mill Valley residents.

But on the list were some business people and many young Mill Valley residents who patronize the bar.

"I've never had any problems with them," said Ray Guagliano, who operates Ray's Barber Shop on Throckmorton. "The Baucoms are nice people. They're a credit to the community."

"The Old Mill is like one big family," said Sharon Collings, 25, who lives two blocks away from the bar. "There's a good feeling here. We're not Sausalito types. We're not tourists."

In the meantime the Lovell neighborhood is revelling in the quiet since the city pulled the plug on amplified music at the Old Mill.

"It just seems to me, if we don't draw the line some place, we'll lose control of what's happening to Mill Valley," said Mrs. Campbell. "Mill Valley is a beautiful, beautiful place."

(Tomorrow: Mill Valley being "Sausalitoized"?)

TAVERN SCENE — Patrons of the Old Mill Tavern in Mill Valley throng the popular night spot, settling for recordings on the jukebox in the absence of live bands the tavern owners want to install. Neighbors, complaining of "Sausalitoization," have thus far fought that plan to a standstill, but the issue is in doubt, with the controversy headed for the city council. Independent-Journal photos)

Youth Bureau Is Considered

A special meeting to discuss a youth service bureau will be held by the board of directors of the Novato human needs center at 7:30 p.m. today at the center at 1523 South Novato Boulevard.

The directors will consider the needs for such a bureau and the possibility of starting such a program in the center. The center gets 80 per cent of its funds from Marin County and the balance coming from donations from the community.

The board is accepting applications for the job of executive director of the center.

Tiles Vandalized

Spanish mosaic tiles outside the office of optometrists Dr. William C. Lee and Dr. Ronald L. Harris, 127 Keller Street, Petaluma, were damaged yesterday, police reported. Vandals cracked the tiles with a sharp instrument and caused damage estimated at $400.

Mailer Still Claims Marilyn Was Killed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Norman Mailer admitted yesterday he lacked evidence to back up his theory that FBI and CIA agents had a reason to kill Marilyn Monroe so as to embarrass the Kennedy family. But the author stuck to the theory anyway.

In a small, hot room at the Algonquin Hotel packed with 60 newsmen, Mailer read a seven-page statement defending his controversial biography of the actress whose 1962 death officially was deemed a suicide.

When he first started work on the book, Mailer said he had heard "gossip and assumed Bobby Kennedy had an affair with Marilyn." But interviews and reflection convinced him that was not true, though "they were together a great deal and they were great friends," he said.

There was "no greater way to embarrass the Kennedy family" than to kill Miss Monroe, Mailer said. The FBI and CIA, he said, were "furious" because President John F. Kennedy tried to limit their power after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

"Right-wing FBI and CIA agents," Mailer said, would have had a "huge motivation" to kill Miss Monroe.

But he said he had no "hard evidence" to suport his charges.

Mailer said the autopsy on Miss Monroe showed a high concentration of Nembutal—a barbiturate—in her blood, but no evidence of that in her stomach. "Only one in eight deaths from barbiturates shows so high a level" of the drug in the bloodstream, he said. "In such cases, a residue is found in the stomach.

"The assumption follows that a stomach pump may have been applied...or a lethal overdose was injected."

Mailer was paid $50,000 to write the book, originally intended to be a preface for a book of photographs of Miss Monroe. Actor Peter Lawford, a friend of the actress and Kennedy's in-law, has called the book "vomit."

"They have characterized my book as a rip-off and worse things have been said about it," said Mailer. "But I thought it was a good book. One of my best."

Throughout the news conference, he exchanged witticisms with newsmen. But although sweat dripped from his face, Mailer refused to discuss his murder theory until aides distributed the prepared statement.

"We'll wait for the releases," he shouted. "I don't care if we all sweat to death in here."

Lanes To Close

About 10 to 15 protesting Lovell area residents turned out at the planning commission hearing to speak against the permit. (The Baucoms said they asked their supporters not to come on the advice of their attorney.)

Among opponents of the Old Mill at the meeting were the Canepas who live in an antique-furnished apartment in a building which they own. Formerly, they ran the Mill Valley Market, which is now owned by their son.

"We don't dare put a nice flower pot out front without wiring it down," said Canepa. "We can't say who takes them. But it usually happens in the evenings. My neighbor had a $65 Japanese maple in a pot taken from in front of his house."

"It's just vroom, vroom constantly from that music," said his wife.

Agnes Campbell, who owns an apartment building across the street from the Canepas, complained that it wasn't the music so much as the cars coming and going on the street. "I'm always getting up at 2 a.m. to find out what's going on outside. Almost everyone around here has experienced various things."

Some residents have complained that problems at the Old Mill go back two years, when the Baucoms remodeled and turned their bar from the old-fashioned corner saloon to a bar that attracts younger people. They added wall-to-wall carpeting, a new picture window and a more compact bar.

"Maybe we did change," said Mrs. Baucom, "you have to create new customers all the time."

But she claims that at least 80 per cent of her trade still comes from Mill Valley and surrounding areas.

Commission Chairman Ivan S. Poutiatine said that the commission had been under great pressure from these complaints. "We got fairly one-sided testimony from the public as to the noise connected with the recent operation."

He added that he had been influenced by his own experiences with the Old Mill. "I've come home at night from the movies at midnight and seen people come out of the tavern stealing and breaking plants at stores next door and fighting," he said.

The door has not been completely closed, said Poutiatine, by the commission vote of 6-1 against granting the permit. "They could come in for another application for live entertainment as long as it had the types of checks to keep things in line. They could have up to an eight-man woodwind group, for example, if it wasn't amplified."

What rankles the Baucoms is that the Sweetwater up the block moved in last year, got a permit to use live music and continues to play while the Old Mill stands silent.

But Poutiatine said that his commission will review the status of the Sweetwater, with one such session set for next Monday. "I think though that the Sweetwater has taken the initiative to discuss the problem with us," he said. "They've asked for police help. They're sensitive to the situation."

The Baucoms also wish that the commission had paid more attention to a petition of more than 400 names they collected to support their application. The planning department said that only about 175 of them were Mill Valley residents.

But on the list were some business people and many young Mill Valley residents who patronize the bar.

"I've never had any problems with them," said Ray Guagliano, who operates Ray's Barber Shop on Throckmorton. "The Baucoms are nice people. They're a credit to the community."

"The Old Mill is like one big family," said Sharon Collings, 25, who lives two blocks away from the bar. "There's a good feeling here. We're not Sausalito types. We're not tourists."

In the meantime the Lovell neighborhood is revelling in the quiet since the city pulled the plug on amplified music at the Old Mill.

"It just seems to me, if we don't draw the line some place, we'll lose control of what's happening to Mill Valley," said Mrs. Campbell. "Mill Valley is a beautiful, beautiful place."

(Tomorrow: Mill Valley being "Sausalitoized"?)

TAVERN SCENE — Patrons of the Old Mill Tavern in Mill Valley throng the popular night spot, settling for recordings on the jukebox in the absence of live bands the tavern owners want to install. Neighbors, complaining of "Sausalitoization," have thus far fought that plan to a standstill, but the issue is in doubt, with the controversy headed for the city council. Independent-Journal photos)

Youth Bureau Is Considered

A special meeting to discuss a youth service bureau will be held by the board of directors of the Novato human needs center at 7:30 p.m. today at the center at 1523 South Novato Boulevard.

The directors will consider the needs for such a bureau and the possibility of starting such a program in the center. The center gets 80 per cent of its funds from Marin County and the balance coming from donations from the community.

The board is accepting applications for the job of executive director of the center.

Tiles Vandalized

Spanish mosaic tiles outside the office of optometrists Dr. William C. Lee and Dr. Ronald L. Harris, 127 Keller Street, Petaluma, were damaged yesterday, police reported. Vandals cracked the tiles with a sharp instrument and caused damage estimated at $400.

Mailer Still Claims Marilyn Was Killed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Norman Mailer admitted yesterday he lacked evidence to back up his theory that FBI and CIA agents had a reason to kill Marilyn Monroe so as to embarrass the Kennedy family. But the author stuck to the theory anyway.

In a small, hot room at the Algonquin Hotel packed with 60 newsmen, Mailer read a seven-page statement defending his controversial biography of the actress whose 1962 death officially was deemed a suicide.

When he first started work on the book, Mailer said he had heard "gossip and assumed Bobby Kennedy had an affair with Marilyn." But interviews and reflection convinced him that was not true, though "they were together a great deal and they were great friends," he said.

There was "no greater way to embarrass the Kennedy family" than to kill Miss Monroe, Mailer said. The FBI and CIA, he said, were "furious" because President John F. Kennedy tried to limit their power after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

"Right-wing FBI and CIA agents," Mailer said, would have had a "huge motivation" to kill Miss Monroe.

But he said he had no "hard evidence" to suport his charges.

Mailer said the autopsy on Miss Monroe showed a high concentration of Nembutal—a barbiturate—in her blood, but no evidence of that in her stomach. "Only one in eight deaths from barbiturates shows so high a level" of the drug in the bloodstream, he said. "In such cases, a residue is found in the stomach.

"The assumption follows that a stomach pump may have been applied...or a lethal overdose was injected."

Mailer was paid $50,000 to write the book, originally intended to be a preface for a book of photographs of Miss Monroe. Actor Peter Lawford, a friend of the actress and Kennedy's in-law, has called the book "vomit."

"They have characterized my book as a rip-off and worse things have been said about it," said Mailer. "But I thought it was a good book. One of my best."

Throughout the news conference, he exchanged witticisms with newsmen. But although sweat dripped from his face, Mailer refused to discuss his murder theory until aides distributed the prepared statement.

"We'll wait for the releases," he shouted. "I don't care if we all sweat to death in here."

Poplar Exit On Grade Is Closed

The Poplar Drive exit on Wolfe Grade has been closed as part of the reconstruction project at that intersection.

A spokesman for the Marin County Public Works Department said there will be no access to Poplar Drive from Wolfe Grade for four to six weeks. Residents of the area will have access to their homes only by Cypress Avenue.

George Davison of the county's design section said access will be maintained to Upper Toyan Drive from Wolfe Grade near the construction site.

The Second San Rafael Meeting Set

San Rafael's second town meeting is planned for next October, the San Rafael Town Meeting Association announced yesterday.

Topics that may be discussed at the citizens' forum include methods of analyzing residential development proposals, whether or not the city needs a policy of limiting growth, and ways of evaluating open space lands, according to Dorothy Breiner, association secretary.

She said the association will widen participation in the forum by encouraging local homeowners groups to aid in the planning and programming of the town meeting.

All local civic organizations will be invited to the forum, she said.

Citizens with suggestions for town meeting topics, or those wanting more information on the event, may write to the association at 17 Dominican Drive, San Rafael, she said.

The association meets at 8 p.m. July 31 at 19 Santa Clara Court.

Charge Reduced To Misdemeanor

Felony charges against a Marin City man for assault and battery on a police officer have been reduced to a misdemeanor count of battery in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Gary W. Thomas made the ruling in the case of Jimmy Lee Hogges, 26, of 49 Cole Drive, Apt. 2.

The original charges stemmed from a scrap Friday in which Hogges reportedly socked a Marin City sheriff's deputy in the eye.

Corte Maderan To Be Play Director

I-J Special Report

SARATOGA — Ted Korosy of Corte Madera has been named play director for "The Desert Song," the opening production of the 1973-74 season of the West Valley Light Opera Association in Los Gatos.

The operetta will open Aug. 24 at the Saratoga Civic Theater with weekend performances through Sept. 15. Korosy has sung in and directed musical productions in St. Louis, Mo., and Cleveland, Ohio, and has made concert tours in the East and Midwest.

Scottish Pipers, Dancers Set For Journey To Old Country

The award-winning Price Charles Junior and Ladies Pipe bands, and Highland Dancers will give a farewell show July 29 at 3 p.m. in Corte Madera Town Park before they leave for their trip to Scotland.

Forty five pipers and dancers will compete in international highland games in Scotland over a three-week period starting Aug. 18.

The show in the park is sponsored by the Corte Madera Town Council and Park and Recreation Commission, said town recreation director Jacqueline A. Branch, "as a special highlight for the community and for the town to wish them good luck in Scotland."

Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commissioner Jack H. Sutherland is one of three leaders of the group, which started in 1967. Other leaders are William Merriman of Terra Linda and Trevor Atkinson of Napa.

Sutherland said the two bands and the dancers will compete in the Cowal Games in Dunoon, the Oban Games, and in the European Championships at Shotts. They've also been hired to give performances at other Scottish events.

This will be the first visit to Scotland for the youngsters, said Sutherland. A two-week bus tour of Scotland is included in their itinerary.

The bands were originally invited to the Oban Games, which each year has one Scottish pipe band as "band of the day." Last year, said Sutherland, the Glasgow City Police pipers were invited.

The long-distance invitation to the Marin County group came because last year Capt. John McLellan, director of the British Army Pipe School at Edinburgh Castle, taught piping at the Prince Charles' annual summer piping school.

"He was impressed with our playing," said Sutherland, "and mentioned us to the Oban people."

The trip will cost $15,000 by charter flight, said Sutherland, and the 75 members of the bands and dancers have raised all but $1,500 by performances and parades.

In the Sunday concert in Corte Madera Town Park the pipers and dancers will give the same show they've rehearsed for competition in Scotland.

The show comes in the middle of the two-week summer piping school, which starts Sunday at the Arequipa camp in Fairfax. Sutherland said piping students have enrolled from several Western states, and instructors from Canada and Scotland will teach.

Reagan Reappoints

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Kenward S. Oliphant of San Francisco and Roy G. Johnston of Los Angeles were reappointed yesterday to four-year terms to the state Board of Registration for Professional Engineers by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Rare London Book Added To Library

The Sonoma State College library has acquired a first edition of Jack London's novel "Valley of the Moon."

The novel first appeared serialized in Cosmospolitan magazine in 1913 and has been added to the Florence Allen Holmes collection.

A.S. Pickett, library director, said purchase of the rare book, along with other titles by Mary Austin, Edwin Markham and Joaquin Miller, was made possible by a gift from friends of the late Mrs. Holmes.

The Holmes collection was established last year by Mrs. Holmes' daughter, Mrs. Benton Hamlin Skillings, and contains volumes of 19th century American Historical materials as well as English and American literature. Many of the books came from the Holmes family home in St. Helena, Spottswoode.

Topics that may be discussed at the citizens' forum include methods of analyzing residential development proposals, whether or not the city needs a policy of limiting growth, and ways of evaluating open space lands, according to Dorothy Breiner, association secretary.

She said the association will widen participation in the forum by encouraging local homeowners groups to aid in the planning and programming of the town meeting.

All local civic organizations will be invited to the forum, she said.

Citizens with suggestions for town meeting topics, or those wanting more information on the event, may write to the association at 17 Dominican Drive, San Rafael, she said.

The association meets at 8 p.m. July 31 at 19 Santa Clara Court.

Charge Reduced To Misdemeanor

Felony charges against a Marin City man for assault and battery on a police officer have been reduced to a misdemeanor count of battery in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Gary W. Thomas made the ruling in the case of Jimmy Lee Hogges, 26, of 49 Cole Drive, Apt. 2.

The original charges stemmed from a scrap Friday in which Hogges reportedly socked a Marin City sheriff's deputy in the eye.

Corte Maderan To Be Play Director

I-J Special Report

SARATOGA — Ted Korosy of Corte Madera has been named play director for "The Desert Song," the opening production of the 1973-74 season of the West Valley Light Opera Association in Los Gatos.

The operetta will open Aug. 24 at the Saratoga Civic Theater with weekend performances through Sept. 15. Korosy has sung in and directed musical productions in St. Louis, Mo., and Cleveland, Ohio, and has made concert tours in the East and Midwest.

Scottish Pipers, Dancers Set For Journey To Old Country

The award-winning Price Charles Junior and Ladies Pipe bands, and Highland Dancers will give a farewell show July 29 at 3 p.m. in Corte Madera Town Park before they leave for their trip to Scotland.

Forty five pipers and dancers will compete in international highland games in Scotland over a three-week period starting Aug. 18.

The show in the park is sponsored by the Corte Madera Town Council and Park and Recreation Commission, said town recreation director Jacqueline A. Branch, "as a special highlight for the community and for the town to wish them good luck in Scotland."

Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commissioner Jack H. Sutherland is one of three leaders of the group, which started in 1967. Other leaders are William Merriman of Terra Linda and Trevor Atkinson of Napa.

Sutherland said the two bands and the dancers will compete in the Cowal Games in Dunoon, the Oban Games, and in the European Championships at Shotts. They've also been hired to give performances at other Scottish events.

This will be the first visit to Scotland for the youngsters, said Sutherland. A two-week bus tour of Scotland is included in their itinerary.

The bands were originally invited to the Oban Games, which each year has one Scottish pipe band as "band of the day." Last year, said Sutherland, the Glasgow City Police pipers were invited.

The long-distance invitation to the Marin County group came because last year Capt. John McLellan, director of the British Army Pipe School at Edinburgh Castle, taught piping at the Prince Charles' annual summer piping school.

"He was impressed with our playing," said Sutherland, "and mentioned us to the Oban people."

The trip will cost $15,000 by charter flight, said Sutherland, and the 75 members of the bands and dancers have raised all but $1,500 by performances and parades.

In the Sunday concert in Corte Madera Town Park the pipers and dancers will give the same show they've rehearsed for competition in Scotland.

The show comes in the middle of the two-week summer piping school, which starts Sunday at the Arequipa camp in Fairfax. Sutherland said piping students have enrolled from several Western states, and instructors from Canada and Scotland will teach.

Rare London Book Added To Library

The Sonoma State College library has acquired a first edition of Jack London's novel "Valley of the Moon."

The novel first appeared serialized in Cosmospolitan magazine in 1913 and has been added to the Florence Allen Holmes collection.

A.S. Pickett, library director, said purchase of the rare book, along with other titles by Mary Austin, Edwin Markham and Joaquin Miller, was made possible by a gift from friends of the late Mrs. Holmes.

The Holmes collection was established last year by Mrs. Holmes' daughter, Mrs. Benton Hamlin Skillings, and contains volumes of 19th century American Historical materials as well as English and American literature. Many of the books came from the Holmes family home in St. Helena, Spottswoode.

Junior Golf Week At San Geronimo

It will be junior golfing week at San Geronimo National starting Monday when head pro Wayne Wallick launches his first junior golf clinic at the Marin course.

Although it's Wallick's first junior clinic for Marin County youngsters — and it's open to all Marin boys and girls 17 and under — it certainly is not his first junior clinic. He used to put them on yearly at San Ramon National Golf Club, where he was head pro before coming to San Geronimo a year ago.

Wallick admits it's hard for him to venture a guess as to how many kids will reap the benefits of his clinic, but his clinics at San Ramon drew more than 100 each year.

The clinic starts Monday morning at 9 a.m. and will make it possible for kids to learn the basics of golf, rules, golf etiquette and the like. It's free, and clubs will be provided those who don't have their own. And you're never too young to learn, says Wallick, who already has one clinic registrant in his four-year-old son, Tom.

If the clinic proves successful, Wallick plans to make it a yearly event. He is going to be helped out by S. G. assistant pros Tony Savala and Mike Wesley.

Kids have to be introduced to golf, says Wallick. "It's a golf pro's responsibility to promote golf." Before the advent of electric golf carts, youngsters could learn the game by caddying at local golf courses. With so many golfers stacking their clubs on carts and wheeling off these days, it doesn't leave much room for caddys. Wallick like so many other golf pros, got his start by being a caddy. He didn't need to learn golf by attending clinics. But times have changed, and he sees an enormous need for such clinics.

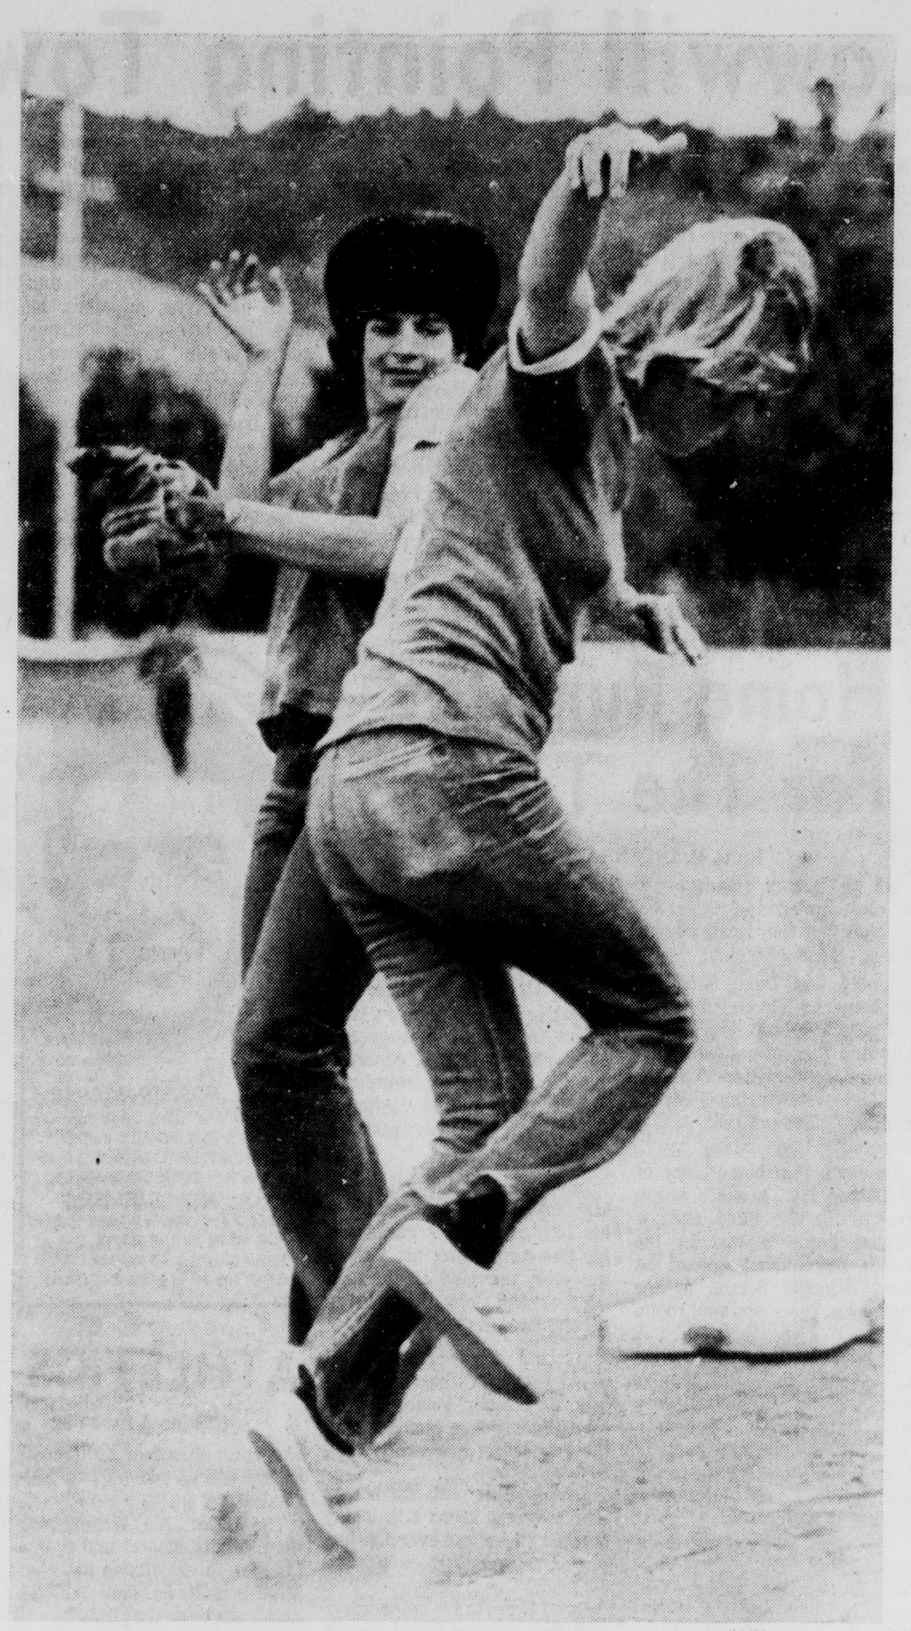
Wallick's clinic is a good opportunity for kids to learn the game of golf, and you can't beat the price.

INTERNATIONAL OBSERVATION: Marin Aquatic Club coach Don Swartz is attracting coaches from near and far, all trying to get the lowdown on his cycle system of training — hard, lengthy practice sessions alternated with shorter, easier stints. Recent coaches to attend some of the practice sessions were Keith Davies from the Durban Swim Club in South Africa and Jaime Sanchez, swim coach from Lima, Peru.

ALL IN A NAME: If Adolph A. (Dutch) Koenig's wide smile is even wider these days it might be because of a horse. And he didn't have a cent bet on it. Dutch's sister-in-law in Utah bought a race horse and named it Dutch K. in his honor. It ran its first race the other day in Colorado.

"And you know what?" laughed Koenig. "It won. I dunno. I haven't seen it but it's supposed to be a good looking horse." And just like the 74-year-old Dutch of San Rafael, Dutch K. is a winner.

SEARS POINT INTERNATIONAL Raceway, so quiet these many, many months, will be filled with the roar of automobiles this weekend. Some Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) regional championship road races are scheduled Saturday and Sunday but they won't be open to spectators, just competitors. I'm told, however, that the Sonoma County track will be open for business fairly soon.



HEADED FOR A SPILL

Rancho Nicasio's Paula Majors tripped to first base and Rodoni Insurance's Joyce Rodoni watched during last night's Marin County Women's Softball League game at Nicasio. Paula fell, but recovered in time to get a "safe" call. Rancho Nicasio won the game, 12-11, on a two-run single by Nellie Irving in the seventh inning, and also won the championship of the 12-team league. The team won 20 of 22 games.

Bryant Outpitches All-Star Rick Wise

Combined AP & UPI

ST. LOUIS — Ron Bryant, who failed to make the All-Star team, outpitched Rick Wise, who made it, Wednesday as the Giants finally picked up a game on Los Angeles.

Bryant became the winningest pitcher in the National League as he breezed to his 14th win against seven losses in the 8-3 victory before the third 20,000-plus crowd in a row here. Elias Sosa finished up for Bryant to grab his eighth save.

Wise was tagged for 11 hits and six runs in less than six innings as he emerged with an 11-5 record.

The Cards, knowing that Chicago had lost in the afternoon, could have taken first spot with the win but never got in the contest as Gary Matthews belted a tworun homer and a double as San Francisco moved eight back of the Dodgers.

The Giants scored two runs each in the second, third, sixth and ninth. The two runs in the second were unearned. With one out, Mike Phillips got the first of his three singles and Dave Rader followed with another single. Bryant struck out but Bobby Bonds reached first on an error to score Phillips and Tito Fuentes singled in Rader.

The Giants added two more in the third on a double by Ed Goodson and the homer by Matthews, his sixth of the year. In the sixth inning, Phillips led off with a single, went to second on a groundout and scored on a single by Bryant. Bryant advanced on a passed ball and came home when Fuentes singled.

The Cards got to Bryant in the seventh. Ken Reitz led off with a single to center and Bill Stein walked. Bryant got the next two batters but Lou brock drove in the first two St. Louis runs with a single to left.

The Giants scored two more runs in the ninth off reliever Orlando Pena. Garry Maddox singled to left, stole second and scored on Gary Thomasson's ground-rule double. Thomasson scored on a double by Matthews, his third RBI of the game.

Palmer Shows Williams; Hurls Orioles Past A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's manager Dick Williams seemed a little sad that he had overlooked Baltimore's Jim Palmer in naming the American League All-Star staff after the Orioles' righthander hurled a 5-2 win over his team.

"Palmer was just plain tough. He's a heckuva pitcher," said Williams of Palmer, who ran his record to 10-6 with the six-hit win Wednesday. Palmer is shooting for his fourth 20-game season in a row.

He said after the contest that he was not surprised to have been left off the All-Star team and was not bitter towards Williams.

What made the victory more ironic was that he beat a couple of All-Star hurlers.

Kenny Holtzman saw his record sag to 14-9 as he surrendered 11 hits in 8 1-3 innings before yielding to reliever Rollie Fingers.

Baltimore's attack was pretty well carried by slumping Merv Rettenmund, who walloped a pair of homers. He led off the game with a solo shot and then cracked a two-run blast following a walk in the second inning. It gave him only five homers and 20 RBI's for the season.

Rettenmund, a .300 hitter in past campaigns, who sagged to .233 last year to lead the decline in Baltimore batting, said he was just trying to hit singles to get his average back up.

Oakland climbed back into the fray when Gene Tenace bombed his 17th homer with a man aboard in the bottom of the second but Palmer then retired 17 men in a row while the O's shoved across another run in the third on a walk and singles by Don Baylor and Brooks Robinson and then knocked Holtzman out in the ninth when Paul Blair and Tommy Davis singled and a run came home on a wild pitch by Fingers.

The A's are idle tonight and then will send their All-Star hurler to the hill when Catfish Hunter (14-3) faces Cleveland, whose Gaylord Perry (8-13) has yet to beat Oakland in seven decisions.

One unique feature of Wednesday's game found utility man Mike Hegan filling in at another position — play-by-play radio announcer.

Hegan, not removed from the roster, was instructed by manager Williams to take off his uniform, put on slacks and a sports shirt and go up to the radio booth and handle three innings of announcing for ailing regular Jim Woods. Then Hegan took an elevator back down the clubhouse, removed his sport shirt and put on his uniform and returned to the A's bench.

A Little League Slugging Spree

San Anselmo went on a slugging spree last night to beat Sausalito, 20-9, in a quarterfinal game of the Marin County Little League team championship tournament at Castro Field in Gallinas Valley.

San Anselmo blasted three home runs, two of them hit by Louie Lituanio in consecutive turns at bat. Alfred Carr also hit two home runs back-to-back for Sausalito.

In other quarter-final round games last night, San Rafael National topped Mill Valley American, 7-5, at Boyle Park, Mill Valley; Kentfield-Greenbrae edged Novato National, 3-2, at Rancho Field, Novato, and Marinwood-Lucas Valley beat Novato American, 4-1, at Mary E. Silveira School, Marinwood.

San Rafael won the game with two runs in the last inning, scored on a bases loaded walk and a fielder's choice. Peter Heinlein hit a two-run home run for San Rafael.

Jim Mitchell hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning to carry Kentfield-Greenbrae to its victory. Kentfield hurler Miles Walker fanned 12 batters and John Davidson continued his hot streak for Novato National with a home run in the sixth.

Marinwood got an excellent pitching performance out of Greg Safford who limited Novato American to two hits while striking out 14 batters.

The schedule for tomorrow's semi-final round games at 6 p.m.:

Escrow Softballers Top Moonshiners

Escrow beat the Moonshiners, 11-8, in a show of muscle last night at Albert Field in a San Rafael Recreation Department Adult Softball League game.

In other games last night, D and R Volkswagen beat Specialty Auto Repair, 9-4, and Las Gallinas defeated the No Names, 9-6.

Novato '9' Wins Ruth Tourney

SONOMA — Novato American won the District 9 age 15 Babe Ruth League tournament Championship last night with an 11-0 victory over Santa Rosa at Arnold's Field.

Novato, which plays Rancho Cordova in Eureka in a Northern Section State tourney game Saturday at 2 p.m., finished the district tournament with a 4-0 record.

The victory was achieved by the strong pitching of David Luccessi, who threw a three-hitter, and the explosive bats of his Novato teammates, who backed him with an 11-hit attack which included three doubles and a triple.

Luccessi gave up just two singles and a pinch-hit double in the sixth inning by John Stevenson. He struck out 10 and walked five.

Novato exploded for six runs in the fifth inning on four walks, singles by Ron Schousen and Bill Parmenter, and doubles by Mike Moreno and Glen Dunbar. Dunbar laced two doubles and Larry Caples added a triple and a single.

Mike Moroski was tabbed tournament Most Valuable Plyaer on his 8 for 15 performance at the plate, and Novato was also awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Lutz Resting After Surgery

BOSTON (UPI) — Bob Lutz of Sausalito, defending U.S. professional tennis champion, was in "good condition" Wednesday at Massachusetts General Hospital following surgery on his right knee.

Lutz, who was in Boston to participate in the 10th annual Professional Tennis Championships in Brookline, injured the patella tendon in his knee during a promotional tennis match Monday at the Prudential Center.

"The operation went very well," a spokesman at the hospital said. "The outlook is good."

Lutz probably will be hospitalized for two weeks.

The 25-year-old Californian was playing a match with Marty Riessen, Chuck Pasarell, and Tom Gorman when, according to tournament director Ed Hickey, "the knee locked. He couldn't move it."

The spokesman said the operation was performed by Dr. Carter Rowe, who also operated on Boston Bruin defenseman Bobby Orr.

Chutzpah Beats Out Improbable

HONOLULU (UPI) — Improbable's short reign as the overall corrected time leader of the Transpacific Yacht Race was ended late last night when Chutzpah crossed the Diamond Head finish line shortly before midnight to wrest away the lead.

Owned and skippered by David W. Allen of Belvedere and flying the colors of the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, the 42-foot Improbable finished the 2,225-file voyage Monday as the Class B winner.

Chutzpah, skippered by Stu Cowan of Honolulu and registered out of the Waikiki Yacht Club, had a corrected time of 8 days, 21 hours, 21 minutes and 50 seconds, well ahead of Improbable, which had a corrected time of 9 days, 1 hour, 54 minutes and 18 seconds. The radically designed 35-foot sloop Chutzpah was also the Class D winner.

Two other Marin ships finished third in their classes. Tenacity, owned by Rolf Croker of Belvedere and registered out of the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco, took third place in Class C, and Tinsley Light, skippered by Henry B. Grandin of Ross and registered out of the St. Francis Yacht Club, was the third place finisher in Class D.

BOSTON'S LEE WINS 12TH GAME

BOSTON (UPI) — Bill Lee of Terra Linda was in constant trouble last night, but settled down to pitch the Boston Red Sox to a 6-1 American League victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Lee, who was selected to the American League staff for the All-Star game by manager Dick Williams of the Oakland A's, raised his record to a sparkling 12-3.

Lee allowed at least one hit in each of the first six innings, but settled down after that to retire the side in order in the sixth and seventh innings. He gave up his only run in the fifth on a double by Hank Allen, an infield out and John Jeter's sacrifice fly.

No-Hitter, But Novato Triumphs

SANTA ROSA — Two Rohnert Park pitchers combined to throw a no-hitter last night, but came up with a loss as Novato National took a 3-1 victory in the Babe Ruth 13-year old all-star tournament at Doyle Park.

In other games last night, Central Marin recorded a 5-3 win over Novato American.

Brian Sullivan held Novato National hitless for five innings, and reliever Paul Hoberg for one, but they were betrayed by a sloppy Rohnert Park defense which made 10 errors.

Junior Golf Week At San Geronimo

It will be junior golfing week at San Geronimo National starting Monday when head pro Wayne Wallick launches his first junior golf clinic at the Marin course.

Although it's Wallick's first junior clinic for Marin County youngsters — and it's open to all Marin boys and girls 17 and under — it certainly is not his first junior clinic. He used to put them on yearly at San Ramon National Golf Club, where he was head pro before coming to San Geronimo a year ago.

Wallick admits it's hard for him to venture a guess as to how many kids will reap the benefits of his clinic, but his clinics at San Ramon drew more than 100 each year.

The clinic starts Monday morning at 9 a.m. and will make it possible for kids to learn the basics of golf, rules, golf etiquette and the like. It's free, and clubs will be provided those who don't have their own. And you're never too young to learn, says Wallick, who already has one clinic registrant in his four-year-old son, Tom.

If the clinic proves successful, Wallick plans to make it a yearly event. He is going to be helped out by S. G. assistant pros Tony Savala and Mike Wesley.

Kids have to be introduced to golf, says Wallick. "It's a golf pro's responsibility to promote golf." Before the advent of electric golf carts, youngsters could learn the game by caddying at local golf courses. With so many golfers stacking their clubs on carts and wheeling off these days, it doesn't leave much room for caddys. Wallick like so many other golf pros, got his start by being a caddy. He didn't need to learn golf by attending clinics. But times have changed, and he sees an enormous need for such clinics.

Wallick's clinic is a good opportunity for kids to learn the game of golf, and you can't beat the price.

INTERNATIONAL OBSERVATION: Marin Aquatic Club coach Don Swartz is attracting coaches from near and far, all trying to get the lowdown on his cycle system of training — hard, lengthy practice sessions alternated with shorter, easier stints. Recent coaches to attend some of the practice sessions were Keith Davies from the Durban Swim Club in South Africa and Jaime Sanchez, swim coach from Lima, Peru.

ALL IN A NAME: If Adolph A. (Dutch) Koenig's wide smile is even wider these days it might be because of a horse. And he didn't have a cent bet on it. Dutch's sister-in-law in Utah bought a race horse and named it Dutch K. in his honor. It ran its first race the other day in Colorado.

"And you know what?" laughed Koenig. "It won. I dunno. I haven't seen it but it's supposed to be a good looking horse." And just like the 74-year-old Dutch of San Rafael, Dutch K. is a winner.

SEARS POINT INTERNATIONAL Raceway, so quiet these many, many months, will be filled with the roar of automobiles this weekend. Some Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) regional championship road races are scheduled Saturday and Sunday but they won't be open to spectators, just competitors. I'm told, however, that the Sonoma County track will be open for business fairly soon.

HEADED FOR A SPILL

Rancho Nicasio's Paula Majors tripped to first base and Rodoni Insurance's Joyce Rodoni watched during last night's Marin County Women's Softball League game at Nicasio. Paula fell, but recovered in time to get a "safe" call. Rancho Nicasio won the game, 12-11, on a two-run single by Nellie Irving in the seventh inning, and also won the championship of the 12-team league. The team won 20 of 22 games.

Bryant Outpitches All-Star Rick Wise

Combined AP & UPI

ST. LOUIS — Ron Bryant, who failed to make the All-Star team, outpitched Rick Wise, who made it, Wednesday as the Giants finally picked up a game on Los Angeles.

Bryant became the winningest pitcher in the National League as he breezed to his 14th win against seven losses in the 8-3 victory before the third 20,000-plus crowd in a row here. Elias Sosa finished up for Bryant to grab his eighth save.

Wise was tagged for 11 hits and six runs in less than six innings as he emerged with an 11-5 record.

The Cards, knowing that Chicago had lost in the afternoon, could have taken first spot with the win but never got in the contest as Gary Matthews belted a tworun homer and a double as San Francisco moved eight back of the Dodgers.

The Giants scored two runs each in the second, third, sixth and ninth. The two runs in the second were unearned. With one out, Mike Phillips got the first of his three singles and Dave Rader followed with another single. Bryant struck out but Bobby Bonds reached first on an error to score Phillips and Tito Fuentes singled in Rader.

The Giants added two more in the third on a double by Ed Goodson and the homer by Matthews, his sixth of the year. In the sixth inning, Phillips led off with a single, went to second on a groundout and scored on a single by Bryant. Bryant advanced on a passed ball and came home when Fuentes singled.

The Cards got to Bryant in the seventh. Ken Reitz led off with a single to center and Bill Stein walked. Bryant got the next two batters but Lou brock drove in the first two St. Louis runs with a single to left.

The Giants scored two more runs in the ninth off reliever Orlando Pena. Garry Maddox singled to left, stole second and scored on Gary Thomasson's ground-rule double. Thomasson scored on a double by Matthews, his third RBI of the game.

Palmer Shows Williams; Hurls Orioles Past A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's manager Dick Williams seemed a little sad that he had overlooked Baltimore's Jim Palmer in naming the American League All-Star staff after the Orioles' righthander hurled a 5-2 win over his team.

"Palmer was just plain tough. He's a heckuva pitcher," said Williams of Palmer, who ran his record to 10-6 with the six-hit win Wednesday. Palmer is shooting for his fourth 20-game season in a row.

He said after the contest that he was not surprised to have been left off the All-Star team and was not bitter towards Williams.

What made the victory more ironic was that he beat a couple of All-Star hurlers.

Kenny Holtzman saw his record sag to 14-9 as he surrendered 11 hits in 8 1-3 innings before yielding to reliever Rollie Fingers.

Baltimore's attack was pretty well carried by slumping Merv Rettenmund, who walloped a pair of homers. He led off the game with a solo shot and then cracked a two-run blast following a walk in the second inning. It gave him only five homers and 20 RBI's for the season.

Rettenmund, a .300 hitter in past campaigns, who sagged to .233 last year to lead the decline in Baltimore batting, said he was just trying to hit singles to get his average back up.

Oakland climbed back into the fray when Gene Tenace bombed his 17th homer with a man aboard in the bottom of the second but Palmer then retired 17 men in a row while the O's shoved across another run in the third on a walk and singles by Don Baylor and Brooks Robinson and then knocked Holtzman out in the ninth when Paul Blair and Tommy Davis singled and a run came home on a wild pitch by Fingers.

The A's are idle tonight and then will send their All-Star hurler to the hill when Catfish Hunter (14-3) faces Cleveland, whose Gaylord Perry (8-13) has yet to beat Oakland in seven decisions.

One unique feature of Wednesday's game found utility man Mike Hegan filling in at another position — play-by-play radio announcer.

Hegan, not removed from the roster, was instructed by manager Williams to take off his uniform, put on slacks and a sports shirt and go up to the radio booth and handle three innings of announcing for ailing regular Jim Woods. Then Hegan took an elevator back down the clubhouse, removed his sport shirt and put on his uniform and returned to the A's bench.

A Little League Slugging Spree

San Anselmo went on a slugging spree last night to beat Sausalito, 20-9, in a quarter-final game of the Marin County Little League team championship tournament at Castro Field in Gallinas Valley.

San Anselmo blasted three home runs, two of them hit by Louie Lituanio in consecutive turns at bat. Alfred Carr also hit two home runs back-to-back for Sausalito.

In other quarter-final round games last night, San Rafael National topped Mill Valley American, 7-5, at Boyle Park, Mill Valley; Kentfield-Greenbrae edged Novato National, 3-2, at Rancho Field, Novato, and Marinwood-Lucas Valley beat Novato American, 4-1, at Mary E. Silveira School, Marinwood.

San Rafael won the game with two runs in the last inning, scored on a bases loaded walk and a fielder's choice. Peter Heinlein hit a two-run home run for San Rafael.

Jim Mitchell hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning to carry Kentfield-Greenbrae to its victory. Kentfield hurler Miles Walker fanned 12 batters and John Davidson continued his hot streak for Novato National with a home run in the sixth.

Marinwood got an excellent pitching performance out of Greg Safford who limited Novato American to two hits while striking out 14 batters.

The schedule for tomorrow's semi-final round games at 6 p.m.:

Novato '9' Wins Ruth Tourney

SONOMA — Novato American won the District 9 age 15 Babe Ruth League tournament Championship last night with an 11-0 victory over Santa Rosa at Arnold's Field.

Novato, which plays Rancho Cordova in Eureka in a Northern Section State tourney game Saturday at 2 p.m., finished the district tournament with a 4-0 record.

The victory was achieved by the strong pitching of David Luccessi, who threw a three-hitter, and the explosive bats of his Novato teammates, who backed him with an 11-hit attack which included three doubles and a triple.

Luccessi gave up just two singles and a pinch-hit double in the sixth inning by John Stevenson. He struck out 10 and walked five.

Novato exploded for six runs in the fifth inning on four walks, singles by Ron Schousen and Bill Parmenter, and doubles by Mike Moreno and Glen Dunbar. Dunbar laced two doubles and Larry Caples added a triple and a single.

Mike Moroski was tabbed tournament Most Valuable Plyaer on his 8 for 15 performance at the plate, and Novato was also awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Lutz Resting After Surgery

BOSTON (UPI) — Bob Lutz of Sausalito, defending U.S. professional tennis champion, was in "good condition" Wednesday at Massachusetts General Hospital following surgery on his right knee.

Lutz, who was in Boston to participate in the 10th annual Professional Tennis Championships in Brookline, injured the patella tendon in his knee during a promotional tennis match Monday at the Prudential Center.

"The operation went very well," a spokesman at the hospital said. "The outlook is good."

Lutz probably will be hospitalized for two weeks.

The 25-year-old Californian was playing a match with Marty Riessen, Chuck Pasarell, and Tom Gorman when, according to tournament director Ed Hickey, "the knee locked. He couldn't move it."

The spokesman said the operation was performed by Dr. Carter Rowe, who also operated on Boston Bruin defenseman Bobby Orr.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

The Fairway Drive

By LEE TREVINO

Hitting a driver from the fairway can be risky, like turning your paycheck over to your wife. Maybe it ain't real smart, but that's the gamble you get for the favors you got.

Certain conditions are required. It's almost impossible to hit a driver off a patchy fairway and get a good trajectory on the ball. It takes a spongy turf to let the clubface get down into the ball.

An uphill lie is favorable because it gives the ball a natural lift. A breeze into your face helps, too.

A fairway drive invariably fades or slices. Don't count on a hook or a straight ball. Make allowances for the shot to slide to the right.

A tall player like Johnny Miller can hit a driver from the fairway easier than a stump hombre like myself. His arc is more upright. A little man with a flat swing is begging for bankruptcy when he pulls a driver from his bag on the fairway.

It's a percentage shot. I only recommend a fairway driver under ideal conditions. And if you're trying to save the family farm. (The Register and Tribune Syndicate)

Kennedy Announces He'll Retire In '75

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Predicting an era of increased national expansion and intercontinental basketball for his successor, Walter Kennedy has announced his intention to relinquish his job as commissioner of the National Basketball Association on June 1, 1975.

"I believe you can safely expect some kind of expansion beyond the current 17 teams and by the late '70s or early '80s the NBA will be expanding to Europe," Kennedy said Wednesday upon making the formal announcement of his retirement.

Baseball

KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Royals of the American League purchased left-handed relief pitcher Joe Hoerner from the National League Atlanta Braves.

Track-Field

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. — Record-holding pole vaulter Steve Smith, who missed making the AAU national team because of an injury, highlighted an all-comers meet here Wednesday by jumping 17-8.

Smith, who holds the world indoor mark of 18-0¼, missed on one try at 18-2 in the outdoor meet at Pierce College. Smith's outdoor best is also 18-0¼.

TURIN, Italy —Rick Wohlhuter of the United States outdueled Italy's Marcello Fiasconaro and won the 800-meter race as the American men's team trounced the Italians 143-78 in a track and field meet.

Football

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — Bob Lilly reported to the Dallas Cowboys training camp today with general manager Tex Schramm but there still was no word as to whether the veteran defensive tackle had decided to play this year.

FREMONT, Calif. — Don Garlits, king of the nation's drag racers, has cracked the magic six second drag racing barrier.

The Tampa, Fla., speedster set a new American Hot Rod Association top fuel record Wednesday by going a quarter mile from a standing start in 5.99 seconds at 241.93 miles per hour.

The six second mark, comparable to the four-minute mile in track, had been considered impossible to reach by some. Jerry Ruth of Seattle had held the previous mark of 6.03 seconds.

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday established a Governor's Cup award to give recognition each year to volunteers involved in California's Special Olympics for the mentally retarded.

Willard Drawing A Fine

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Although it's costing him $200 a day in fines, fullback Ken Willard is staying back home in Richmond, Va., while the other San Francisco 49ers get into their first full squad practice sessions today.

The 30-year-old Willard, who last year failed for the first time to lead the team in rushing, didn't show up at the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday deadline, and he wasn't answering the telephone back in Virginia.

"I don't know what happened to Willard," said Coach Dick Nolan. "I have not talked to him in a few weeks. I only know that anybody who didn't report starts getting fined $200 a day."

Some of his teammates, who asked to go unnamed, said Willard's pride was hurt when Larry Schreiber moved ahead of him last year. Willard wants to be traded, they said.

Greg Jones, a National Football League veteran from UCLA. quit the 49ers camp Wednesday saying he "just couldn't drum up enthusiasm."

Eight other players were placed on waivers: Roger Praetorius, Joe Carter, Henry Moore, Bob Erickson, Marty McGann, Pat Riley, Don Wesley and Leo Taylor.

pled for St. Louis and scored on a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Bernie Carbo.

The Giants are idle today and head for Chicago Friday.

The stocky Bryant, 14-7 and the NL's winningest pitcher, said the victory atoned for his being passed over among All-Star selections by Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson.

"It bothered me when I found out I didn't make it. I just wanted to win this game a little bit more," he said.

San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox, who lifted Bryant after 7⅔ innings, was admittedly miffed.

"He's got more wins than anybody else in the league," Fox said. "If he's got the most wins you'd think he'd make it. I thought it was a foregone conclusion."

Lawwill Pointing Toward 'Top 10'

By LEW CODDINGTON

Mert Lawwill of Tiburon, enjoying a good year racing motorcycles despite an ugly incident in San Jose three weekends ago, is looking forward to finishing "well up in the top 10" in this year's Yamaha Gold Cup National point standings.

Lawwill is supposed to race in a doubleheader in Los Angeles this weekend, running in a half-mile race Friday and a tricky 25-lap (15 5/8-mile) steeplechase Saturday, and has "another three or four races" left this season after those.

The national champion in 1969, Lawwill finished eighth in the point standings last year and expects to surpass that performance this season, though he sees little hope of catching point leader Kenny Roberts of Woodside.

Lawwill's season was marred June 30 when he was knocked from his Harley-Davidson in a 100-mph crash while trying to qualify for the 25-mile National race in San Jose.

At the time, Lawwill charged that Triumph team rider Gary Scott, second in the race and second in the standings, had cut across from the outside to knock Mert's front wheel from under him.

Lawwill suffered "smashed muscles, a back injury and a standard ol' thumpin'," and while he misses no races, he feels now he was "not strong enough to run" in the Colorado Springs, Colo. race the following week.

He tried, and was in second place after two laps, but pulled out when he realized he couldn't sustain the pace.

Last week, in Castle Rock, Wash., Lawwill took another tumble, but this one was not so menacing. "I was second in that one, and was going wide into a turn when I hit a mud slick," he recounted, adding almost laughingly, "I was only goin' about 10 miles an hour at the time."

He has had no more run-ins with Scott, but added that Scott "hasn't had an opportunity (to do anything) because he's been alone most of the time for one reason or another."

Scott has a reputation for rough riding, and allegedly hit early leader Rex Beauchamps, two-time national champion Dick Mann and teammate Gene Romero at San Jose, in addition to Lawwill.

If his list of enemies actually is that large, "it'll backfire on him," in Lawwill's words, in the form of retaliation by other riders.

Meanwhile, Lawwill is concerning himself with adding to his point total and trying to capture his first victory of the year. "I've had a couple of seconds, a couple of near wins," he said. "Actually, it has been a pretty good year, after a slow start."

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Home Run Day For The Tigers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Ask the Detroit Tigers who's the most underrated player on the club and they'll answer in chorus—Mickey Stanley.

Stanley and Duke Sims hit solo homers while Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe each slammed three-run home runs to help Joe Coleman coast to his 15th victory as Detroit trounced Kansas City, 14-4 Wednesday.

Stanley's 11th homer, one of 18 Detroit hits, broke a scoreless tie in the third and he singled home a run in the fourth. But Stanley seemed the most dejected person in the victorious Tiger dressing room. Why?

"I didn't have as good a night as I should've had," Stanley said. "I had a chance for a good night. I'm just not satisfiied with my play this year."

McAuliffe wanted to praise the quiet Stanley instead of talking about himself.

"Mickey is number one in my book," McAuliffe said. "I don't have to say that he's the best there is in the outfield. What's more, he wants to play all the time and I don't think there's anybody who bears down more than he does.

In other American League games, Boston nipped Chicago, 6-1, Minnesota downed New York, 3-0, Milwaukee blanked Texas, 3-0, Baltimore tripped Oakland, 5-2, and Cleveland outlasted California in 11, 10-8.

In the National League, San Francisco topped St. Louis, 8-3, Pittsubrgh nipped Los Angeles, 3-2, Montreal edged Houston in 10, 3-2, San Diego downed Chicago, 8-5, New York trounced Atlanta, 12-2, and Cincinnati stopped St. Louis, 7-3.

Jim Kaat gave up six hits and Tony Oliva stroked a two-run third inning homer to give the Twins their victory over New York.

Kaat stretched his record to 10-9 while Mel Stottlemyre, who set an American League record by starting his 242nd consecutive game without a relief appearance since 1966, suffered his eighth loss against 12 triumphs.

Dave May established a new Milwaukee record by hitting in his 14th consecutive game and his two-run homer, his 17th of the year, provided all the help All-Star Jim Colborn needed to lift the Brewers past Texas.

Colborn improved his record to 13-5 by allowing only five hits. Jim Bibby fanned 13 and allowed only five hits but took the loss to set his record back to 3-4.

Johnny Ellis' two-run homer with two outs in the 11th inning boosted Cleveland over California as the Angels blew 5-0 and 8-3 leads.

Dave Roberts hit two homers and Nate Colbert added one off losing pitcher Ferguson Jenkins to pace San Diego to the victory over Chicago. It was the first time Jenkins has ever lost to San Diego after 13 wins. Clay Kirby went six innings to get the win and Mike Caldwell got the save.

Willie Stargell's 27th home run of the season snapped a 2-2 sixth inning tie and paced Pittsburgh to the win over Los Angeles. The loss ended the Dodgers' win streak at seven. Dock Ellis, who got the victory, said, "we can't win the division every year but we've still got it in us and we have something to prove as a team."

Ontiveros Hikes Batting Average

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — Steve Ontiveros of Phoenix upped his batting average last week, but a couple of other hot hitters managed to close in on him in the battle for Pacific Coast League hitting honors.

Ontiveros is belting .353 while Dan Ford of Tucson is now at .345 and Jim Fairey of Albuquerque is hitting .340.

Gene Martin of Hawaii has 21 homers, but otherwise, Ontiveros dominates the statistical categories.

His 73 runs scored and 76 knocked in are both tops in the league. So are his 118 hits for 203 total bases with 30 doubles and 14 tripies.

Hamilton Wins

Hamilton-Loma Verde defeated Fairfax, 5-2, last night in the Senior Little League Tournament at Hamilton Field's diamond. Hamilton is now 2-0 while Fairfax's record in the double-elimination tourney dropped to 1-1.

Softball Tourney Begins Tonight

Eight top softball teams from Northern California will put their won-lost records and egos on the line beginning tonight in the second annual San Rafael-Suburban Auto Pistons Fastpitch Tournament at Albert Field.

One of the favorites is Sargent's of Sacramento, which won the North Pacific Regional in 1971 and 1972 and finished fourth in last year's national championship in Dallas.

The 1970-71-72 state champion, Wilson-Russell Ford of Vallejo, has returned this year, as has Santa Clara's top team, LeBlanc Barons, and San Mateo County's best, the Kings.

New to the tournament are three teams from the Stockton-Merced-Modesto area — Dave Abel Insurance, Happy Steak and the Stockton Merchants. The eighth team is the Suburban Auto Pistons of San Rafael.

The Kings will play Wilson-Russell at 7:30 and Suburban will face Happy Steak at 9 o'clock in tonight's games. Other teams will play at the same time tomorrow night, and the tourney will continue Saturday with games starting at 11:30 a.m. and Sunday with games beginning at 1 p.m. The championship game will be at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Dodgers Dominate All-Star Pitching

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who didn't have one player in the top four at any position in the fans' All-Star balloting, made a comeback Wednesday when Sparky Anderson named the pitching staff for the All-Star game in Kansas City on July 14.

Anderson, the Cincinnati Reds' manager, selected Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Jim Brewer of the Dodgers among the eight pitchers he named for the classic. Anderson is the All-Star manager because the Reds won the NL pennant last year but they're trailing the Dodgers in the NL West this season.

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets is the senior hurler on the N.L. squad for the mid-season classic against the American League. He was selected for the seventh time.

Anderson chose six right-handers —Seaver, Sutton, his own Jack Billingham, Rick Wise of the St. Louis Cardinals, Wayne Twitchell of the Philadelphia Phillies and Dave Giusti of the Pittsburgh Pirates — and southpaws Osteen and Brewer.

Bill Russell, who was fifth in the balloting at shortstop, was the highest Dodger finisher in the fans' balloting as Los Angeles was all but ignored despite the fact that the Dodgers have been leading the Western Division most of the season.

Osteen, on the team for the third time, and Sutton, for the second time, are the only pitchers beside Seaver with previous All-Star experience.

Toby's Wins DiMaggio Game, 4-3

Toby's Truckers scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning last night to take a 4-3 Joe DiMaggio Baseball League game from Holiday Magic at Drake High School.

In another game at Drake last night, Travers Perry fashioned a successful squeeze play to beat Bank of Marin, 6-5.

Bank of Marin upset Toby's Truckers Monday night at Terra Linda, 4-3, for Toby's first loss.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

The Fairway Drive

By LEE TREVINO

Hitting a driver from the fairway can be risky, like turning your paycheck over to your wife. Maybe it ain't real smart, but that's the gamble you get for the favors you got.

Certain conditions are required. It's almost impossible to hit a driver off a patchy fairway and get a good trajectory on the ball. It takes a spongy turf to let the clubface get down into the ball.

An uphill lie is favorable because it gives the ball a natural lift. A breeze into your face helps, too.

A fairway drive invariably fades or slices. Don't count on a hook or a straight ball. Make allowances for the shot to slide to the right.

A tall player like Johnny Miller can hit a driver from the fairway easier than a stump hombre like myself. His arc is more upright. A little man with a flat swing is begging for bankruptcy when he pulls a driver from his bag on the fairway.

It's a percentage shot. I only recommend a fairway driver under ideal conditions. And if you're trying to save the family farm. (The Register and Tribune Syndicate)

Kennedy Announces He'll Retire In '75

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Predicting an era of increased national expansion and intercontinental basketball for his successor, Walter Kennedy has announced his intention to relinquish his job as commissioner of the National Basketball Association on June 1, 1975.

"I believe you can safely expect some kind of expansion beyond the current 17 teams and by the late '70s or early '80s the NBA will be expanding to Europe," Kennedy said Wednesday upon making the formal announcement of his retirement.

Baseball

KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Royals of the American League purchased left-handed relief pitcher Joe Hoerner from the National League Atlanta Braves.

Hockey

NEW YORK — Defenseman Harry Howell, released by the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League, signed a two-year contract with the New York Golden Blades of the World Hockey Association.

Golf

HOUSTON — University of Texas junior Ben Crenshaw carded a six-under-par 65 and took a two-stroke lead in the first round of the 67th annual Southern Amateur Golf Championship.

Track-Field

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. — Record-holding pole vaulter Steve Smith, who missed making the AAU national team because of an injury, highlighted an all-comers meet here Wednesday by jumping 17-8.

Smith, who holds the world indoor mark of 18-0¼, missed on one try at 18-2 in the outdoor meet at Pierce College. Smith's outdoor best is also 18-0¼.

TURIN, Italy —Rick Wohlhuter of the United States outdueled Italy's Marcello Fiasconaro and won the 800-meter race as the American men's team trounced the Italians 143-78 in a track and field meet.

Football

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — Bob Lilly reported to the Dallas Cowboys training camp today with general manager Tex Schramm but there still was no word as to whether the veteran defensive tackle had decided to play this year.

Lilly, whose indecision was among several personnel problems the Cowboys face with veterans this season, had scheduled a news conference for today in Dallas.

Racing

FREMONT, Calif. — Don Garlits, king of the nation's drag racers, has cracked the magic six second drag racing barrier.

The Tampa, Fla., speedster set a new American Hot Rod Association top fuel record Wednesday by going a quarter mile from a standing start in 5.99 seconds at 241.93 miles per hour.

The six second mark, comparable to the four-minute mile in track, had been considered impossible to reach by some. Jerry Ruth of Seattle had held the previous mark of 6.03 seconds.

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday established a Governor's Cup award to give recognition each year to volunteers involved in California's Special Olympics for the mentally retarded.

Willard Drawing A Fine

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Although it's costing him $200 a day in fines, fullback Ken Willard is staying back home in Richmond, Va., while the other San Francisco 49ers get into their first full squad practice sessions today.

The 30-year-old Willard, who last year failed for the first time to lead the team in rushing, didn't show up at the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday deadline, and he wasn't answering the telephone back in Virginia.

"I don't know what happened to Willard," said Coach Dick Nolan. "I have not talked to him in a few weeks. I only know that anybody who didn't report starts getting fined $200 a day."

Some of his teammates, who asked to go unnamed, said Willard's pride was hurt when Larry Schreiber moved ahead of him last year. Willard wants to be traded, they said.

Greg Jones, a National Football League veteran from UCLA. quit the 49ers camp Wednesday saying he "just couldn't drum up enthusiasm."

Eight other players were placed on waivers: Roger Praetorius, Joe Carter, Henry Moore, Bob Erickson, Marty McGann, Pat Riley, Don Wesley and Leo Taylor.

pled for St. Louis and scored on a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Bernie Carbo.

The Giants are idle today and head for Chicago Friday.

The stocky Bryant, 14-7 and the NL's winningest pitcher, said the victory atoned for his being passed over among All-Star selections by Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson.

"It bothered me when I found out I didn't make it. I just wanted to win this game a little bit more," he said.

San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox, who lifted Bryant after 7⅔ innings, was admittedly miffed.

"He's got more wins than anybody else in the league," Fox said. "If he's got the most wins you'd think he'd make it. I thought it was a foregone conclusion."

Lawwill Pointing Toward 'Top 10'

By LEW CODDINGTON

Mert Lawwill of Tiburon, enjoying a good year racing motorcycles despite an ugly incident in San Jose three weekends ago, is looking forward to finishing "well up in the top 10" in this year's Yamaha Gold Cup National point standings.

Lawwill is supposed to race in a doubleheader in Los Angeles this weekend, running in a half-mile race Friday and a tricky 25-lap (15 5/8-mile) steeplechase Saturday, and has "another three or four races" left this season after those.

The national champion in 1969, Lawwill finished eighth in the point standings last year and expects to surpass that performance this season, though he sees little hope of catching point leader Kenny Roberts of Woodside.

Lawwill's season was marred June 30 when he was knocked from his Harley-Davidson in a 100-mph crash while trying to qualify for the 25-mile National race in San Jose.

At the time, Lawwill charged that Triumph team rider Gary Scott, second in the race and second in the standings, had cut across from the outside to knock Mert's front wheel from under him.

Lawwill suffered "smashed muscles, a back injury and a standard ol' thumpin'," and while he misses no races, he feels now he was "not strong enough to run" in the Colorado Springs, Colo. race the following week.

He tried, and was in second place after two laps, but pulled out when he realized he couldn't sustain the pace.

Last week, in Castle Rock, Wash., Lawwill took another tumble, but this one was not so menacing. "I was second in that one, and was going wide into a turn when I hit a mud slick," he recounted, adding almost laughingly, "I was only goin' about 10 miles an hour at the time."

He has had no more run-ins with Scott, but added that Scott "hasn't had an opportunity (to do anything) because he's been alone most of the time for one reason or another."

Scott has a reputation for rough riding, and allegedly hit early leader Rex Beauchamps, two-time national champion Dick Mann and teammate Gene Romero at San Jose, in addition to Lawwill.

If his list of enemies actually is that large, "it'll backfire on him," in Lawwill's words, in the form of retaliation by other riders.

Meanwhile, Lawwill is concerning himself with adding to his point total and trying to capture his first victory of the year. "I've had a couple of seconds, a couple of near wins," he said. "Actually, it has been a pretty good year, after a slow start."

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Home Run Day For The Tigers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Ask the Detroit Tigers who's the most underrated player on the club and they'll answer in chorus—Mickey Stanley.

Stanley and Duke Sims hit solo homers while Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe each slammed three-run home runs to help Joe Coleman coast to his 15th victory as Detroit trounced Kansas City, 14-4 Wednesday.

Stanley's 11th homer, one of 18 Detroit hits, broke a scoreless tie in the third and he singled home a run in the fourth. But Stanley seemed the most dejected person in the victorious Tiger dressing room. Why?

"I didn't have as good a night as I should've had," Stanley said. "I had a chance for a good night. I'm just not satisfiied with my play this year."

McAuliffe wanted to praise the quiet Stanley instead of talking about himself.

"Mickey is number one in my book," McAuliffe said. "I don't have to say that he's the best there is in the outfield. What's more, he wants to play all the time and I don't think there's anybody who bears down more than he does.

In other American League games, Boston nipped Chicago, 6-1, Minnesota downed New York, 3-0, Milwaukee blanked Texas, 3-0, Baltimore tripped Oakland, 5-2, and Cleveland outlasted California in 11, 10-8.

In the National League, San Francisco topped St. Louis, 8-3, Pittsubrgh nipped Los Angeles, 3-2, Montreal edged Houston in 10, 3-2, San Diego downed Chicago, 8-5, New York trounced Atlanta, 12-2, and Cincinnati stopped St. Louis, 7-3.

Jim Kaat gave up six hits and Tony Oliva stroked a two-run third inning homer to give the Twins their victory over New York.

Kaat stretched his record to 10-9 while Mel Stottlemyre, who set an American League record by starting his 242nd consecutive game without a relief appearance since 1966, suffered his eighth loss against 12 triumphs.

Dave May established a new Milwaukee record by hitting in his 14th consecutive game and his two-run homer, his 17th of the year, provided all the help All-Star Jim Colborn needed to lift the Brewers past Texas.

Colborn improved his record to 13-5 by allowing only five hits. Jim Bibby fanned 13 and allowed only five hits but took the loss to set his record back to 3-4.

Johnny Ellis' two-run homer with two outs in the 11th inning boosted Cleveland over California as the Angels blew 5-0 and 8-3 leads.

Dave Roberts hit two homers and Nate Colbert added one off losing pitcher Ferguson Jenkins to pace San Diego to the victory over Chicago. It was the first time Jenkins has ever lost to San Diego after 13 wins. Clay Kirby went six innings to get the win and Mike Caldwell got the save.

Willie Stargell's 27th home run of the season snapped a 2-2 sixth inning tie and paced Pittsburgh to the win over Los Angeles. The loss ended the Dodgers' win streak at seven. Dock Ellis, who got the victory, said, "we can't win the division every year but we've still got it in us and we have something to prove as a team."

Ontiveros Hikes Batting Average

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — Steve Ontiveros of Phoenix upped his batting average last week, but a couple of other hot hitters managed to close in on him in the battle for Pacific Coast League hitting honors.

Ontiveros is belting .353 while Dan Ford of Tucson is now at .345 and Jim Fairey of Albuquerque is hitting .340.

Gene Martin of Hawaii has 21 homers, but otherwise, Ontiveros dominates the statistical categories.

His 73 runs scored and 76 knocked in are both tops in the league. So are his 118 hits for 203 total bases with 30 doubles and 14 triples.

Hamilton Wins

Hamilton-Loma Verde defeated Fairfax, 5-2, last night in the Senior Little League Tournament at Hamilton Field's diamond. Hamilton is now 2-0 while Fairfax's record in the double-elimination tourney dropped to 1-1.

Softball Tourney Begins Tonight

Eight top softball teams from Northern California will put their won-lost records and egos on the line beginning tonight in the second annual San Rafael-Suburban Auto Pistons Fastpitch Tournament at Albert Field.

One of the favorites is Sargent's of Sacramento, which won the North Pacific Regional in 1971 and 1972 and finished fourth in last year's national championship in Dallas.

The 1970-71-72 state champion, Wilson-Russell Ford of Vallejo, has returned this year, as has Santa Clara's top team, LeBlanc Barons, and San Mateo County's best, the Kings.

New to the tournament are three teams from the Stockton-Merced-Modesto area — Dave Abel Insurance, Happy Steak and the Stockton Merchants. The eighth team is the Suburban Auto Pistons of San Rafael.

The Kings will play Wilson-Russell at 7:30 and Suburban will face Happy Steak at 9 o'clock in tonight's games. Other teams will play at the same time tomorrow night, and the tourney will continue Saturday with games starting at 11:30 a.m. and Sunday with games beginning at 1 p.m. The championship game will be at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Dodgers Dominate All-Star Pitching

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who didn't have one player in the top four at any position in the fans' All-Star balloting, made a comeback Wednesday when Sparky Anderson named the pitching staff for the All-Star game in Kansas City on July 14.

Anderson, the Cincinnati Reds' manager, selected Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Jim Brewer of the Dodgers among the eight pitchers he named for the classic. Anderson is the All-Star manager because the Reds won the NL pennant last year but they're trailing the Dodgers in the NL West this season.

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets is the senior hurler on the N.L. squad for the mid-season classic against the American League. He was selected for the seventh time.

Anderson chose six right-handers —Seaver, Sutton, his own Jack Billingham, Rick Wise of the St. Louis Cardinals, Wayne Twitchell of the Philadelphia Phillies and Dave Giusti of the Pittsburgh Pirates — and southpaws Osteen and Brewer.

Bill Russell, who was fifth in the balloting at shortstop, was the highest Dodger finisher in the fans' balloting as Los Angeles was all but ignored despite the fact that the Dodgers have been leading the Western Division most of the season.

Osteen, on the team for the third time, and Sutton, for the second time, are the only pitchers beside Seaver with previous All-Star experience.

Toby's Wins DiMaggio Game, 4-3

Toby's Truckers scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning last night to take a 4-3 Joe DiMaggio Baseball League game from Holiday Magic at Drake High School.

In another game at Drake last night, Travers Perry fashioned a successful squeeze play to beat Bank of Marin, 6-5.

A Tennis Collision Course

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The $60,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships continued on a week-long collision course, today with young Jimmy Connors scheduled to meet Ray Moore of South Africa in a feature match at Longwood.

Connors, a former UCLA star from Belleveille, Ill., hopes to make a farce of the seedings. He is unseeded as a non-member of World Championship Tennis, the pro group which manipulated the seedings.

Smith and eighth-seeded Tom Gorman have been the only seeded casualties in the tournament so far.

Second-seeded Arthur Ashe, a former U.S. Davis Cup star, advanced easily Tuesday night. Then the players seeded third through seventh moved through second round matches Wednesday.

Third-seeded Marty Riessen ousted Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., 6-4, 7-5, and fourth-seeded John Alexander of Australia survived a struggle in defeating Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Fifth-seeded Cliff Richey easily whipped Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia 6-2, 6-4, sixth-seeded Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y., eliminated Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, and seventh-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., downed Graham Stilwell of Great Britain 6-4, 6-4.

A Tennis Collision Course

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The $60,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships continued on a week-long collision course, today with young Jimmy Connors scheduled to meet Ray Moore of South Africa in a feature match at Longwood.

Connors, a former UCLA star from Belleveille, Ill., hopes to make a farce of the seedings. He is unseeded as a non-member of World Championship Tennis, the pro group which manipulated the seedings.

Smith and eighth-seeded Tom Gorman have been the only seeded casualties in the tournament so far.

Second-seeded Arthur Ashe, a former U.S. Davis Cup star, advanced easily Tuesday night. Then the players seeded third through seventh moved through second round matches Wednesday.

Third-seeded Marty Riessen ousted Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., 6-4, 7-5, and fourth-seeded John Alexander of Australia survived a struggle in defeating Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Fifth-seeded Cliff Richey easily whipped Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia 6-2, 6-4, sixth-seeded Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y., eliminated Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, and seventh-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., downed Graham Stilwell of Great Britain 6-4, 6-4.

Why Not Register Sales Of Poison?

Mill Valley dog owners remain in fear of a poisoner whose lethal bait has been taken by a score or more of dogs, of which at least eight have died.

And Mill Valley police say there is not much they can do about it.

Catching a dog poisoner is very difficult. He can easily drop pieces of poisoned meat undetected. And poison is all too readily available.

According to Ray Gilbert of the Marin County district attorney's office, 50 or 60 types of poison are on the market of which "I would say 99 per cent can be purchased without any permit." This makes tracing the killer through his purchase of poison a virtually hopeless task.

It would even be possible for someone to get rodent poison from the county itself and use it to poison dogs instead.

DOG POISONING is an especially despicable crime. Its victims, more often than not, are dogs that cause no trouble for anyone. A person frightened by a vicious dog or annoyed by a noisy one may be forgiven for shooting it; but the poisoner takes no such direct action. He acts stealthily, slyly, and cares not what animal falls victim.

Even worse, there is always the danger some small child may pick up a piece of poisoned meat — and, since small children are likely to put anything into their mouths, may become the victim.

Such a criminal has few friends. But the difficulty of detection is shown by the fact that rewards totaling $900 for information leading to the Mill Valley poisoner have gone unclaimed.

PERHAPS WHAT is needed is a law requiring registration to buy any poison — like the law that requires registration when purchasing firearms.

At least this would offer some hope of tracing a poisoner. In the Mill Valley cases, all the dogs appear to have taken the bait within one section of town. Tracing poison buyers who live in that section — if registration were required — would be a tremendous task, but not impossible. The effort might be worthwhile in the case of such widespread poisonings, for protection of children as well as to capture the animal killer.

Another approach, of course — and one which Mill Valley is trying with a new leash law — is to require that dogs be confined. This reduces the likelihood of poisoning. But it does not eliminate it. More than one dog has been poisoned in its own yard by some fiend who just hated all canines.

Poison is as lethal as guns. It kills silently, without the killer even being present. Should not its purchase be surrounded by the same restrictions that are applied to purchase of firearms — or even more stringent ones?

The Third Kingdom

When we have warm weather in Marin and Sonoma, many kinds of fungi make an appearance. They are almost as varied as the flowers, ranging from delicate cap mushrooms to large, tough, fan-like growths. Some are edible and some are deadly poison. Most are neither. But it requires expertise acquired by study to be sure which are safely edible. Unless you really know your mushrooms, get them from a store. Cemeteries yawn for those who thought they knew.

Fungi have been called "the third kingdom" because they are obviously not animals, yet they lack the characteristics of other plants. They have no chlorophyll, roots or leaves, and bear little resemblance to the rest of the plant kingdom.

Legislators Not Generous To Retired State Workers

By EARL G. WATERS

While the legislature has been most generous in making provisions for the retirement of its own members, it has been giving retired state workers the short end of the stick.

Legislative retirement grants 75 per cent pay for those with 20 years service. After the program was started, amendments were made to extend benefits to those who had left the legislature prior to the program. And benefits have been adjusted at various times for those who retired at salaries less than now paid.

But the legislature has turned down requests of the State Employees Association to extend current retirement benefits for state workers to those who retired before the most recent change in the program.

THE LATEST such measure to fall by the wayside proposed to adjust benefits for those who retired prior to a 1971 change in the formula. At that time the program was changed from a 1/60th to a 1/50th schedule. While the factors involved in computing benefits are somewhat complicated, the change means basically that where it took 30 years service and age 60 to receive half pay, one now gets the same benefit at age 60 with only 25 years.

To adjust this inequity the employe group proposed a 15 per cent across-the-board increase to all who retired prior to 1971. The bill failed to get Senate Finance approval but the association is hopeful of amending some other bill.

The unfairness stems from the fact that anyone retiring since the new provisions gets the benefits even though he contributed little or nothing to the new formula. One who retired the day before the law took effect gets the old benefits.

STATE EMPLOYE retirement initially was practically on a pay-as-you-go basis. Employe contributions were matched by the state. The earnings of the fund were limited, being deposited at simple interest. But a revision of the law permitted the funds to be invested in securities and stocks. Since then the fund has grown and now is over $5 billion.

It is the contention of many that these capital gains were made with the money deducted from the employes, therefore they should now share in the profits made with their money. They point to the fact that the fund now exceeds the resources of most of the lending institutions in the state and ask how big should it be allowed to grow before earnings are distributed to those whose money was used for the investments.

For many years the philosophy regarding retirees was that there would be no adjustments since they had "made their bargain".

But with inflation, there was a change in attitude and, starting about 1955, cost of living adjustments were instituted for state retired. It is now a prevailing practice in most public employment and in some areas of private industry. The federal government has made adjustments for its employes, railroad workers, and even social security.

In refusing to grant the formula adjustment to the pre-1971 retirees the legislature acted contrary to precedent. In 1947 when the state switched from the 1/70th to the 1/60th formula, all retired employes were automatically included.

"How's that again, young lady?"

No Wonder Couple Rejoined Establishment

My husband and I found it incredible that you could find nothing more newsworthy to report on the front page of your July 12 newspaper than the return to the establishment of two former drop-outs.

However, in our opinion a true return to the fold would involve some contribution to society; i.e., paying taxes, etc. So far this couple has utilized the facilities of our tax-supported College of Marin on the GI Bill, with the added bonus of food stamps. No wonder they wanted to come back to the establishment — we take such good care of them!

Bolinas Dog Killing Circumstances Described

Since your articles of July 10 and 14, my fellow officers and I have become the center of much criticism and ridicule concerning a "possibly rabid dog" in Bolinas July 4. Most of these accusations are based on lack of information about the incident.

The situation was that Bolinas Fire Chief Silva and I were approached by three highly excited citizens stating that a large "rabid dog" had just gone into a nearby field. Parents were grabbing their children and hiding them in cars and houses. The chief and I, following reports from citizens, located the dog on Olema-Bolinas road where traffic had stopped to avoid the animal. The dog was then staggering in slow motion, almost falling, frothing, drooling and acting without mental facilities. The dog's behavior was observed for several minutes as I walked toward him. The dog appeared to be a stray because of no collar of license (a license would have proven rabies shots and saved the dog's life). Because of the rural terrain and lack of protective restraints, the dog was necessarily shot to prevent its escape and possible contamination of others to rabies.

During the next two hours much effort was made locating the dog's owner, and keeping other dogs and sightseers away from the suspected infected animal. (Because of the holiday, the Humane Society was not able to arrive for almost two hours.) When the owner was found, she was questioned at length concerning the dog's recent behavior, medical history and activities. Though upset over the death of her pet, she was cooperative and understanding. She was greatly concerned, as was I, that the dog had been playing with children and tourists since 10 a.m. It was now 7:15 p.m. The proportions of the possible contamination were horrifying, particularly in respect to our current local tragedy. At the time I expressed regret over killing the dog and in fact hoped that the dog did not have rabies because of the obvious mass exposure to the dreaded disease.

The dog was procedurally turned over the Humane Society for delivery to county health department for autopsy. The result of which, five days later, reported the dog not to be infected. By conjecture then, the dog was presumed under the influence of alcohol, or nervous distemper.

My purpose in writing, is to show that sheriff's officers are not as heartless, bloodthirsty, or thoughtless as we are being portrayed by certain critics. My duty, as would any police officer, lay in protecting the immediate safety and well being of the community we serve. The symptoms were regretably mistaken, but the facts left no other choices considering the extreme danger apparently at hand.

Reason For Marin County Tenants Union

On July 12, your paper printed an announcement stating that I had called a meeting of the Marin City Tenants' Association for that same night. As you know, I called you on July 13 to explain that my name had been given without my permission and that I was in no way connected with the Marin City Tenants' Association and I requested that you print a retraction.

I don't feel that you have explained in your paper enough for the tenants who I am working with to understand. I am president of the Marin County Public Housing Tenants Union, Inc., a legal entity established in 1970.

While the Marin City Tenants' Association is just sitting around attacking the Housing Authority, the people in public housing are the ones who are suffering. You have to live in those houses to know what the needs are. Some folks in the public housing apartments are afraid to speak out for themselves because they feel intimidated by interfering non-residents. That is why this union was started in the first place. They wanted to have a voice in matters concerning their housing and the community where they live.

If the Marin City Council would do the right thing by getting together and working with the Housing Authority and the public housing tenants rather than just making noise, they might be a benefit rather than a detriment to progress. . .

I would like to make it plain that the Housing Authority is not responsible for providing income to tenants. Rent is charged to tenants by the Housing Authority based on the incomes they receive from various sources. It is the tenants' responsibility to budget their money so that rent will be paid on time every month. As long as income is received there should be no reason why rent is not paid. If a tenant has any change in income, he is to notify the Housing Authority immediately so that his rent will conform to his income.

Corporate Campaign Contributions Another Sidelight Of Watergate

WASHINGTON — The long, long trail winding out of Watergate has no foreseeable end. Along the way are prosecutions so numerous and time-consuming that Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox will have to come back for more than the $2.8 million he is requesting.

One guide to the road ahead is the still-secret list of contributors to the Nixon campaign prior to April 7 when the law required public disclosure. The list is starred with the names of big corporations and counsel to those corporations have taken due note of the criminal penalties that can be levied against officers and directors for violation of present campaign laws. Shudders of apprehension are running through respectable board rooms.

On the list are more than 2,000 individual and corporate names. Four copies are known to exist as provided by Rose Mary Woods, who was promoted from personal secretary to executive assistant to the President a few days before it became known that she was the keeper of the list.

One copy is in Cox's possession. Another is sealed in the court action brought by Common Cause, with John Gardner and other participants enjoined against any disclosure. Samuel Dash, chief counsel to the Watergate investigating committee, has a copy. Still another copy is in the United States district attorney's office in New York awaiting criminal proceedings in some cases.

THOSE WHO HAVE seen the list say there are literally dozens of corporate contributors with some resemblance to American Airlines. George A. Spater, chairman of American, realizing the bind the company was in, came forward to admit contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign of $75,00. The money had been solicited by Herbert W. Kalmbach, then President Nixon's personal attorney, at a time when American was seeking approval of a merger with Western Airlines.

Of the $75,000, $20,000 came out of what Spater called "noncorporate" funds. The balance, however, was corporate money and in direct violation of the law. Under the law any officer or director can be liable for criminal penalties.

Many of the corporate contributors, it is believed by those who have studied the list, skirted the law. They did this by what has been aptly called "home laundering" of the money given to campaign solicitors. Company officers, including those fairly far down the line, are tapped for contributions which they give allegedly as individuals. Then the company reimburses the individuals through Christmas bonuses or temporary wage increases covering the income tax on the added compensation as well as the principal contributed to a political campaign. Both political parties have in the past sanctioned this practice. It is one of the most corrupting forms of business tie-in to government favors.

COX IS SAID to be studying the possibility of ferreting out this kind of evasion of the present law. Even though the shredders are probably already at work destroying records that might be available to prosecutors following the American Airlines confession, action against corporations on the list — however carefully they may have laundered their contributions — is not ruled out.

Confession is not only good for the soul but, as Cox noted, is encouragement to others to step up to the mourners' bench and thereby hope for more lenient treatment. The airlines case has similarities to that of high-flying financier Robert L. Vesco. Vesco, who has now fled the country, is charged with having made a secret contribution of $200,000 in cash to the Nixon campaign. For their part in that deal, former campaign director John N. Mitchell and treasurer Maurice Stans have been indicted on three counts of conspiring to obstruct justice and six counts of perjury.

The way in which the secret list has been handled — or mishandled — is of a piece with the backing and filling, the denial and counterdenial, of the White House through the whole ghastly Watergate mess. Putting out the entire list would have made it a three- or four-day story and the White House could have done this, since the court injunction on secrecy applies only to those involved in the case.

As it is, new sensations will dribble out like the American Airlines confession. Each one will produce new headlines and start the whole business up again. These are some of the signboards on the cluttered trail out of the sorry past.

Nixon-Brezhnev Chumminess Has Western Europe Worried

Leonid Brezhnev left Washington in a glow of new Soviet-American comradeship a few weeks ago. What it means to West Europe has been troubling the West Europeans ever since. It still does, which is the explanation of the sudden and unexpected appearance of the West German foreign minister, Walter Scheel, at the White House the afternoon of July 12.

This was the second, not the first, hasty reconnaissance trip to Nixon-land following the Nixon-Brezhnev "summit." The French were the first off the mark. Their foreign minister, Michel Jobert, was winging to San Clemente almost immediately after Mr. Brezhnev reached Europe on his way home. President Pompidou of France, it seems, not only wanted to hear the story from Mr. Brezhnev in Paris, but also to get the Nixon version of the story via Mr. Jobert.

The British, less conspicuously, have been asking questions and picking up bits and pieces of information.

THE VERY CHUMMINESS of Mr. Brezhnev's American visit was of course a major reason. It may all have been largely atmospherics, as some critics alleged at the time, but it was a novel variety of atmospherics for people long conditioned by the "cold war" to a different tone in Soviet-American relations.

Here in the Nixon-Brezhnev summit we had the top political men of the two great military powers behaving like a pair of millionaires getting together in their exclusive club to enjoy the society of their own kind. The overtones were of people who can understand each other sheltering from the ordinary run of mankind who can't understand. The old allies were like the poor trying to get a peek at their betters through the club windows from outside.

And since the new-found friends parted, Americans have done something which added to the uneasiness in the capitals of Western Europe. The American delegation at the NATO-Warsaw pact conference in Vienna withdrew from its long-standing insistence on use of the word "balanced" in the formula for future talks about troop withdrawals from Europe.

For years NATO has been ready to negotiate "mutual and balanced" force withdrawals. Moscow has been ready to negotiate "mutual" force withdrawals. Until June 28 of this year, NATO never had been willing to drop the word "balanced" from the formula. Now it has gone. Formal negotiations are to begin on Oct. 30 on "mutual" force withdrawals. The Americans gave in on the word "balanced" after Mr. Brezhnev had enjoyed Mr. Nixon's hospitality at Camp David and San Clemente.

DOES IT MATTER — dropping that one word?

That all depends on how the negotiations work out. If the Russians are going to agree in the end to withdrawals which are fair to the NATO allies, then balance can be achieved without using the word. Perhaps the word was an unnecessary obstacle to a negotiation. Time only can tell. But, if one happens to be a West European prime minister, one is entitled to ask questions and want to know more than appeared in the official text of the Nixon-Brezhnev communique.

So what does one do about it? One sends the foreign minister over for a quick look-see. The French were first. Now the Germans have done it, too.

WHAT WERE THEY looking for?

Obviously, fresh answers to old questions such as: Will Congress force the President to start bringing American troops back from Germany? But also answers to some fresh questions: Has Watergate reduced Mr. Nixon's effectiveness in foreign affairs? Was Mr. Nixon so eager to score a public relations coup out of the Brezhnev visit that he made concessions to the disadvantage of old allies? Is Soviet-American friendship now a more powerful fact in world affairs than the old alliances?

It would be fascinating to be able to listen in when Mr. Scheel makes his report to Chancellor Willy Brandt.

We regret that we cannot yet give our readers a report on that report.

Bolinas Dog Killing Circumstances Described

Since your articles of July 10 and 14, my fellow officers and I have become the center of much criticism and ridicule concerning a "possibly rabid dog" in Bolinas July 4. Most of these accusations are based on lack of information about the incident.

Reason For Marin County Tenants Union

On July 12, your paper printed an announcement stating that I had called a meeting of the Marin City Tenants' Association for that same night. I would like to make it plain that the Housing Authority is not responsible for providing income to tenants. Rent is charged to tenants by the Housing Authority based on the incomes they receive from various sources. It is the tenants' responsibility to budget their money so that rent will be paid on time every month. As long as income is received there should be no reason why rent is not paid. If a tenant has any change in income, he is to notify the Housing Authority immediately so that his rent will conform to his income.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Writing indignant letters to the editor may not be the greatest hobby in the world but it beats complaining to your wife.

And it's better than calling the cops.

A friend of mine takes a large number of publications just so he can cancel a subscription whenever he reads something he doesn't like.

In the horse-and-buggy days, folks offered to horsewhip the editor. Now they just want to fix his wagon.

This is known as freedom with the press.

Corporate Campaign Contributions Another Sidelight Of Watergate

WASHINGTON — The long, long trail winding out of Watergate has no foreseeable end. Along the way are prosecutions so numerous and time-consuming that Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox will have to come back for more than the $2.8 million he is requesting.

One guide to the road ahead is the still-secret list of contributors to the Nixon campaign prior to April 7 when the law required public disclosure. The list is starred with the names of big corporations and counsel to those corporations have taken due note of the criminal penalties that can be levied against officers and directors for violation of present campaign laws. Shudders of apprehension are running through respectable board rooms.

On the list are more than 2,000 individual and corporate names. Four copies are known to exist as provided by Rose Mary Woods, who was promoted from personal secretary to executive assistant to the President a few days before it became known that she was the keeper of the list.

One copy is in Cox's possession. Another is sealed in the court action brought by Common Cause, with John Gardner and other participants enjoined against any disclosure. Samuel Dash, chief counsel to the Watergate investigating committee, has a copy. Still another copy is in the United States district attorney's office in New York awaiting criminal proceedings in some cases.

THOSE WHO HAVE seen the list say there are literally dozens of corporate contributors with some resemblance to American Airlines. George A. Spater, chairman of American, realizing the bind the company was in, came forward to admit contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign of $75,00. The money had been solicited by Herbert W. Kalmbach, then President Nixon's personal attorney, at a time when American was seeking approval of a merger with Western Airlines.

Of the $75,000, $20,000 came out of what Spater called "noncorporate" funds. The balance, however, was corporate money and in direct violation of the law. Under the law any officer or director can be liable for criminal penalties.

Many of the corporate contributors, it is believed by those who have studied the list, skirted the law. They did this by what has been aptly called "home laundering" of the money given to campaign solicitors. Company officers, including those fairly far down the line, are tapped for contributions which they give allegedly as individuals. Then the company reimburses the individuals through Christmas bonuses or temporary wage increases covering the income tax on the added compensation as well as the principal contributed to a political campaign. Both political parties have in the past sanctioned this practice. It is one of the most corrupting forms of business tie-in to government favors.

COX IS SAID to be studying the possibility of ferreting out this kind of evasion of the present law. Even though the shredders are probably already at work destroying records that might be available to prosecutors following the American Airlines confession, action against corporations on the list — however carefully they may have laundered their contributions — is not ruled out.

Confession is not only good for the soul but, as Cox noted, is encouragement to others to step up to the mourners' bench and thereby hope for more lenient treatment. The airlines case has similarities to that of high-flying financier Robert L. Vesco. Vesco, who has now fled the country, is charged with having made a secret contribution of $200,000 in cash to the Nixon campaign. For their part in that deal, former campaign director John N. Mitchell and treasurer Maurice Stans have been indicted on three counts of conspiring to obstruct justice and six counts of perjury.

The way in which the secret list has been handled — or mishandled — is of a piece with the backing and filling, the denial and counterdenial, of the White House through the whole ghastly Watergate mess. Putting out the entire list would have made it a three- or four-day story and the White House could have done this, since the court injunction on secrecy applies only to those involved in the case.

As it is, new sensations will dribble out like the American Airlines confession. Each one will produce new headlines and start the whole business up again. These are some of the signboards on the cluttered trail out of the sorry past.

Nixon-Brezhnev Chumminess Has Western Europe Worried

Leonid Brezhnev left Washington in a glow of new Soviet-American comradeship a few weeks ago. What it means to West Europe has been troubling the West Europeans ever since. It still does, which is the explanation of the sudden and unexpected appearance of the West German foreign minister, Walter Scheel, at the White House the afternoon of July 12.

This was the second, not the first, hasty reconnaissance trip to Nixon-land following the Nixon-Brezhnev "summit." The French were the first off the mark. Their foreign minister, Michel Jobert, was winging to San Clemente almost immediately after Mr. Brezhnev reached Europe on his way home. President Pompidou of France, it seems, not only wanted to hear the story from Mr. Brezhnev in Paris, but also to get the Nixon version of the story via Mr. Jobert.

The British, less conspicuously, have been asking questions and picking up bits and pieces of information.

THE VERY CHUMMINESS of Mr. Brezhnev's American visit was of course a major reason. It may all have been largely atmospherics, as some critics alleged at the time, but it was a novel variety of atmospherics for people long conditioned by the "cold war" to a different tone in Soviet-American relations.

Here in the Nixon-Brezhnev summit we had the top political men of the two great military powers behaving like a pair of millionaires getting together in their exclusive club to enjoy the society of their own kind. The overtones were of people who can understand each other sheltering from the ordinary run of mankind who can't understand. The old allies were like the poor trying to get a peek at their betters through the club windows from outside.

And since the new-found friends parted, Americans have done something which added to the uneasiness in the capitals of Western Europe. The American delegation at the NATO-Warsaw pact conference in Vienna withdrew from its long-standing insistence on use of the word "balanced" in the formula for future talks about troop withdrawals from Europe.

For years NATO has been ready to negotiate "mutual and balanced" force withdrawals. Moscow has been ready to negotiate "mutual" force withdrawals. Until June 28 of this year, NATO never had been willing to drop the word "balanced" from the formula. Now it has gone. Formal negotiations are to begin on Oct. 30 on "mutual" force withdrawals. The Americans gave in on the word "balanced" after Mr. Brezhnev had enjoyed Mr. Nixon's hospitality at Camp David and San Clemente.

DOES IT MATTER — dropping that one word?

That all depends on how the negotiations work out. If the Russians are going to agree in the end to withdrawals which are fair to the NATO allies, then balance can be achieved without using the word. Perhaps the word was an unnecessary obstacle to a negotiation. Time only can tell. But, if one happens to be a West European prime minister, one is entitled to ask questions and want to know more than appeared in the official text of the Nixon-Brezhnev communique.

So what does one do about it? One sends the foreign minister over for a quick look-see. The French were first. Now the Germans have done it, too.

WHAT WERE THEY looking for?

Obviously, fresh answers to old questions such as: Will Congress force the President to start bringing American troops back from Germany? But also answers to some fresh questions: Has Watergate reduced Mr. Nixon's effectiveness in foreign affairs? Was Mr. Nixon so eager to score a public relations coup out of the Brezhnev visit that he made concessions to the disadvantage of old allies? Is Soviet-American friendship now a more powerful fact in world affairs than the old alliances?

It would be fascinating to be able to listen in when Mr. Scheel makes his report to Chancellor Willy Brandt.

We regret that we cannot yet give our readers a report on that report.

How Far Should Grandmother Go For President Nixon?

WASHINGTON — Before the presidential election in 1972, Charles Colson, who had the reputation as the most ruthless man in the White House, said he would run over his grandmother, if necessary, to get Richard Nixon re-elected President of the United States.

Not much has been heard of Mr. Colson's grandmother since November, 1972, and I've been wondering about her.

THIS SCENE KEEPS going around in my mind.

Colson drives up to his grandmother's house in his 1973 Buick, parks in the driveway and goes to the door.

His grandmother, still on crutches from the '72 election, answers the knock.

"How are you, Granny?" Colson asks, kissing her on the cheek.

"I'm coming along fine. The ribs are mending, and the doctor says my hip should be healed in a matter of months. I must say, Charles, when you ran over me with your car, you really ran over me."

"Now don't start complaining again, Granny. You know as well as I do that the President's re-election depended on my running over you."

"CHARLES, I NEVER asked you this before, but did President Nixon know you ran over me to get him re-elected?"

"No, he didn't, Granny. I never told him and he never asked me."

"Why not?"

"I thought it best that he not know. Running over a person, even if it's your own grandmother, is considered a crime, and had the President known, he would have had to lower the boom on somebody."

"Did John Dean know you ran over me?"

"It was his idea. Any crime committed in the White House in the last five years originated with John Dean."

"WHEN DID the President first find out I had been run over?"

"As far as I can recollect at this point in time, it was either on Dec. 21 or March 22 of 1972 or 1973. He was very upset about it and made a statement that the running over of people's grandmothers had no place in the American political system."

"Did he ask you at any time if you had run over me?"

"Not exactly. He just said, 'Bob tells me you're doing a good job, Charles.' "

"And from that you deduced he was upset?"

"It was a feeling I had. Haldeman just winked at me so I figured the President knew about it.

"Granny, I don't have much time. I have to go before another grand jury. But what I came to see you about is this. President Nixon is in a lot of trouble. As you know, although I am no longer in the White House, my loyalty toward him has never wavered. I am determined that he survive Watergate no matter what it costs."

"YOU'RE A FINE boy, Charles. Loyalty has always been a Colson trait.What do you plan to do to save the President?"

"Granny, would you step out in the driveway for just a moment?"

"Oh no, you don't, Charles! I'm not going to fall for that one again."

"I promise to be careful this time, Granny. I'll make sure you only wind up with a couple of bruises."

"Charles, no one loves the office of the presidency more than I do, and no one prays more ardently that the President can get out of Watergate intact. But I did my share when I got Mr. Nixon re-elected. I see no reason why I have to be run over again, just to keep him from being impeached."

"For God's sake, Granny, what are grandmothers for?"

Priest Bothered By Love Letters

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — A tall, dark and handsome Roman Catholic priest halted his sermon long enough yesterday to ask a woman parishioner to stop sending him love letters.

Rio de Janeiro newspapers said the Rev. Fernando Guimaraes said the woman was using children as messengers to carry letters the priest said contained a "pure and starry eyed romanticism."

"Stop sending the letters," he said after interrupting his sermon, "because my vocation is the priesthood and I am not going to give up my cassock because of these approaches."

Guimaraes told his congregation the woman was seated in the church but said he would not embarrass her by identifying her by name.

Jet Engine Firm Gets Better Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has agreed to pay an extra $3 million for engines for its new F15 fighter, giving the contractor a better chance to make a profit on a trouble-plagued program.

One Air Force source said that without the price increase the costs already incurred by Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., the manufacturer of the engines, would have put the company in a position where it could "hardly make a cent of profit."

In return, Pratt & Whitney has accepted a number of new contract conditions designed to head off potential problems throughout the F15 program, which could prove costly to the company if its engine development difficulties continue into the future.

These conditions, the Air Force said yesterday include:

Agreement to stick to the original delivery schedule, even though the development program is running more than seven months behind schedule. Engines already are being delivered, subject to future modifications, to support the F15 flight test program.

Agreement to wait until after a flawed 150-hour endurance test has been repeated before claiming to have met contractual requirements for moving the engine program into the production phase.

Agreement to accept limited funding until the endurance test is successfully completed. The Air Force once called these funds "production" payments, but now has backed away from that term.

Agreement to limit claims against the government to $34 million if the Defense Department cancels the engine program.

The contract modifications were issued Tuesday. One Air Force source described them as "a realistic compromise, given the situation."

The main Air Force contribution to the compromise was to raise the ceiling price for 72 engines from $113.2 million to $116.2 million. Under the type of contract held by Pratt & Whitney, the difference between the contractor's actual costs and the ceiling price determines the contractor's profit.

The F15 engine problems began in February, when the engine failed the 150-hour endurance test required before it could be ordered into production.

In April, however, the engine passed a repeat of the test after the Air Force eliminated some problem-causing speed and altitude requirements. Pratt & Whitney assumed this test success qualified the engine for production under the terms of the contract.

The Defense Department, however, disagreed and limited the amount of F15 funding the Air Force could pay out until the test was run again at its original specifications using an improved engine. After several failures, this repeat is now scheduled to be completed Sept. 30.

No Tickets Fixed For Companies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Corporations owe San Francisco about $1 million in parking fines and they're going to be prosecuted just like individuals, a city official vows.

Traffic Court Commissioner Lewis Johnson says that each Friday will be "corporation day" to clean up 5,000 unpaid citations issued to businesses.

Johnson, newly appointed to his job, said, "The corporations will have to realize they're just like other people and can't get away with it just because they're big."

Green Stamp Cash Policy Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a move potentially worth more than $200 million to American consumers, the makers of S&H Green stamps have agreed to start redeeming the stamps for $2 cash per book.

Such cash redemption is currently available in only 20 states, where the amount varies from $1.20 to $2 per book. But under a consent order tentatively accepted by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) yesterday the redemption starting at 50 cents per 300 stamps will be available nationwide, except for Kansas, where trading stamps are illegal.

An estimated 32 million American families collect trading stamps. S&H stamps alone are distributed by 50,000 retailers from 60,000 outlets. S&H stamp revenue in 1972 amounted to $363 million.

There were 117,359,000 books of S&H stamps rededmed last year. Had they been turned in for $2 each, they would have been worth $234,718,000.

Wage Reports Deadline Noted

Marin employers were reminded today by Harry W. Thomas, auditor-in-charge for the state Department of Human Resources Development in San Rafael, that July 31 is the deadline for filing California unemployment insurance wage reports and report of personal income withheld for the second quarter of 1973.

Employers who fail to file such report and pay second quarter taxes on or before July 31, will reduce their chances of receiving a lower rate next year, Thomas said.

Those needing additional information may call his office at 807 E Street.

Gas Availability Is Improving But Nights, Sundays Still Bad

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The continuing pattern of night and Sunday closings remains the major problem for travelers according to the weekly report today by the California State Automobile Association on gasoline availability through July 26.

The association reports that in most areas the situation is slightly improved for gas availability but nighttime and Sunday closings remain a problem in many areas.

The San Francisco area, coastal highways and inland routes through central valleys all report near normal conditions during daylight hours. Bay Area suburbs, coastal routes north of Santa Rosa and south of San Jose and the Sacramento area all have few 24-hour stations.

Highways to the east also report no daytime problems but few stations are open between Oakland and Sacramento and in the Sierra Nevada at night.

The problem of long distances between stations in Nevada has been improved by a greater number of stations open during the night. Both Interstate 80 and U.S. Highway 95 throug the central part of the stat have night stations to accom modate traveling after dark.

The association's report fron Southern California is fo slightly improved condition but nighttime driving is stil difficult in the southern third o the state.

Suit Threatened By Beauty Queen

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — An attorney for Miss Florida, Ellen Meade, said yesterday he might bring a civil suit if a department store did not drop shoplifting charges against the girl.

Lawyer Bob Thompson said that the earliest trial date he could get for the girl was Aug. 21, just a week before the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

"The rigamarole of a trial would cause damage that couldn't be resolved short of a civil suit," Thompson said.

A representative for Maas Brother's department store said the management "felt sorry" for Ellen and "wished it never happened." He said there was a 50-50 chance the charges would be dropped.

Kidney Patient Problem Found

NEW YORK (UPI) — Patients undergoing treatment on artificial kidney machines may develop deficiencies of an enzyme essential for body growth and proper functioning of the nervous system, it was reported today.

Three Stanford University researchers said in a report to the annual meeting of the American Association of Clinical Chemists that the condition could be corrected by doses of a vitamin called pyridoxine, B6.

The researchers, Drs. Paul L. Wolff, Norman Coplon, and Alan S. Coulson, and technologist Dorothy Williams, said that without the vitamin patients can develop neurological disturbances, anemia, kidney stones, or dermatitis.

Some 10,000 Americans are currently kept alive on kidney machines.

His Loan Denied, He Grabs Money

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Leroy Thomas asked the National Newark and Essex Bank for a $50,000 loan and was turned down.

On his way out of the bank yesterday police said Thomas saw Brinks guards taking $25,000 packed in bags from the bank to their armored truck.

Police said Thomas tried to grab one of the bags and a guard scuffled with him. Thomas grabbed the guard's .38 caliber service revolver and two guards and Thomas were shot, according to police.

The guards, Daniel Kramer and Victor J. Fiore, were in fair condition at Martland Medical Center. Thomas was in serious condition with a wound in the stomach.

Train Derails, 2 Crewmen Hurt

CHICO (UPI) — Nineteen cars of a Southern Pacific freight train derailed two miles north of here early today, injuring two crewmen, blocking a major inland rail artery and spilling loads of liquid fertilizer and crude oil.

Southern Pacific's chief dispatcher in Roseville said the cause of the derailment was unknown.

The crewmen, a conductor and brakeman, suffered only minor injuries, he said.

The derailment occurred at about 4 a.m. and was expected to block the north-south rail line for 12 hours.

Obituary Appears In Advertisement

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bargain hunters reading grocery ads in yesterday's States-Item found an obituary for John Schwegmann's poodle.

"Miss Gigi's" portrait appeared between sale prices for round steak and 1966 vintage chianti wine in a Schwegmann supermarket ad, and the dog was described as "a good mother, an excellent watchdog and a faithful friend."

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, July 19, the 200th day of 1973 with 165 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Samuel Colt, American inventor of automatic firearms, was born July 19, 1814.

On this day in history:

In 1848, "bloomers," a radical departure in women's dress, were introduced to the delegates of the first woman's rights convention in Seneca Falls, N.Y. They were named after Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer.

In 1870, the Franco-Prussian War began.

In 1918, the end of World War I approached as German armies began retreating across the Marne River in France.

In 1941, the World War II "V for Victory" campaign began in Europe.

A thought for the day: British statesman Winston Churchill said, "The V sign is the symbol of the unconquerable will of the (German) occupied territories and a portent of the fate awaiting Nazi tyranny."

Kidney Patient Problem Found

NEW YORK (UPI) — Patients undergoing treatment on artificial kidney machines may develop deficiencies of an enzyme essential for body growth and proper functioning of the nervous system, it was reported today.

Three Stanford University researchers said in a report to the annual meeting of the American Association of Clinical Chemists that the condition could be corrected by doses of a vitamin called pyridoxine, B6.

The researchers, Drs. Paul L. Wolff, Norman Coplon, and Alan S. Coulson, and technologist Dorothy Williams, said that without the vitamin patients can develop neurological disturbances, anemia, kidney stones, or dermatitis.

Some 10,000 Americans are currently kept alive on kidney machines.

His Loan Denied, He Grabs Money

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Leroy Thomas asked the National Newark and Essex Bank for a $50,000 loan and was turned down.

On his way out of the bank yesterday police said Thomas saw Brinks guards taking $25,000 packed in bags from the bank to their armored truck.

Police said Thomas tried to grab one of the bags and a guard scuffled with him. Thomas grabbed the guard's .38 caliber service revolver and two guards and Thomas were shot, according to police.

The guards, Daniel Kramer and Victor J. Fiore, were in fair condition at Martland Medical Center. Thomas was in serious condition with a wound in the stomach.

Train Derails, 2 Crewmen Hurt

CHICO (UPI) — Nineteen cars of a Southern Pacific freight train derailed two miles north of here early today, injuring two crewmen, blocking a major inland rail artery and spilling loads of liquid fertilizer and crude oil.

Southern Pacific's chief dispatcher in Roseville said the cause of the derailment was unknown.

The crewmen, a conductor and brakeman, suffered only minor injuries, he said.

The derailment occurred at about 4 a.m. and was expected to block the north-south rail line for 12 hours.

Obituary Appears In Advertisement

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bargain hunters reading grocery ads in yesterday's States-Item found an obituary for John Schwegmann's poodle.

"Miss Gigi's" portrait appeared between sale prices for round steak and 1966 vintage chianti wine in a Schwegmann supermarket ad, and the dog was described as "a good mother, an excellent watchdog and a faithful friend."

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, July 19, the 200th day of 1973 with 165 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Samuel Colt, American inventor of automatic firearms, was born July 19, 1814.

On this day in history:

In 1848, "bloomers," a radical departure in women's dress, were introduced to the delegates of the first woman's rights convention in Seneca Falls, N.Y. They were named after Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer.

In 1870, the Franco-Prussian War began.

In 1918, the end of World War I approached as German armies began retreating across the Marne River in France.

In 1941, the World War II "V for Victory" campaign began in Europe.

A thought for the day: British statesman Winston Churchill said, "The V sign is the symbol of the unconquerable will of the (German) occupied territories and a portent of the fate awaiting Nazi tyranny."

Orphan Duo Sues County On Eviction

Two recently orphaned Tiburon teen-agers and their guardian have filed suit in Marin Superior Court for $54,000 damages they say the girls suffered when Marin officials wrongfully evicted them from their home.

The officials, who work in the county's public administrator department, ejected Cheryl Ann and Deborah Jean Cohen from their home at 488 Irving Court only eight days after their divorced father, Charles Ted Cohen, died while visiting relatives in Los Angeles, according to the suit.

The officials then carted away all the furniture and personal goods belonging to the Cohen girls, the suit says, forcing the girls to split up, rely on the charity of friends and neighbors and depriving them of their house for 83 days.

According to attorney Harry E. Rice, who represents the Cohens and their half-brother, Harbert J. Borden of Santa Rosa, who also is their guardian, the girls were told by unnamed employees of the administrator's office they had no right to live in the house.

The Public Administrator, Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, had been appointed guardian of Cohen's estate in the absence of a request by other relatives of Cohen, Rice said, but later Borden applied for and was granted the guardianship. Then the girls were allowed to return to their home.

The suit asks $3,984 damages for the eviction plus $50,000 general damages for the "traumatic effect" of the county's action, said Rice. The family house ultimately was sold and the girls have moved from Tiburon, Rice said.

Marinites Become U.S. Citizens

Twelve Marin residents were among persons naturalized in ceremonies last month in the U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

They are:

MILL VALLEY — Rodolfo Antonio Castillo, 33 Strawberry Circle; Yolanda Felix, 451 Marin Drive.

NOVATO — Hassan Ibrahim El-Bietar, 20 Roca Court; Rosalie McDonald, 1120 San Jose Boulevard; Dimitri and Radka Demushkin, 13 Montego Key.

POINT REYES STATION — Edna May and Gary Leon Lomheim, 15 Lorraine Avenue.

SAN ANSELMO — Shiro Ikegawa, 273 Butterfield Road.

SAN RAFAEL — Ethel Patricia Cwendoline Lyon, 100 Bayo Vista Way; Jeremiah Christopher Hayes, St. Vincent School for Boys; Julia Rosalind Kelly, 119 Nova Albion Way.

TIBURON — Erika Maria Harkins, 3 Janet Way.

Budget Is Set; Novato School Tax Vote Off

The Novato Unified School District board has canceled a special tax election and also adopted a $11,590,826 publication budget for fiscal 1973-74.

The election which had been set for July 31 to ask a one-year tax rate increase of up to $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation was canceled because the district will get necessary money from the state.

The publication budget showed an increase of $870,272 in income more than in the $10,720,554 preliminary budget. This increase was due to additional federal, state and local money which the district will get, according to Asst. Supt. Eugene De Brecht.

The operating tax rate will drop by about 60 cents, but there probably will be an increase in bond and debt retirement, making the tax rate somewhere around 30 to 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation lower than this year's rate of $5.13, said Supt. James G. Bunker.

The board on Tuesday set 5 p.m. Aug. 10 at the lecture A hall in Novato High School for a special meeting for a public hearing on the budget, and to award contracts for an addition to the auto mechanics building at Novato High School and a gardening and equipment shed.

Homes Sought For Students

Marin County homes for Japanese and French students due in the county on a Reader's Digest program in less than three weeks are being sought by the Marin coordinator, Mrs. Donald Klink of Tiburon.

She said that about 30 homes for the young people are needed during the month of August. Sponsors may be families or single people, she said, and they need only provide shelter and food for the visitors. They also may choose students of particular backgrounds if they wish.

Those wishing to take in the foreign students may contact Mrs. Klink at 303 Trestle Glen Drive.

Barbecued Lamb

This week, food editor Marilyn Hansen prepares a barbecue that's a little different. "When we think of barbecue," says Marilyn, "we think of beef. But lamb is delicious grilled over an open fire. In this recipe, the whole leg of lamb is boned and marinated, to insure juicy slices with a just-right charcoal flavor."

Barbecued Lamb

This week, food editor Marilyn Hansen prepares a barbecue that's a little different. "When we think of barbecue," says Marilyn, "we think of beef. But lamb is delicious grilled over an open fire. In this recipe, the whole leg of lamb is boned and marinated, to insure juicy slices with a just-right charcoal flavor."

Look for "Marilyn's Menu," Family Weekly Kitchen-Tested Recipes and step-by-step instructions for a complete backyard treat.

Budget Is Set; Novato School Tax Vote Off

The Novato Unified School District board has canceled a special tax election and also adopted a $11,590,826 publication budget for fiscal 1973-74.

The election which had been set for July 31 to ask a one-year tax rate increase of up to $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation was canceled because the district will get necessary money from the state.

The publication budget showed an increase of $870,272 in income more than in the $10,720,554 preliminary budget. This increase was due to additional federal, state and local money which the district will get, according to Asst. Supt. Eugene De Brecht.

The operating tax rate will drop by about 60 cents, but there probably will be an increase in bond and debt retirement, making the tax rate somewhere around 30 to 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation lower than this year's rate of $5.13, said Supt. James G. Bunker.

The board on Tuesday set 5 p.m. Aug. 10 at the lecture A hall in Novato High School for a special meeting for a public hearing on the budget, and to award contracts for an addition to the auto mechanics building at Novato High School and a gardening and equipment shed.

Homes Sought For Students

Marin County homes for Japanese and French students due in the county on a Reader's Digest program in less than three weeks are being sought by the Marin coordinator, Mrs. Donald Klink of Tiburon.

She said that about 30 homes for the young people are needed during the month of August. Sponsors may be families or single people, she said, and they need only provide shelter and food for the visitors. They also may choose students of particular backgrounds if they wish.

Those wishing to take in the foreign students may contact Mrs. Klink at 303 Trestle Glen Drive.

Orphan Duo Sues County On Eviction

Two recently orphaned Tiburon teen-agers and their guardian have filed suit in Marin Superior Court for $54,000 damages they say the girls suffered when Marin officials wrongfully evicted them from their home.

The officials, who work in the county's public administrator department, ejected Cheryl Ann and Deborah Jean Cohen from their home at 488 Irving Court only eight days after their divorced father, Charles Ted Cohen, died while visiting relatives in Los Angeles, according to the suit.

The officials then carted away all the furniture and personal goods belonging to the Cohen girls, the suit says, forcing the girls to split up, rely on the charity of friends and neighbors and depriving them of their house for 83 days.

According to attorney Harry E. Rice, who represents the Cohens and their half-brother, Harbert J. Borden of Santa Rosa, who also is their guardian, the girls were told by unnamed employees of the administrator's office they had no right to live in the house.

The Public Administrator, Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, had been appointed guardian of Cohen's estate in the absence of a request by other relatives of Cohen, Rice said, but later Borden applied for and was granted the guardianship. Then the girls were allowed to return to their home.

The suit asks $3,984 damages for the eviction plus $50,000 general damages for the "traumatic effect" of the county's action, said Rice. The family house ultimately was sold and the girls have moved from Tiburon, Rice said.

Suit Stresses Literacy Woes

By DAVID HOLMSTROM
The Christian Science Monitor

SAN FRANCISCO — "Peter N. Doe" graduated from a San Francisco high school last year with a B-minus average — but could only read at a fifth-grade level.

When his mother discovered his plight, despite assurances by school officials that he was attaining the proper reading level, she decided to sue the school district for $1 million.

Her unique decision has sent a shock wave of questions across the United States about educational quality and how much legal responsibility schools and teachers have for instilling in students a skill as basic as reading.

Suzanne Martinez, the San Francisco attorney for "Peter N. Doe," said the national attention on the suit has "led to a lot of different strategies being developed in other states including possible class-action suits and challenges to teacher certification and other procedures of state educational systems."

"The case in San Francisco," said Mrs. Martinez, "derives its legal basis from questions of negligence, misrepresentation, and several statutory claims." Since the suit was filed late last year but not yet served on the San Francisco school district, the school district has voluntarily said it will set goals for students and possibly would not issue diplomas if a student is unable to read at the proper level.

Suit Stresses Literacy Woes

versity of California law professor, said teachers should not take lightly such suits by "individual consumers who have already bought the product and are not happy about it."

Responding to Professor Sugarman at the National Education Association (NEA) conference in Portland, Ore., Judge Haskell C. Freedman from Middlesex, Mass., said such malpractice suits attempt to make "scapegoats" out of teachers and school boards. "Teachers have little voice in financing, equipping, or organizing schools," he said, "there is no constitutional right of literacy, and the child himself might be guilty of contributory negligence."

But in the case of "Peter N. Doe" from a white, middle-class family there was no disciplinary problem, and the young man had a normal attendance record. According to Mrs. Martinez, the young man's college-educated mother has placed the boy under a tutor and within six months his reading ability had jumped nearly two years. His response to tutoring also establishes his ability to learn.

"With the age of accountability," said Mrs. Charlesetta Alston, director of the San Francisco Adult Literacy Center, Inc., "teachers can no longer blame parents, the environment, or the socioeconomic status of the family for nonteaching."

"Thousands of persons leave school nonreading," she said, "and the schools no longer can afford to take fresh minds, turn them off, and ultimately destroy them, and then become angry and defensive at the public who criticize them."

The lawsuit was filed under the fictitious name of "Peter N. Doe" — to spare the litigant "public stigma and humiliation." Mrs. Martinez said the young man is not working now and that within four to six months, the case will reach the courts.

Assessing the possible outcome and the educational ramifications, Mrs. Martinez said, "naturally many parents are thinking if this family can do it (sue) then so can we, and such litigation possibly could bankrupt whole school systems. We are in the process now of scaling down the damages to around $5,000 and asking for recovery of at least the cost of tutoring."

The suit contends that "Peter N. Doe" graduated "unqualified for employment other than the most demeaning, unskilled, low-paid manual labor" and that the law required the educational system to ensure that he met certain requirements before receiving a diploma.

Earlier, in May of 1972, the family of "Peter N. Doe" had first filed a claim against the school district which the district denied.

Commuters Beat Rush Hour Traffic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commuters in New York, Seattle, San Francisco and Washington, D.C. have found a way to get around rush hour traffic, says Donald S. Knight, director of the Road Information Program.

It's the busway, where buses use exclusive highway lanes to bypass traffic. This saves transit time and eliminates the need for thousands of cars, he says. The experimental, federally aided busway projects use a selected route in each city.

Philippines Worry Over Birth Rate

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippine government has set up 1,745 family planning centers throughout the country in an effort to curb population growth.

The Philippines has a population of 39.5 million, and a growth rate of 3 per cent. Unless the growth rate is reduced, the country will have a population of 90 million by the year 2000, authorities say.

Old Sayings To Change With Metric System

NEW YORK (UPI) — The metrics are coming. And when they get here everyone will need to know the new way of saying such things as "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

According to the metric system, the way to say that will be: "28.3495 grams of prevention is worth 0.4536 kilograms of cure."

When the metrics get here inches, pounds, quarts, acres will be on the way out. Schools are part of the training ground during the transition to the metrics. The National Education Association (NEA) says the transition already is underway.

Last year the Senate passed the Metric Conversion Act which called for a partial conversion over a 10-year period. But it was not enacted into law.

Several metric bills have been introduced this year in Congress. Going metric is a way of keeping in step with most businesses and industries around the globe.

The NEA has called for a carefully planned transition. Starting in the new school year, teachers are urged to stress metrics. By 1980, it is hoped the metrics will have taken over.

The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the National Science Teachers Association, since 1969 have urged conversion to metrics.

According to the metric system, the way to say that will be: "28.3495 grams of prevention is worth 0.4536 kilograms of cure."

When the metrics get here inches, pounds, quarts, acres will be on the way out. Schools are part of the training ground during the transition to the metrics. The National Education Association (NEA) says the transition already is underway.

Last year the Senate passed the Metric Conversion Act which called for a partial conversion over a 10-year period. But it was not enacted into law.

Several metric bills have been introduced this year in Congress. Going metric is a way of keeping in step with most businesses and industries around the globe.

The NEA has called for a carefully planned transition. Starting in the new school year, teachers are urged to stress metrics. By 1980, it is hoped the metrics will have taken over.

The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the National Science Teachers Association, since 1969 have urged conversion to metrics.

SPEAKING DOLPHIN — Scientists credit the warm-blooded dolphin with humor, curiosity and inventiveness, along with an ability to communicate that may be the highest achieved by non-humans. (Christian Science Monitor News Service photo)

Animal Sounds: They Talk With A Porpoise

What if you could speak in whispers to one person and in normal tones to another at the same time. Dolphins can do something like this.

Scientist John Lilly thinks these marine animals are quite close to humans in intelligence. Pointing out that in the future, we may be talking to the inhabitants of other planets, Dr. Lilly says that now is a good time for man to begin to communicate with beings from a different environment.

And dolphins are the most suitable earth creature for such an endeavor. Among their many "human" traits are: humor, curiosity, inventiveness, success in problem solving, sustained interests and fears, long-lasting moods, a capacity for friendship, and kindness to the injured.

But the dolphin's most remarkable characteristic is his ability to communicate.

Dolphins have two communication emitters, both in the nose, one on each side, and can talk in click-sounds from one emitter while speaking in whistles from the other.

They can also make jaw-claps to show displeasure, mew, and make rasping sounds. The whistling, a common noise, is melodic and sounds like the chirp of a canary.

Dolphins also have a third emitter in the larynx which is used in echo-location, similar to radar. Most of their information is learned this way, giving them 10 times human ability in "hearing." (However, we have 10 times their ability in the visual sphere in speed, storage capacity, and signal processing.)

In echo-location, the dolphin makes clicks which bounce against an object. From the returning echoes he can build up a "picture" of surroundings, and can distinguish sizes and shapes, in wooden objects, plastics, or metal, as they sound different to him. Because he uses echo-location, he is able to do this in murky water and at night.

In one experiment to test the dolphin's abilities, metal bars were set up in an upright position in his pool at night. The dolphin never collided with the bars, as echo-location guided him through. An attempt was made to confuse him by playing a recording of the echo-location sounds made during a previous experiment, but the dolphin was able to sort out the real echoes from the man-made ones.

In 300 B.C. Aristotle said the voice of the dolphin in air is like that of a human: that he pronounces "vowels" and combinations of "vowels," but has trouble saying vowel-consonant combinations. This has been proved in many recent experiments.

Dr. J. Dreher of Lockheed Company, studying dolphins for spaceage information, has separated 60 "words" or areas of conversation. The "A" sound was "hello," the "B" tone identified a female, "D" tone was a male, "C, E, F" tones were used for discussion, emotion, or news.

Dr. D. Batteau of Point Mugu, Calif., established a 13-word vocabulary. He invented an electric "translator" connected to a hydrophone. This device translated English into dolphin whistles, so that commands could be given such as "hit the ball" or "swim to shore." The dolphins would repeat these orders and obey them.

ments involved the dolphin's ability to distinguish tones. After the doctor said the number "1,2,3,4,5," the dolphin repeated them, realizing the "5" was the end of the group because of the change in inflection.

In another experiment under Dr. Lilly's supervision, a young woman, Margaret Howe, lived with Peter Dolphin in a "flooded" house for 2½ months. She would play games with the dolphin, saying "go get it" or "bring it here," and he would respond.

When Margaret answered the phone, Peter would talk in a competitive tone while Margaret spoke. He would also look in a mirror and talk to himself, or shoot water at his mirror-self.

In everything he does, the dolphin shows his natural playfulness. He is a great inventor of games. In one instance, four of them swam after a moray eel which hid in a crevice in the wall. The dolphins bothered it from both sides of the wall, but were unable to dislodge it.

Finally one of them killed a scorpion fish (which has sharp spines), poked at the eel with it, and got the eel out of the crevice. The dolphin caught it, took it to the middle of the tank, and released it when the game was over.

Dolphin's play is not like a dog's or cat's; their games are often sustained for an hour or more, they are creative, and they involve cooperation.

Favorite dolphin games are chasing, tag, teasing, follow the leader, hide and seek, leap frog, king of the castle, water polo with any floating object, basketball, and bowling. Sometimes they like to come up suddenly in front of someone in the water, as if to say "Boo!"

Dolphins are said not to like black, and may squirt water and pebbles on anyone wearing it. (They like blue.)

We can understand the difficulty a dolphin has in trying to imitate us when we realize that he is used to transmitting information under water, but must now speak to us in the air, using his nose, not his tongue and mouth as we do.

As he has no vocal cords, sounds are caused by the blowhole vibrating like a lip when air is blown past it. Dolphins can be trained to "sing" in the air when doing this.

Dr. Lilly says if the dolphin is in close contact with humans who talk to him every day, he will begin to raise his blowhole (which is on top of his head) out of the water and make humanoid noises.

His air-sounds are attempts to induce us to use his mode of communication. But when making humanoid noises, he is trying to communicate with us in our mode.

In other experiments Dr. Lilly told of giving a certain number of sounds, as for instance, four. The dolphin would resounds. This was done by having the dolphin repeat after the scientist, with a fish being given as a reward after the correct response.

Later the dolphin gave the name, number, or counted the series of balls which the scientist held up without speaking.
